TAYLOR JURYMEN LOCKED UP FOR NIGHT AFTER DELIBERATING CASE THREE HOURS

Hoover Threatens Extra Session on Naval Treaty

MOVE TO DELAY VOTE IS BLOCKED BY PRESIDENT

JOHNSON STILL DEMANDS DELAY

Special Session Will Be Called Immediately After Adjournment If Vote Is Not Taken.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—Prompt disposition of the London naval limitations agreement was assured today when President Hoover gave notice he would call a special session of the senate if the pact was not acted upon before adjournment.

The special session suggestion appealed strongly to some senate leaders and it was believed likely tonight that the senate would take up the pact under that procedure.

A report of the measure to the senate by next week was predicted by Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, called a party conference for Monday when the senate will determine definitely its plans of disposing of the treaty and the rivers and harbors legislation.

Six more naval leaders assailed the London limitations agreement at the hearings of the foreign relations and naval committees today and those conducting the examination believed the hearings could be completed by next Wednesday.

Johnson Holds Ground.

Senator Johnson, republican, California, reiterated his plea that the treaty be deferred until next session "to give the American people and the senate full opportunity to understand it, but he said he was ready to conclude the calling of experts probably next week.

Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, asserted after an executive session today:

"It would seem now we would get through with the hearings by the middle of the coming week. There is no evidence of an attempt to kill time. Senator Johnson has called a number of witnesses, but he has examined them without wasting any time."

Senator Johnson developed added opposition to the cruiser provisions of the pact in today's hearings. The treaty would limit the American fleet to eighteen 8-inch gun ships.

Rear Admiral R. E. Coontz, former commander-in-chief of the United States fleet; Rear Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of the bureau of ordnance; Captain Adolphus Andrews, commander of the U. S. S. Texas, and former naval aide to President Coolidge; and Commander H. C. Train, one of the technical advisers at London, all testified that the limitation on eight-inch cruisers for the American fleet was disadvantageous.

Ratio Necessary.

They agreed that the treaty provisions did not provide a 5-5-3 ratio with Japan on auxiliary craft, including cruisers, and all insisted such a ratio was necessary for the "safety" of this country.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, one of the delegates to London, brought out from the witnesses that the treaty allowed a greater ratio than now exists between America and Japan as well as between America and Great Britain in cruisers built and building.

Rear Admiral H. H. Hough and Rear Admiral George C. Day of the navy general board, gave similar expressions before the naval committee.

Senator Swanson, democrat, Virginia, pressed Admiral Coontz and Captain Andrews to say whether they would take the British or American cruiser fleets allowed under the treaty. Captain Andrews said he would take the fleet with the larger number of eight-inch cruisers. The American fleet is allowed 18 of these ships to 15 by Great Britain. Admiral Coontz asked time to consider.

Senator Johnson read the speech of Prime Minister MacDonald of last September outlining the British and American proposals on fleets. Commander Train said Great Britain got all that was then proposed but that the American demands were cut down.

About six more witnesses are to be heard by the foreign relations committee next week.

DRY LEAGUE LIKES HOOVER'S REGIME

BY JAMES W. DOUTHAT, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—Concluding its investigation of the Anti-Saloon league, the senate lobby committee today received testimony from F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the organization, that Secretary Mellon had "gone just as far on prohibition enforcement as his superior wanted him to go."

The dry leader emphasized that he was referring to the Coolidge administration and added that it was "different" from the present one. He testified yesterday that the Hoover administration was "making good" on prohibition enforcement.

The testimony resulted when Chairman Caraway produced a letter written by McBride last January to J. G. Brown, of Port Huron, Mich. Brown had written that McBride was "very much mistaken regarding the sincerity of Hoover," he added:

"If he is not a hypocrite on this question, why does he not immediately fire Mellon who, with Cal's help has made such a farce of prohibition?"

"Wrong Attitude."

"I am convinced you are wrong in your attitude. There was a time when I had something of the same feeling but on thorough investigation I have reached the conclusion that Mellon has gone just as far on prohibition enforcement as superiors wanted him to go and I do not believe he is now standing in the way of effective prohibition enforcement.

"That doesn't say how far he went, but so far as his superiors wanted him to go," Caraway commented. "That is the president?"

"That referred particularly to the previous administration," McBride replied.

"Was the previous administration different from the present?" demanded Caraway.

"I think so," McBride said.

"In other words," asked Caraway, "it got wetter or drier? Which has it?"

"I have had a feeling, after looking into Mellon's work," McBride replied, "that he just went as far as those who were associated with him."

"You said his superiors," Caraway interrupted. "That is the president?"

"Yes," the witness said. "I would think so. That is what I had in mind."

Once Suspected.

Responding to another question by Caraway, the witness said:

"There was a time when a good many people thought that Secretary Mellon was in co-operation with the wet interests of the country and that he was not going as far as he should have gone in prohibition enforcement."

"There was a time when you had that feeling?" Caraway inquired.

"Yes," said McBride.

McBride was followed by Edward B. Dunford, attorney of the league, who testified that the organization had complied with the law in reporting political expenditures to congress.

The committee adjourned until Tuesday when Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, is expected to appear.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, may appear Wednesday. Senator Caraway today wired him to ascertain if he could testify at that time.

Caraway also wrote Bishop Francis McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches, to ascertain if he wished to appear next week to reply to testimony by Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, that the organization had violated the principle of separation of church and state by engaging in political activities.

A list of contributors to the federal council of churches, made public today by the lobby committee, showed that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., had given a total of $138,177 for 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929.

Other contributors for this period included: Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., $500; Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, $1,500; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, $6,000; Arthur Curtiss James, $15,000; Jesse H. Jones, $11,250; Dr. Sherwood Eddy, $4,000; Julius Rosenwald, $3,000; Felix Warburg, $3,000; Mortimer L. Schiff, $2,000; Paul M. Warburg, $2,125; John Golden, $1,250; Alanson B. Houghton, $500; Otto Kahn, $1,750; Mrs. Thomas W. Lamont, $2,000; Professor and Mrs. Irving Fisher, $500, and Winthrop Ames, $500.

Methodists Complete Exoneration by Naming Him To Succeed Self; Fitzhugh Renews Attack.

DALLAS, Texas, May 23.—(AP)—The board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, tonight re-elected Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Washington, D. C., as chairman.

This action had been expected after the conference had exonerated Cannon of charges of stock market gambling, lodged against him by G. T. Fitzhugh, of Memphis, Tenn; Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh, N. C., and twenty other chairmen, and he had been re-elected a member of the board.

The report of the committee on temperance and social service, a separate body of which Josephus Daniels is chairman, was adopted without opposition.

Daniels, who had threatened to oppose the report on the convention floor and offer a minority report unless certain sections of it written by Cannon were deleted, at the last acceded to adoption of the report.

"The report as a whole truly represents the spirit of our church; we decline to make a minority report," he explained.

Mr. Fitzhugh told the Associated Press tonight in a long-distance telephone conversation from Memphis that Cannon's re-election as chairman of the board "was a terrific blow to prohibition."

While making the motion for the adoption of the committee report Mr. Daniels said that there were two or three paragraphs which he "could not" indorse. Mr. Daniels' group had been beaten by the Cannon faction in several tests on the convention floor.

"Woodrow Wilson wrote that the eighteenth amendment ought not to be repealed. I stand with him in those declarations."

The report declared that prohibition was "no experiment," but the "settled policy of the republic."

"The only alternative to prohibition is the saloon," it said. It declared for abstinence and urged the American press to aid in "pushing back the tide of law defiance which threatens to sweep away that respect for law which is the life of the republic."

The report commended the work of the board of temperance and social service of which Bishop Cannon has been the head since 1915. It voiced the "inalienable right of every member of the church to oppose and vote against any candidate who fails to stand for the principles herein advocated."

Dr. A. C. Miller, of Little Rock, Ark., Cannon member of the committee, made a brief talk after Mr. Daniels had concluded. "On our part, there is no ill feeling," he said as the audience applauded. "We're willing to smoke the pipe of peace and work against the common foe."

The board of temperance and social service will hold its annual meeting at Lake Junaluska, N. C., July 2.

Southern Methodist women desirous of having the right to preach, today received an expression in their favor from the general conference of their church but they were no nearer their goal than formerly.

The conference voted, 174 to 159, to grant equal rights of clergy to women. However, the bishops held that the proposal was a suggested change in the constitution and that as such, it would require a two-thirds vote in the general conference and a three-fourths vote of the local conferences for adoption.

The result of the vote apparently came as a surprise to those who opposed the movement and they did not make the contention that the change

Mother Dies Saving Children From Train

CONYERS, Ga., May 23.—Believing two of her children were in an auto, stalled on a grade crossing, Mrs. Rosser Farmer, 45, ran in front of a Georgia passenger train early Friday night and was killed.

Mrs. Farmer, who resided on a farm near here, had spent several hours in Conyers Friday afternoon and was en route home. Eugene, a 12-year-old son, was driving the machine. When the engine stalled Mrs. Farmer carried two of her youngest children to safety and then fled back to the car for the other two, who had climbed out of the auto as the train neared the crossing.

Mrs. Farmer's body was badly mutilated and the auto was demolished.

The end of a grim race against death—a dash already marred by a fatal airplane crash in Indiana—approached in Atlanta late Friday afternoon when Dr. Frederick Harvey, noted Chicago physician, bruised and shaken in the tragic wreck earlier in the day, arrived by plane at Candler field and immediately left by motor car on his way to Valdosta, where Mrs. R. B. Stothardt lies in a hospital critically injured as the result of an automobile accident. Dr. Harvey was scheduled to reach the south Georgia city early this morning, but doctors there feared that his mission of mercy might be in vain.

Dr. Harvey and Mrs. Louis McCusker, daughter of Mrs. Stothardt, left Chicago by plane shortly after 2 o'clock Friday morning, but their airplane, piloted by Henry L. Mayer, encountered a heavy head-wind and had consumed most of its fuel when Wayne Town, Ind., 130 miles south of Chicago, had been reached, three hours later.

Forced to attempt a landing in the emergency airmail field located at that point, Pilot Mayer struck an unmarked tree at the edge of the field and the plane nosed into the ground. Mayer died soon after the crash. Mrs. McCusker was not seriously injured, but her condition warranted her removal to a hospital in Crawfordsville, Ind. Dr. Harvey, though badly bruised and shaken and suffering from shock, refused to abandon the journey and immediately boarded another plane which was sent to the scene of the crash from the Curtiss-Wright base at Indianapolis.

The second ship, piloted by Charles E. Cox, Jr., encountered the same high wind which was the indirect cause of the earlier crack-up and was unable to reach the local airport before 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. With an unlighted field at Valdosta, making a night flight there hazardous, local Curtiss-Wright officials placed Dr. Harvey in a company car and enable him to continue his trip.

Mrs. Stothardt, at death's door at Valdosta, Friday night had not been informed of the fatal crash. She suffered a fracture at the base of the skull Thursday afternoon when the automobile in which she and her husband were returning to Chicago from Florida turned over near Valdosta.

Mrs. Stothardt was carried to the Little Griffin hospital at Valdosta, where attaches said she had only a "slight chance" to recover. Her husband was not injured badly.

Freaks in the News

MUST BE NATIVE SONS.

Jerry Fraser, 18, and Victor Brennan, 19, both of Long Beach, Cal., arrived in Brooklyn yesterday and decided they needed a taxicab. They pulled a little red thingamajig and a whole fire company dashed madly to the scene. Magistrate Dale released them after hearing their explanation for the false alarm.

FEEDING MULE COSTS GEORGIAN FINGER.

MACON, Ga., May 24.—(AP)—J. W. McCallum, farmer, is minus a finger because he let a mule eat from his hand today. The mule took the handful of feed that the farmer held out for his pet, and also the middle finger of the right hand. McCallum was brought to a hospital here.

MAN BITES SELF WITH SNAKE'S HEAD.

Joseph Smith, of Brisbane, Australia, coming upon a dead adder out in the brush country, flicked its head off with his cattle whip. The head got entangled in the whip, flew upward, struck him on the shoulder, and the snake's fangs buried themselves in his flesh. Smith made cuts with his knife and galloped to a hospital, where he collapsed and was in grave danger for a time.

PRISONER "BEATS GUN" ON ACQUITTAL.

There is one easy way to get out of jail, and Leon Guerant, of Colorado Springs discovered it yesterday. He is on trial on a charge of stealing an automobile. With the first day in court over he returned to his cell, told his jailer he had been acquitted, took his cap and coat and walked to his freedom. "I'll be back later for the rest of my belongings," said Leon, but he hasn't come back yet and his trial had hardly begun.

SKULL FRACTURED, VICTIM OF AUTO ACCIDENT IS DEAD

W. D. Bailey Fatally Injured When Struck by Car of E. J. Kinard; Auto Driver Arrested.

Struck by an automobile that turned out of traffic to avoid crashing into a car in front making a turn, W. D. Bailey, 45, an employe of the Sterchi wholesale house, died Friday night five minutes after being taken to Grady hospital. The automobile driven by E. J. Kinard, of 1095 Hardee street, knocked him to the ground, fracturing his skull.

According to witnesses, Bailey was standing on the corner of Edgewood avenue and Krogg street waiting for a street care to take him home. P. B. Dempsey, of 234 Gibson street, was driving east on Edgewood avenue and attempting a right hand turn. Kinard, fearing that he would strike the Dempsey machine amidships, cut his car to the sidewalk, striking Bailey.

Kinard was arrested by Call Officers Robert Moseley and C. T. Maddox and locked up at police headquarters on a technical charge of suspicion.

Witnesses told police that his car was speeding or there would have been no danger of striking the Dempsey car.

Bailey is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. J. W. Bruce, of Danville, Va.; one brother, Robert Bailey, and three sisters, Misses Jessie, Lula and Lucy Bailey, of Atlanta.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Awtry & Lowndes from which place funeral arrangements will be announced later.

C. M. Foster, resident of Cook's Crossing, near College Park, and W. M. Poace, of Newnan, were injured Friday night when the automobile driven by Poace crashed into the stalled machine of Foster on South Main street, College Park. According to Poace he was blinded by the glare of approaching automobiles and did not see Foster's car. Neither was seriously hurt.

With his skull fractured and suffering from severe internal injuries as the result of a collision with an unidentified automobile as he was driving along the Lawrenceville highway Friday, William R. Cleveland, 40, of 791 Curran street, late Friday night was reported by Grady hospital as being in a "critical" condition.

The injured man is a member of the American Legion post of Jacksonville, Fla. He was wounded in France and also was on a ship which was torpedoed at sea.

Three young women, members of a party of young people which had been to Jester's Mill on a hayride, were slightly hurt Friday night when the truck in which they were riding skidded in front of 342 Cherokee avenue and threw them to the ground.

Miss Zephyr Hamby, 21, 208 Loomis avenue, received a sprained ankle and her sister, Miss Johnnie Hamby, 18, suffered a cut about the head. She refused treatment at Grady hospital. Miss Eunice Swords, 21, of 301 Loomis street, received a cut on the back of the head.

Zeppelin Resumes Flight to Argentina

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 23.—(UN)—The third stage of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin's present tour—a mere jaunt compared with the two previous hops—began at 11:50 p. m. (9:50 eastern standard time) when the giant airship left the mooring mast at Giquia airfield here and headed for Rio De Janeiro, 1,200 miles away.

It was expected that the trip would be made in 20 hours. The flight to Rio was in the nature of a courtesy to the Brazilian government as the Graf Zeppelin will return here sometime Monday to complete loading of supplies and refueling for the long northward journey to Havana and New York.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the German ship, was not at all certain he would be able to land at Rio when the ship sailed tonight. There is no mooring mast at the Brazilian national capital and if the weather conditions are not excellent no landing will be made.

Jury Debates Fate

WALTER C. TAYLOR.

Georgia Laws on Bribery Defined in Judge's Charge

Status of Walter C. Taylor As "Officer of Government" Is Fixed in 18,000-Word Statement by Judge Moore—Charge Touches on All Ten Counts Pressed by State.

Belief by the jury that Walter C. Taylor, city clerk, was accepted by the members of council in an advisory capacity and received a reward to influence his official conduct concerning matters pending before council, would warrant a conviction for bribery, whether the city actually lost any money in the transactions or not, Judge Virlyn B. Moore said Friday afternoon in his charge to the jurors in the Taylor bribery case.

In an 18,000 word charge which required two hours to deliver, Judge Moore stressed the definition of bribery, and explained separately each count of the indictment on which the state sought conviction.

Defines Bribery.

"Bribery," Judge Moore said, "is the gift of or receipt of any undue reward to influence the behavior of the person receiving such reward in the discharge of his duty in any office of government or justice. The clerk of council of the city of Atlanta is an officer of government in the sense referred to in this section of the code."

Judge Moore told the jury that "the offense of bribery lies in the giving or receiving of such undue reward with the intent to influence the opinion, judgment or behavior of one occupying the official position with respect to some matter in which such officer has some official duty to perform."

Further, Judge Moore instructed the jury that if anyone gave a member of city council a reward of money to influence his official behavior in and concerning a matter depending at the time before council, or if the person agreed to pay the money and after action had been taken by council the money was paid to the council member in accordance with the agreement, that would be bribery.

Judge Moore's charge was one of the longest ever given in Fulton superior court, chiefly because of the exhaustive nature of the many count indictment. The charge covered 52 typewritten pages, and was prepared by Judge Moore Thursday night in a dictating session which lasted well into Friday morning.

Counts Abandoned.

Judge Moore pointed out that counts 3, 5, 7, 8, 10, 14, 16, 17, 18, 19, 21, 22, 23 and 24 of the indictment had been abandoned by the state and were not insisted on. He instructed the jury not to consider those counts in its deliberations.

"Counts 1, 2, 4, 6, 9, 11, 12, 13, 15, 20 and 25 of the indictment are insisted upon by the state in this case, and these are the counts of the indictment that you are to consider and determine the issue raised upon them in the case on trial," Judge Moore said.

After reading the indictment, Judge Moore told the jury that Taylor entered upon trial of the case with the presumption of innocence in his favor and that presumption was to remain with him until and unless the evidence in the case satisfied the jury's mind beyond a reasonable doubt as to his guilt. Judge Moore explained that a reasonable doubt

One Kilowatt Hour Cuts $10 Off Light Bill

An electric rate, under which customers of the Washington (Ga.) Light and Water Company who use 300 kilowatt hours of current per month, pay a bill of $30, while those who use 301 hours pay only $20.07, was the subject of a complaint heard by the Georgia public service commission Friday. The case, brought by the city of Washington, was taken under advisement.

The petitioners asked that the present rate be abolished and that the commission prescribe instead a rate the same as that in use in communities served by the Georgia Power Company.

While the Washington rate is similar to the Georgia Power Company rate in that it is arranged in blocks of kilowatt hours, each block representing a reduction in the charge, it differs in other respects.

The Georgia Power Company rate charges a set price for each kilowatt, according to the block in which it falls. The Washington rate fixes the price of all of the kilowatt hours on the basis of the charge for the last one.

Thus a customer using 300 hours is charged 10 cents a kilowatt hour, in accordance with the charge for that block, and pays $30. But one using 301 kilowatt hours enters a new block, where the charge is reduced to 7 cents per kilowatt hour, and pays only $20.07.

JUDGE OUTLINES CASE IN CHARGE OF 18,000 WORDS

Statement Gives Definition of Bribery and Fixes Taylor's Status as Atlanta Official.

STATE AND DEFENSE IN BITTER SPEECHES

Boykin Flays Taylor as "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"; Arnold Demands Clerk's Acquittal.

Apparently in a deadlock, the jury trying City Clerk Walter C. Taylor for bribery was locked up for the night at 10:15 o'clock Friday night after deliberating more than three hours. The deliberation is to be resumed at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

The case was given to the jury at 6 o'clock. Shortly after 10 o'clock Judge Virlyn B. Moore sent a deputy sheriff to the jury room to inquire if the members of the jury desired to continue deliberation or go to a hotel. The foreman, R. C. Park, 387 Lawton street, an insurance agent, reported to the judge that the jury desired a few minutes to decide. Ten minutes later the jury notified Judge Moore it was ready to go to the hotel.

Two reports were current at the courthouse, one saying the jury was voting 11 to 1 and the other declaring the division 9 to 3, but there was nothing from authentic sources on the divergence of opinion in the jury room.

In deciding the fate of the veteran city clerk the 12 men are considering the evidence of more than 40 state's witnesses, the statement of the defendant, the long and vitriolic arguments of counsel, in addition to weighing an 18,000-word charge from Judge Moore in which the court defined the statute of bribery and dwelt at length on each of the 11 pressed counts in the 25-count true bill.

Judge Moore in his charge told the jury that if the members believed Taylor as city clerk was accepted by the city council as an advisor or in any way acted for the council in an advisory capacity he is guilty of bribery if he accepted moneys for influencing the adoption or defeat of matters pending before the council.

"Bribery is the gift of or receipt of

Polish President Blocks Diet Session

WARSAW, Poland, May 23.—(AP) The sejm, or diet, today was adjourned by President Moscicki upon petition of central radical parties, an hour before its formal opening, when members of the lower house were assembled for the 30 days' special proposed session.

The president's action, which is effective for 30 days, had been forecast by political leaders, who forced the step at the last minute.

A representative of the cabinet conveyed to the assembled members the presidential order which adjourned the body for 30 days. A crisis of purely political nature was thus averted.

Adjournment will enable the senate to call its meeting in the next two weeks so that when the house meets again its action will be effective. One house has no power unless the other is meeting concurrently.

Hoover Will Take Big Party to Camp

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The largest party of the year is to accompany President Hoover tomorrow to his Virginia fishing camp for the week-end.

Leaving the white house after an early breakfast, the president plans to return late Sunday evening as he has done on his last two trips to the Rapidan river retreat.

Besides the president, those invited are Secretary Hurley, Senators Walcott, of Connecticut; Allen, of Kansas; Goldsborough, of Maryland; Hatfield, of West Virginia; Representatives French, of Idaho; Jonas, of North Carolina; Underhill, of Massachusetts; Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia; Allan Fox, of New York city; Newbold Noyes, of Washington; Milton T. Esberg, of San Francisco; Earle S. Kinsley, of Rutland, Vt.; Lamond Rowlands, of Picayune, Miss.; Edward G. Lowey, of Washington; Lawrence Richey, secretary to the president, and Captain Joel T. Boone, the white house physician.

Calf Liver, Potatoes Finnegan And Strawberry Shortcake!!

BY JESSIE MARIE DeBOTH.

Calf's liver at present prices is certainly in the luxury class, but the small family may indulge in its occasionally, especially if it is extended in cookery by savory vegetables. To have a moist, tender product, liver must be cut fairly thick, though the average butcher insists on slicing it thin, and the result is apt to be dry, hard meat when served. The first step in its cookery is to scald the liver by spreading the slices in a shallow pan and covering with boiling water. Let this stand a few moments, then drain thoroughly. Remove the thin skin around the edges and coat liberally with flour, pepper and salt.

Dish washing is reduced by using a piece of paper toweling, or other clean paper, well covered with the dry ingredients. Place the slices on this and dredge the top thickly.

As bacon is the usual accompaniment, we cook this first and keep it warm while the liver is gently browned on each side, then partly covered until it is cooked through. Rapid cooking or strong heat hardens and dries this delicate meat.

To make the liver go further in serving we like to saute some finely cut celery, onion and green pepper in part of the bacon fat with a little butter. Season it lightly, add a dissolved boullion cube or a small quantity of stock, cover close and cook slowly until tender. A surprising amount of celery can be used as it shrinks so much in cooking, and the coarse outer stalks are thriftily utilized. Heap the vegetable in the center of the platter, the liver around it and the crisp bacon on the edge. If green pepper is not available, or not liked, the celery with just a bit of onion is excellent. Any left over liver can be diced to use in a sauce on toast, or added to a chicken or veal entree. It is delicious as a sandwich filling if minced fine or thinly sliced and blended with parsley butter flavored with lemon juice. Mushroom powder makes a fine addition to liver gravy, as well as veal or chicken combinations. Cream toast spread with liver paste is almost as pleasing as the sauce containing bits of crisp bacon or slivers of tender ham. It takes so little meat to flavor a smooth, white sauce, yet it makes such a difference in the eating. Crisp toast spread with soft cheese and smothered in a hot savory tomato sauce makes a splendid luncheon dish.

Perhaps you would like a little variation in potato service. Then try this uncommonly good one called "Potatoes Finnegan." It is an agreeable spring combination, attractive in appearance. For a quart of freshly boiled potato cubes use a cup or more of finely cut cooked carrot, and a pint of thin white sauce made creamy with plenty of butter and flavored with onion juice. Season well with salt and white pepper, blend gently and serve very hot, well sprinkled with minced parsley. In case of a delayed meal this may easily be kept over hot, but not boiling, water, without losing its consistency or goodness.

Most families have rather special preferences when it comes to strawberry shortcake. Some want biscuit crust, others are satisfied with sponge cake—some like whole berries and others choose to crush them. For a truly juicy product the fruit is either halved when sugared or lightly mashed. It is prepared some time ahead to draw out the juices, and the addition of white syrup to the sugar gives body without cloying sweetness. A dash of salt is never amiss and the berries should be well chilled before pouring them on the hot buttered surface. Individual shortcakes seem more popular nowadays than the big two or three layered affair. The top half of the biscuit is placed with crust down to better hold the festive fruit and absorb some of the rich juice. Whipped cream seems inevitable at public eating places, but the true epicure prefers plain cream, if any. Remember that a fine shortcake is a hearty dish, more appreciated after a light meal than when served at the end of a heavy combination. A cold meat supper with some delicate cottage cheese and crisp vegetable salad is well rounded out with a perfect strawberry shortcake and fine coffee.

An old-fashioned batter pudding with strawberry sauce is sure to please most tastes. No shortening is used in the mixture, so we can well afford the amount of eggs, particularly at this season. For six persons sift one and one-half cups of flour, one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon of salt. Beat four egg yolks very light, add two cups of milk and stir gradually into the flour. When smooth fold in the stiff egg whites and pour into deep muffin cups, or a broad pudding dish, after buttering generously. Bake in a 425-degree oven until risen and lightly browned, then reduce heat to finish. Serve hot with plenty of strawberry sauce. Cream one-fourth of a cup of butter, and work in gradually half a cup of powdered sugar, then beat in by degrees a tablespoon or more of water. This makes possible the addition of nearly a cup more of the sugar, which would not blend smoothly with so little butter. Of course, more butter, or part neutral shortening with the butter, may be used, if desired. Just before serving stir in gently a cup or more of halved or crushed berries. A small quantity of fruit makes a smooth attractive sauce but the more berries you use the better it will taste and the worse it will look. It is just bound to curdle. So, blend for the eye or the taste as best suits your fancy. This sauce is pleasing on a plain bread pudding, or the cottage variety. It is good over spongy muffins, or light biscuit, and an enjoyable surprise in crisp popovers or an interesting spread for hot toast. Ripe raspberries, cherries or other soft fruits may be used later in the season and when winter comes it isn't half bad made with less sugar and fruit jam or marmalade. A luscious jam soon within our reach calls for a quart each of red raspberries, strawberries and ripe currants. Cooked briskly for half an hour and finished with two and a half pounds of sugar. Watch carefully during this boiling that it may not scorch. Pour into sterilized jars when thick.

CRISP HAS NEW BILL FOR U. S. JUDGESHIP

Is Dissatisfied With Adverse Report on First Measure.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(Special.)—Dissatisfied with the recent adverse report submitted by the house judiciary committee, Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, has drafted and introduced a new bill proposing the creation of an additional federal judgeship for the northern district of Georgia.

In laying the measure before the house Representative Crisp requested the committee to reconsider the north Georgia court situation and if consistent with conditions reported to exist there render a favorable report in time for action this session.

The committee in reporting on the original bill by Representative Bachman, of West Virginia, authorizing the creation of a number of additional judgeships over the country, eliminated the northern district of Georgia, which had been included. In doing so it was explained that Georgia only a few years ago was given a new judicial district, with headquarters at Macon, and members of the committee felt that the state had ample federal court facilities for the time being.

Representative Crisp was prompted to present his special bill by lawyers at Atlanta who took issue with the committee report and declared that the court docket is congested in a way to demand an additional judge.

Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, has a similar measure pending in the upper chamber.

FALL INCOME PENALTY GOES TO TAX COURT

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The government's effort to collect income tax on money Albert B. Fall and his Tres-Ritos Cattle & Land Company, of Three Rivers, N. M., received from E. L. Doheny, and Harry Sinclair, whose companies were awarded leases of naval oil reserves, has been appealed to the United States board of tax appeals by the former secretary of the interior.

The internal revenue bureau assessed Fall and his wife a total of $158,127 in deficiency taxes and $77,198 in penalties for failing to report a total of $403,000 as income. The bureau assessed the deficiency and penalties on $100,000 Fall received from Doheny in 1921 and a total of $303,000 paid by Sinclair to Fall and M. T. Everhart, Fall's son-in-law.

The bureau held that $100,000 that Fall received from Doheny in 1921 which he said was a loan, was income. Fall was convicted of accepting this amount as a bribe to influence the awarding of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve to Doheny's Pan-American company, but Doheny later was acquitted of giving Fall the money as a bribe.

During the trial of Sinclair on charges of conspiring with Fall to defraud the government out of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve which resulted in his acquittal, it was brought out that Sinclair had paid Everhart $233,000 in Liberty bonds for one-third interest in the Mexico ranch owned by Fall and Everhart. It also developed that Sinclair had advanced the company $35,000 additional in two payments of $10,000 and $25,000.000.

During the oil trials it also was brought out that Fall had received $25,000 in bonds from Sinclair which he maintained was a loan and $10,000 in cash which he said was expense advanced to finance a trip to Russia as counsel for the Sinclair Exploration Company.

The internal revenue bureau, however, held that all of the sums were personal income of Fall on which he had failed to pay tax.

Fall in his appeal contended that the money received from Doheny and Sinclair was not personal income and argued that no fraud had been committed in failure to report it.

"I'm still a cop," the commissioner said today, "and I believe I can take care of myself."

Grover Whalen, resigned police head, was accompanied by two detectives and a chauffeur while in office. Commissioner Mulrooney will retain his personal driver.

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—Jean Farrel, an actress who police said appeared in "Rose Marie," died in Grant hospital today under circumstances which led the attending physician to ask for an inquest.

According to Barbara Bossie, another actress, Miss Farrel recently had been unable to sleep. Last night, she said, Miss Farrel took six medicine tablets, although the directions on the bottle prescribed only two.

Kiss In Dark Makes Carman Very Angry

ELGIN, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—There are young men who might envy Robert Van Winkle, 22, an experience that caused him to resign his job.

Van Winkle, known as Bob to patrons of the trolley line between Elgin and Aurora, was a one-man trolley crew. On his last trip Wednesday night there was but one passenger, a young lady. Arriving at Aurora, Bob rose to switch to the other end for the return trip. The light went out. A pair of arms encircled Bob's neck. A pair of lips met his. The young lady confided that she loved him.

Bob called the police. "I want her arrested. I intend to pick my own wife," he explained.

The young lady said she was Marie Koch, 19. The court told Bob, "You shouldn't be so stern at this time of the year. Let the girl's parents handle the case. The charge of disorderly conduct is dismissed."

HarvardLampoon Waxes Wroth At Ibis Theft

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 23.—(AP)—Gone from the sanctum of the Harvard Lampoon, undergraduate comic magazine, is the treasured wooden ibis.

The carved image of the legendary bird of the head-waters of the Nile, the destroyer of snakes, is in the custody of either the Yale Record or the Harvard Crimson—in the belief of Lampy's editors. They telegraphed the editors of the Yale Record to find out what they knew of the theft.

Relations have been traditionally strained with the rival publications since the Yale football fence, stolen last year, appeared mysteriously later at a Lampoon dinner to which Yale men had been invited. Only last Monday, a Lampoon advertisement was found rubber stamped on every issue of the Crimson after the issue had been printed, but before distribution.

Resentful of the suspicion, the Crimson editors immediately offered to pay the expenses of former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen to come from New York to investigate.

A Connecticut car was rumored involved in the theft, and a copy of the Yale Record was found in the place of the missing bird.

Rumanio Interested In Prince Carol's Plan

PARIS, May 23.—(AP)—The possibility of former Crown Prince Carol's return to Rumania is understood in the Rumanian colony here to be the subject which Nicolas Titulesco, Rumanian minister to Great Britain, has been summoned to Bucharest to discuss.

The minister, who passed through Paris yesterday, saw some of the active Rumanian leaders who are here as emissaries of the group which favor the return of Carol.

The desire of the regency to discuss the situation with M. Titulesco is supposed to arise from the fact that a change in government is possible and that if Carol returns the liberals must be kept out of power.

Rumanians here say that the liberal party, realizing a change of government is approaching, redoubled its propaganda against Carol because it fears he may regain his influence. The regency, on the other hand, is said to realize that the prince cannot be kept away from home forever and wishes to pave the way for his peaceable return.

Prince Carol himself is said to be more eager than ever to go home now but wishes to avoid being the object of prolonged political controversy.

Carolinian Executed For Murder of Girl

RALEIGH, N. C., May 23.—(AP)—James Spivey, 26, convicted in Lee county of the axe murder and assault of Betty Spivey, his 18-year-old cousin, was electrocuted at state's prison today.

In a statement before he entered the death chamber, Spivey denied he killed the girl, who was found hacked to death with an axe near her father's farm last September.

Before his death, Spivey, who was believed in Lee county to be unmarried, divulged that he had a living wife. He said he married Alice Simmons, of Bradenton, Fla., at Bradenton in 1925, but that they separated after a few months and he had not heard from her since.

40-Year Prison Term Given James Baker

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—James Baker, confessed murderer of Henry Gaw, laboratory watchman, today was sentenced to from 40 years to life in prison. Baker pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

Gaw, a nightwatchman at the Guggenheim laboratory in The Bronx, was poisoned a year ago last December as he sat eating his midnight lunch. Police believed the poison had been placed in his coffee and suspected Baker, a former employe of the laboratory.

Baker had been examined by alienists who said he was "medically and morally insane" but legally sane.

PRESBYTERIANS HEAR ADDRESS ON UNITY

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., May 23.—(AP)—The question of organic union with four other churches was brought before the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church here today in reports and addresses of committees and visiting speakers.

With the preliminary work of receiving and referring reports of committees completed during a busy day, the assembly tonight was ready to receive recommendations tomorrow for active consideration. One of the important reports on Saturday's program is that of the committee on home missions.

Organion union of all Presbyterian bodies was urged before the assembly today by the Rev. John McNaugher, president of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and a representative of the United Presbyterian church. A general union instead of merging only the Southern Presbyterian and United Presbyterian churches is favored by his church, he said.

He made a special appeal to the southerners in behalf of the Northern Presbyterian church, urging against a disposition to be "proud of sectionalism." The Southern Presbyterian church and the United Presbyterian church can dictate the terms of a general union, making it as conservative as they wish, Mr. McNaugher declared.

The report of a special committee favoring union with other Presbyterian bodies was laid before the assembly naming specifically the Northern Presbyterian church, the United Presbyterians, the Reformed Church in America and the Reformed Church in the United States. Dr. William R. Dobyns, Birmingham, Ala., who retired yesterday as moderator, is chairman of the committee which recommended that committees be instructed to draft a plan of organic union to be handed down to the presbyteries for ratification.

The membership of committees which will shape the work of the general assembly during the next eight days was announced by Dr. Thomas W. Currie, moderator, of Austin, Texas.

Dr. William R. Dobyns, Birmingham, Ala., who retired yesterday as moderator, heads the important committee on bills and overtures, which will consider petitions sent up by the presbyteries, among them proposals for and against unification with other Presbyterian branches.

Other committee chairmen were announced by Dr. Currie as follows:

Woman's work, J. C. Siler, Fisherville, Va.; theological seminaries, J. M. Alexander, Columbia, Mo.; training school for lay workers, J. B. Hutton, Jackson, Miss.; Mountain Retreat Association, J. W. Caldwell, Atlanta; Bible cause, Thomas W. Hooper, Culpepper, Va.; historical foundation, E. W. McCorkle, Ashland, Ky.; finance, budget and rules, B. I. Dickey, Allen, Ky.; devotional exercises, R. H. McCaslin, Jacksonville, Fla.; leave of absence, S. B. Lander, Winchester, Ky.; thanks, Chris Matheson, Shawnee, Okla.

In a short address this afternoon, the Rev. Paul Pressley, of Chester, S. C., representing the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, told the assembly it would find his church ready for union when a plan is approved.

Renewed vigilance against atheism was sought in an address by William H. Matthews, general secretary of the America Tract Society, of New York, who said the objectives of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism are being rapidly spread through moving pictures, colleges and theaters. "Even our ministers," he declared, "sometimes wish to tell their congregations how much they do not believe rather than how much they believe."

The disappearance of Sunday observance in many parts of America was deplored by Dr. W. G. Wiley, president of the Lord's Day Alliance, of New York. Moving picture interests were pointed to by Dr. Wiley as having had a large part in producing a laxity in observing the Sabbath. He said that recently the representatives of 50,000 bootblacks in New York had come to him asking for aid in securing Sunday as a day of rest.

A committee which has failed in four years to produce a correspondence course for ministers was given a new chairman today when the matter was brought to the attention of the assembly with some vigor by the clerk, Dr. J. D. Leslie, of Dallas, Texas. The moderator, Dr. Thomas W. Currie, of Austin, Texas, admitted his own membership on the committee and said he had been unable to devise the proper courses for instruction.

Dr. R. T. Gillespie, of Atlanta, chairman of the committee, was not present, and the clerk told the assembly that Dr. Gillespie was agreeable to having a successor appointed. Dr. B. R. Lacy, of Richmond, Va., was named in his stead.

Tonight a popular meeting on religious education and publication was held. Presided over by Dr. A. A. Little, of Meridian, Miss., speakers were Dr. John L. Fairley, Dr. Gilbert Glass and Dr. R. E. Magill, all of Richmond.

LEVEE OFFICIALS DISCOUNT FLOODS

SHREVEPORT, La., May 23.—(AP)—As columns of water moved with relentless flow down the Red river, levee officials today were inclined to discount its probable damage while the weather bureau stood by its original forecast that it would reach a serious stage.

While the Shreveport section still bore the brunt of the flood waters, mainly from bayous and head waters, the Red spilled over today on both sides in Red River parish and was moving into Natchitoches parish with telling effect. The overflow in Red River parish was estimated by B. W. Marston, plantation owner, as being 10 miles long and 15 miles wide, affecting property of some fifty families.

To the northwest of Shreveport, Cross bayou spread its overflow farther out over the countryside, and on the Red, south of Shreveport, at Shreve island, the main levee was holding late today, with levee officials predicting it would stand the pressure. Workmen labored on in the construction of a protection levee around the spot in the bend of the river that has been crumbling for two days. More than a third of the levee was reported caved in.

A newspaper survey of the back water around Shreveport revealed thousands of acres of inundated land, but few people or livestock were reported in danger. One old negro man was found seated on a small mound less than 50 feet square, surrounded by dogs, cats, pigs and chickens. He refused to leave his location, saying:

"I call it water island."

Many houses had water to their roofs in this area and thousands of acres of planted crops were reported covered.

T. J. Wilkinson, planter of Red River parish, narrowly escaped with his life when his horse stopped swimming a swollen stream and floundered.

Reports of a heavy rain early today at Texarkana caused some apprehension in the Red river valley. Barring heavy rains, the weather bureau predicted that the rise of the Red river would not exceed the crest of 1927. A height of 39 feet was predicted for the Alexandria section by June 1, against a flood stage of 36 feet.

The gauges at Alexandria today stood at 34.8 feet and at Shreveport 34.4. Levee officials at Alexandria expressed confidence that the levees would hold the water within bounds with the exception of low, unprotected areas.

A. Frank Smith, left, of Houston, Texas, and Paul B. Kern, of San Antonio, were elevated by the quadrennial Methodist conference to the rank of bishop. They are two of the three newly elected superintendents.

Farm Board Decides To Study Naval Stores

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(Special.)—After receipt of a communication today from the federal board announcing that several weeks would be required to make a study of the naval stores industry with a view to determining whether such products can be treated under the farm marketing act, Representative W. W. Larsen, of Georgia, asked the house agricultural committee to postpone action on his bill which would make the inclusion of naval stores mandatory.

Previously the board had announced it would make a survey of the situation in an effort to bring naval stores under the act and it had been hoped that a decision might be forthcoming in time for consideration of the pending bill this season.

Representative Larsen said that he would delay the legislation until congress meets in the fall, withdrawing it if the boards make a favorable report.

Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, has already secured passage of a bill on the subject in the senate. The house committee was considering the Larsen measure when the board agreed to study the situation. Before asking the committee to hold up action today Representative Larsen conferred with Senator George who was found agreeable to the postponement.

MacDonald Names Mosley's Successor

LONDON, May 23.—(AP)—Swiftly acting after the resignation of Sir Oswald Mosley, Prime Minister MacDonald today appointed Major Clement Richard Atlee, member of the house of commons for Limehouse, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancashire.

The prime minister lost no time in making the appointment, and the rapidity with which he acted was considered by observers as a gesture of defiance to his political opponents. It had been thought that the MacDonald ministry's first vacancy would not be settled so soon.

Industrial Activity Is On the Increase

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—A slight increase in industrial activity over that of March was described today by the federal reserve board in its monthly review of general business and financial conditions.

The board found that factory employment declined by the usual seasonal amount while factory payrolls showed a smaller reduction than usual.

Wholesale prices, the board said, continued to decline in April and the first half of May, while there was a further easing of open market money rates.

Possession of Booze Not Moral Turpitude

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(UN) A conviction for possession of liquor does not involve moral turpitude, Justice Peyton Gordon ruled in District of Columbia supreme court today, holding such a conviction does not disqualify a man from serving on a grand jury.

A conflicting precedent involved transportation of liquor, an offense punishable by a greater penalty, by a policeman who had taken a special oath to uphold the constitution, Gordon pointed out.

William O. Partridge, Sculptor, Is Dead

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—William Ordway Partridge, noted American sculptor, who was an exhibitor in the Paris salon at the age of 20, died here yesterday. He was 69 years old.

Among his principal works are a statue of Shakespeare, in Lincoln park, Chicago; Pocahontas, Jamestown, Va.; a baptismal font in the Episcopal cathedral at Washington, and his last work, a statue of Lyon Gardiner, soon to be erected at Saybrook, Conn.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter and a son.

MILLER CHILD DIES

5-Year-Old Boy To Be Buried at Sylvester Today.

John Rankin Miller, five-year-old son of Mrs. J. P. Miller, of 1376 DeSoto avenue, died Friday after a short illness. Funeral services will be held at the residence at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. D. P. McGeachy officiating, and interment will be at Sylvester.

The child is survived by his mother, one small brother, Francis; two other brothers, V. V., of Chattanooga, Tenn., and D. P. Miller, of Durham, N. C., and his grandfather, W. H. Miller, of Alpharetta.

Boy Pleads Insanity In Extortion Case

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—(AP)—Bernard Swalley, 20-year-old Pasadena junior college student, today pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to a charge of extortion. The superior court set July 8 for trial.

Swalley is charged with extorting $3,000 from Mrs. F. W. Emery, wealthy 64-year-old San Marino widow.

He was trapped by police detectives in the act of digging up money police had buried in answer to his death threat letters to Mrs. Emery. The police said Swalley told them he needed money to complete his education. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Swalley, of Birmingham, Ala., were in court.

was constitutional instead of legislative until after the balloting.

Women who had drafted the equal rights memorial at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Council at Amarillo, Texas, this spring, planned to carry on the fight. They hoped to obtain the two-thirds vote necessary to submit the proposed amendment at the next quadrennial convention.

This was the first time the matter had ever been submitted to the general conference. Mrs. Nat G. Rollins, of Abilene, Texas, one of the leaders in the movement, was enthusiastic over the outcome, recalling that it had taken 12 years for women to gain the privilege of being conference delegates.

N. M. Rowe, of Madison, Ala., whose step was uncertain and whose voice was feeble, took up the women's cause. Mr. Rowe said he had lived to see the women "help take care of the men." "If they don't preach a better and safer gospel than some of our men, God help our church," Mr. Rowe said.

Opponents of the proposal contended that women ministers had no place in Christ's plan.

By a vote of 293 to 10, the conference voted to submit a proposed constitutional amendment to establish a judicial council, a supreme court for Southern Methodism. Proponents of the court plan said it was unwise for any one body to have both the supreme executive and judicial authority, as the college of bishops has. The council would consist of five clerical and four lay members.

The conference voted to end its sessions tomorrow.

Another determined effort to authorize a referendum in the local conferences on the question of licensing and obtaining women as preachers was unavailing this afternoon. The conference voted, 164 to 128, to call for the referendum.

But a two-thirds vote would have been necessary.

W. J. Piggott, of Louisville, brought up the question this afternoon. An impassioned speech against the proposed referendum was made by Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler, of Los Angeles.

"I come from the very center of women preachers," Rev. Mr. Shuler said, "Last Sunday the women preachers advertising in the papers of my city lacked only one of being as numerous as the men. More than half of these women preachers were divorcees."

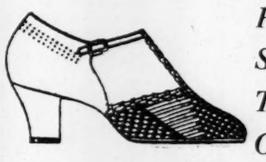

"The normal American woman is not going to preach. She is going to stay in the home, which is more important than the church. The preachers will be freaks and old maids. Old maids are all right, but they become very eccentric before they get through with it."

Mr. Shuler charged that the women were not behind the movement, notwithstanding the fact that the women leaders were.

The conference refused to grant memorials from persons in the Ashland district of Kentucky, asking that the district be transferred from the western Virginia to the Kentucky conference, and from persons in the Bluefield section of West Virginia requesting the conference to place them in the western Virginia instead of the Holston conference.

The budget for the ensuing quadrennium was finally adopted. It combines the assessment for the quadrennium, $2,040,000, compared with an assessment of $2,130,000 for the past four years. The voluntary subscription quota was set at $1,150,000, most of which will be used for mission work.

IN COUNTLESS HOUSEHOLDS..
Some one is Suffering in Silence
—from troubles caused or aggravated by harsh or impure toilet tissue

A prominent New York hospital surgeon conservatively estimates that between ten and twenty million people in the United States are suffering from ailments of this nature.

An astonishing statement. But not so surprising when you consider the careless attitude of most people toward the quality of toilet tissue used in their homes.

Today, however, women are beginning to realize the importance of bathroom tissue from the health standpoint. To assure absolute protection, careful housewives insist upon the tissues that physicians and hospitals have thoroughly approved—ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf.

These three health-protecting tissues are made from specially processed fibres—"thirsty fibres." Crumple a sheet in your hand. Feel its unusual softness.

Treat a sheet of ordinary glazed tissue this same way. You can actually feel its cutting edges—frequently sharp enough to cause a seriously inflamed condition.

Why risk your family's health . . . when it costs no more to buy these fine quality toilet tissues.

Scott Tissues

NOTE: ScotTissue and Waldorf are the two largest selling brands in the world . . . Sani-Tissue is the new popular priced white toilet tissue embodying the famous thirsty fibre qualities.

VANDERBILT ALUMNI TO GATHER TUESDAY

57th Anniversary of Founding of University Will Be Observed Here.

Celebration of the 57th anniversary of the founding of Vanderbilt University will be held next Tuesday, with alumni of that institution in Atlanta joining with those of more than a score of other cities in paying homage to the occasion.

Both men and women alumni of Vanderbilt will gather at the Capital City Club at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night for a Founders' Day dinner, to be held under the auspices of the Atlanta Vanderbilt Club, with John A. Hynds, president, presiding. The dinner will be featured by the reception of an elaborate radio program broadcast from Nashville, where the home celebration will be held.

In the radio program, which will be broadcast through WSM at Nashville, Dr. James H. Kirkland, chancellor of Vanderbilt, will review the history of the university, and Robert S. Henry, president of the Vanderbilt Alumni Association, will deliver a brief address, while the Vandy Glee Club will present several musical numbers. The radio program will begin at 8:30 p. m., Atlanta time.

Reservations for the local dinner may be made by telephoning Dr. Thom- Connor, secretary.

Labrador Trip May Be Given Local Boy Scout

National recognition again has come to Scout W. L. Brady, Jr., prominent Atlanta Boy Scout editor and magazine writer, with announcement Friday night from National Boy Scout headquarters that he, together with three other nationally known boy leaders, is being considered in a contest to choose one representative American boy to represent the Boy Scouts of America on a trip this summer to Labrador, sponsored by the G. P. Putnam's Sons, publishers.

If Brady should win, he would leave early in June on the "Wanderbird," an old historic boat, for the Grenfell Missions and other attractions in the scenic wonderland of Labrador. He would be expected to relate his experiences to his brother Scouts all over the nation. It was announced that Brady was chosen on a basis of high character and journalistic ability.

This is not the first time that Brady has been honored nationally. Last summer he was one of the Georgia boys to attend the International Boy Scout Jamboree in England and wrote a book on his return narrating the interesting events of this greatest of all peace-time conclaves. His book already has received a large circulation.

Last month he made an address before the National Boy Scout Press Association at its annual meeting in New York. He was unanimously elected for a two-year term to the executive board of that organization.

When in Washington, on his return trip, Senator Walter F. George presented him to President Hoover.

Millican Prepares For Grady Probe

Alderman G. Everett Millican, chairman of the hospitals and charities committee of council, Friday was continuing his investigation of circumstances surrounding refusal of Grady hospital attaches to admit Jack Reeves, 65, of Bremen, who died before he could be taken to another hospital.

Mr. Millican is conducting a private investigation and will lay the facts he finds and summon witnesses to a committee probe of the affair about the middle of next week.

Reeves, who shot himself, according to reports, was taken to the hospital in a dying condition. Dr. W. M. Williamson, of Bremen, who accompanied the wounded man to Atlanta in the speeding ambulance, declares Asmon Lewis, assistant superintendent of the hospital, was fully informed and cognizant of the gravity of the condition of the injured man, while Mr. Lewis holds that he did not realize it was an emergency case.

Mr. Millican has been joined by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and other members of the hospitals committee in a demand for suspension of all rules and red tape in admitting patients when there is an emergency.

Pioneer School Boys To Assemble Today

One hundred and fifty members of the Pioneer School Boys' Club of Atlanta, representing men of this city who attended private schools here prior to organization of the public school system in 1872, will gather this afternoon on the grounds of the Bobby Barns cottage for their annual meeting and dinner.

Election of officers is the only business scheduled for the session today. A luncheon will be served at 2 p. m. following which new officers for the ensuing year will be chosen. Piromis H. Bell, secretary of the club, Friday extended an invitation to all male Atlantans who attended private schools prior to 1872.

Pony Riding Starts At City Parks Today

Atlanta's youths will get the first thrill of the municipal recreation season this afternoon when 30 ponies purchased for the Piedmont and Grant park tracks are placed in service for the first time.

The animals were purchased by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and James T. Ozburn, chairman of the purchasing committee of council, in Tennessee.

3 Atlantans Share In New York Estate

Claire Phillips Barnet and J. Elsas Phillips, of 1246 Ponce de Leon avenue, grandchildren of Mrs. Sarah Phillips, of New York, were bequeathed $1,000 each in the will of Mrs. Phillips, who died recently in that city. The will, which was filed Friday for probate, also bequeathed a diamond ring to a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nettie E. Phillips, also of 1246 Ponce de Leon avenue.

THE CENSUS KICKERS.

One can hardly blame Louisville and Houston for feeling bad over being spelled down by Atlanta in the census return of this year. Civic pride is always commendable, but civic kicking over inevitable facts is neither sensible nor praise-attracting.

Atlanta, by an act of the general assembly of the state, has been created with her present territory and with the population permanently living upon it. Whatever effect that has upon the area nad population of other cities on the map is not to be debated between Atlanta and them. The sole question involved now is whether the census bureau of the federal government will recognize a fact established by the legislation of a sovereign state of the Union and conform its official report with that fact.

It is not germane to the issue raised by the protests made by Louisville and Houston, and their allies, to consider here how much territory and population either of them have annexed since the census of 1920. Whatever the facts may be they have neither legal nor logical bearing upon the right of Atlanta to have her legal territory and population honestly reported in the census tabulations.

It is our belief that our senators and representatives in Washington will be able to so present the facts in our case as to convince the authorities of the justice of Atlanta's claim of being in population the second city of the south, led only by New Orleans. We have no feeling of bragging rivalry over Louisville and Houston. They are fine examples of southern enterprise, but in this case they must admit they are subjects of "Kismet."

CHINA'S GREATEST NEED.

The continued propaganda of the Nationalist government of China in the matter of the abolition of extra-territoriality in that bandit-ridden and civil war beset nation, emphasizes what has long been recognized by the statesmen of the world as its greatest handicap in catching up with the stride of modern nations—the lack of intelligent and far-sighted leaders.

It cannot be expected that the United States, England and the other nations which now conduct consular courts in China for the protection of their nationals will at the demand of the government headed by President Chang leave the meting out of justice to Chinese court procedure which is admittedly in its infancy and the decisions of which are constantly threatened with nullification at the hands of armed rebels. Yet in literature only recently sent out from one of the official bureaus of the Nanking government, renewed demand is made that extraterritoriality be done away with, and with this demand is coupled the following thinly veiled notice of resort to force if necessary:

> Let it be pointed out once more: the time has long passed when China will be satisfied by empty promises and be told that extraterritoriality will not be abolished until such and such a date. The time is more than ripe for the irritating and humiliating system to go. China is resolute to get rid of it at all cost. Should the Powers fail to meet the overture of the Chinese government and would respect nothing except force which China is admittedly lacking, the Chinese people will be ready to make any sacrifice to defend their sovereign rights.

Which is not the kind of talk that is going to get for China the full recognition every civilized nation of the world is anxious to extend to her when it becomes apparent that her people are sufficiently united, under able leaders, to care for the interests of foreigners within her borders.

Admittedly some progress upward in conditions have been made under the Kuomintang government, but so much is still to be accomplished and that government itself is so constantly in danger of being overthrown, that it would seem its demands for immediate abolition of extraterritoriality will continue for some time to come to be met with counter demands for proof of ability to insure the integrity of its courts.

When China's leaders can give reasonable assurance of that, there can be no doubt that she will immediately be given full sovereignty over all things within her borders. Until she can, however, her leaders by their renewed outbursts will merely be establishing the fact that they are not statesmen capable of leading their country out of the morass into which it has fallen, but are more of the nature of some of our American politicians whose chief oratorical efforts are for home consumption only.

THE PROHIBITION POLL.

The prohibition poll taken throughout the nation by the Literary Digest has been completed and the voices of near 5,000,000 straw voters have been registered. The results show more for strict enforcement of the prohibition laws than for their modification to allow "light wines and beer," but greatly many more for the repeal of the federal prohibition than for either of the other propositions.

The Literary Digest has sincerely endeavored, with much pains and at great cost, to obtain a fair indication of popular opinion concerning prohibition as it now affects the people of the nation. Such cavil as has been directed against its nation-wide poll has been prejudiced and of no weight. The magazine has been honest in its work and presents its results without bias or partisan purpose.

But, after all, the taking of the poll has been of news value to the curious more than of any probable determinative effect upon prohibition legislation or administration. Those who are charged with making enforcement laws will be more influenced by the local sentiment which makes or breaks legislators. They will "follow the crowd" as they cannily count it and not as the magazine poll has counted it. The administrators of the enforcement laws will assert that they are doing all possible to secure prohibition as the constitution commands it.

In such circumstances it will not be strange if the poor results achieved by legislation and administration do not rapidly increase the discontent of persons not satisfied with prohibition "as is."

THE DECIMATED COUNTIES.

All Georgians will regret that the shifting of population in the past ten years has resulted in some fine counties of the state losing from 1,000 to 8,000 of their inhabitants. The causes for their losses are both local and general, and easily understandable, but none the less to be deplored.

The loss of one or more thousands of population is a serious one to any county, diminishing its productive, consuming and self-supporting power. The loss attacks property values, tax raising capacity, and the progress of all county institutions dependent upon public support.

The fact that the population of the state at large has increased, and that the increase is largely in the urban areas, is much worth while to the general welfare of the state. There may be found state-wide compensations in the increased values of city and town properties and their ability to make up the revenues of the state from the counties, but what of the decreased revenues for the counties and their necessary functions?

This decrease of population in so many of the counties is going to raise increased problems for the state government. The legislature will be compelled to take note of them and the issues raised may easily demand the adoption of some of those reforms in taxation, distribution of state funds, and county administration, that have been stubbornly resisted up to date. The census will deserve the close study of every one concerned in the future of the counties and the state's relations to them.

The Cubans are disposed to look upon our proposed sugar tariff as akin to "Butcher" Weyler's "reconcentrado" stuff.

Bishop Cannon asked to be "investigated," and the Caraway lobby committee is waiting to do just that for him. What's his hurry?

The call for "more religion" ought to be answered first by the callers.

The Hollywood divorce mill is doubly active as the season for June brides approaches.

The poor old tariff bill is probably singing in its mind "It's a Long Way to the White House!"

There seem to be a thousand ways to get booze and no successful way to prohibit it.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Trojan Horse Found.

A Brussels newspaper, "Twentieth Century," carries the sensational news that Professor Henri Gregoire in the course of his excavations in Asia Minor has located the remains of the Trojan horse, which, according to legend, served the Greeks as a means to introduce some of their own warriors into Troy and thereby capture the city. Professor Gregoire's procedure in the matter was as follows. First he looked long for the walls of the city. He found them and laid them bare. Then he looked for the most likely spot where the horse could have passed. Once located, he started to dig again. The result was a mass of timber, planks and other material which looks very much as if they once made up the famous mythological "ruse de guerre." With the help of the director of the bontanical gardens of Brussels, who subjected the timbers to a thorough chemical and microscopic examination, it was announced that the timber came from Norway. This, of course, creates a new and greater puzzle, of course. Where did the Greeks of antiquity get Norwegian timber? Enthusiasts of the Nordic theory, always on the lookout to give the blond race a bit of additional glamor, are already timidly advancing the suggestion that perhaps some Vikings participated on the side of the Greeks in the Trojan War, which would fully account for the Greek victory, of course. The idea is advanced sotte voce only, but soon we'll hear more about it. The Nordics won't leave us long in the dark. It's not their habit when it concerns matters that may heighten the renown of the blond blue-eyes.

Mother of Wesleys.

In the course of the controversy in England about the teaching of boys by women, no one seems to have mentioned the supreme instance of education by a woman which was emphatically not of the "namby-pamby" order, remarks the Manchester Guardian. Never was the education of youth undertaken on more thorough and more Spartan lines than by the mother of the Wesleys. Beginning with the rule that when a child reached its first birthday "it should be taught to fear the rod and cry softly," going on by "insisting upon conquering the will of children betimes," it proceeded to a regular system of education beginning on the fifth birthday: on the day before the first appearance in the schoolroom the child was expected to devote six hours "to acquire a perfect mastery of the alphabet." "It is almost incredible," wrote the good lady, "what a child may be taught in a quarter of a year, by a vigorous application, if it have but a tolerable capacity and good health." Life out of school hours was also conducted by rule at Epworth rectory. No doubt, Mrs. Wesley had exceptional material on which to work.

Pitts's Last Words.

The last words of famous men are often of interest, as illustrating their peculiar characteristics. Rabelais' "I am going to look for the great Maybe." Heine's "God will forgive me, it's His job," and the last words of Pitt the Younger have often been quoted in this connection as illustrating his preeminent patriotism or (according to another tradition) his fondness for veal pies. Now there are three versions of his dying words. First there is Stanhope's account, "My country, how I love my country;" next there is the amended version adopted by Professor Holland Rose, "My country, how I leave my country;" finally, there is yet another story, not positively adopted in Lord Rosebery's Life of Pitt, but enshrined in an appendix to that work, according to which the last words of the great patriot were: "I think I could eat one of Bellamy's veal pies." It rests for its validity solely upon the authority of the gossip of an old waiter of the house of commons, by name, of course, Bellamy, who was no doubt anxious to stress his own historical importance when talking to members, and particularly, perhaps, to Mr. Disraeli, who preserved the anecdote and handed it on to Lord Rosebery. But meanwhile another version has come to light, which seems to carry with it the stamp of authenticity; for it comes from no less an authority than that of Canning. And this version, while it still retains all the patriotic feeling of the usual text, "My country, how I leave my country," yet presents the same sentiment in a simpler and less dramatic form.

Health Talks

EVERYMAN'S HEALTH EDUCATION.

A correspondent asks why I do not list a number of books—if they have been written—which would help a layman to acquire a working knowledge of what makes him run, what throws him out of gear, and what to do about it. For instance, isn't there a fundamental anatomy for the layman, and a book containing the essentials on diet and nutrition?

So far as I know there is no book on anatomy especially adapted for the layman. There are some excellent books about diet and nutrition. I have often recommended them and I shall give a list of them below. The only way anybody can acquire a working knowledge of what makes the body run is by studying anatomy and physiology. I shall mention some good books on physiology for lay readers.

When it comes to the question of learning what throws a body out of gear and what to do about it, that's something nobody can hope to learn out of books. And right there, I think, is the chief fault with the textbooks used in schools and with most of the health books offered to the laity. Authors of such books attempt to cover the entire domain of anatomy, physiology, hygiene, pathology, diagnosis, therapeutics and succeed in producing haywire.

Mottram's "Physiology," W. W. Norton Co., New York, is worth $3 of every man's money, and so is Stiles' "Human Physiology," W. B. Saunders Co., Philadelphia. Then Clendening's "The Human Body" is at least well worth getting out of the public library, even if one cannot afford to pay six berries to Knopf, the New York publisher, for a copy.

Sherman's "Chemistry of Food and Nutrition," Macmillan, New York, is to my mind one of the best buys in print at $2.50 or thereabouts. Then, of course, you must have something authoritative and sound about vitamins, and McCollum and Simmonds, the authors and publishers, Baltimore, supply it in their $1.60 "Food, Nutrition and Health." Should you wish to study further along this line, McCollum's "Newer Knowledge of Nutrition," Macmillan, is a classic, at about five simoleons. For those who are particularly interested in calories and in diet for gaining weight, reducing, blood pressure lowering, and the like, Rose's "Eat Your Way to Health" is published by Funk & Wagnalls, New York, at $2.

Some people are curious to know what happens to food, beverages and everything, and Professor Hawk, a physiologist, not a physician, tells them very clearly in "What We Eat and What Happens to It," Harper & Brothers, New York, for what I often demanded and sometimes got for a night call, to wit, two bucks.

Along with these selected books I have another, rather for a special class of readers, but so valuable in my opinion that I include it among the indispensable books of a good home library: Mosher's "Personal Hygiene for Women," Stanford University Press, California, $1.50.

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

ROBERT QUILLEN.

My Dear Louise: A famous French woman visited America a short time ago and went home greatly disappointed.

Our remarkable sanitation, physical culture and wealth impressed her very little, for these things seeemed to take the place of any moral sense.

She thought we had made a religion of being clean, healthy and prosperous.

Over in Russia the authorities are doing their best to rid the land of all religion and are teaching children there is no God.

The result isn't pleasant—bands of young thieves prowling at night; divorces obtained in 10 minutes—thousands of young people "marrying" three or four times before they are 20 years old; murder and theft by the powerful; complete disregard of civilization's standard of sex morality.

In this country the number of people who ignore religion or actively oppose it increases year by year, and there is corresponding increase in the number of divorces, the number of indecent books, the number of criminals.

You do enough newspaper reading to know that is true.

Doesn't it make the case clear?

If the people here in town should quit using water from the municipal system and begin to drink from Durbin creek, and the change should be followed by an epidemic of typhoid fever, wouldn't you advise them to use town water again?

When people desert religion and the land is filled with all manner of evil, isn't it reasonable to blame their desertion for the epidemic of rottenness that follows?

If that isn't convincing, I want you to study the faces of the women you know.

You will find pretty girls and beautiful ladies, perhaps, who scorn religion—possibly you will find some who scorn all standards of virtue; but their beauty will be a matter of physical perfection and make-up.

When you find a woman young or old whose beauty is something more than cold perfection of features—whose smile is radiant like the sunlight—whose eyes have a look of kindness that is like a benediction—whose whole countenance is eloquent of unselfish goodness, sweetness and unblemished character you will find in every instance that she communes with God.

There won't be any exception, dear.

The qualities that make a woman truly beautiful are the fabric of her character; and when you see one whose sweetness and poise you envy, you may know the Kingdom of Heaven is within her.

Many times you will be tempted to join the "smart" crowd that calls religion "an old-fashioned superstition."

When you are thus tempted, note the hardness of their eyes and the cold, dissatisfied, resentful expression of their mouths.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

(Special Dispatch to The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 23.—Foreign film release takes all forms. Pictures in Hollywood are being made with casts from the French, the Spanish and even the German actors of the colony.

The latest move in this direction is the projected plan to make Lawrence Tibbett's recent picture, "Rogue Song," in four languages, Tibbett to sing the principal songs, and titles to do the work of dialogue largely.

Catherine Dale Owen would be brought back to make the shots requiring the two leading characters. That this proceeding would involve a terrific amount of work and expense goes without saying. But producers seem to think that it would be worth it.

When the Twelfth Knight Club of Hollywood entertained the Maskers group yesterday, Jack Barrymore proved himself a son of the theater when he pledged his small daughter, Dolores Barrymore, to the Twelfth Knighters and paid a year's dues in advance for her.

With Dolores Costello for a mother and such a father, let Dolores Barrymore try to escape the tradition of the theater if she can!

Just now we hear she "ain't bothered."

Gone thoroughly domestic, the young couple planned to begin life simply. Dorothy Dwan arranged her house in such a manner that she could do nicely without a maid. And so pleased was father-in-law to be, that he provided the house as a wedding present.

The same interior decorator who did the Boggs Sr. mansion was given the work of making the Boggs Jr. bungalow as charming as a modern home can be. But the lad is a practical joker. The other morning he met the little Dwan matching samples in a local department store. He rushed over to her with a look of genuine concern:

"I say, Miss Dwan, I feel terribly about this. But when I planned your house, nobody told me you were going to do your own work. And that carpet I put on the living room floors is going to be a terrible curse to you."

"How so?"

"Well, you see, it's very deep pile carpet, imported, and you have to clean it with a whisk broom every morning on your hands and knees. Usually we install it in homes where there are so many servants it doesn't matter. But I should have known so I could put in something that could be vacuumed for you. . . ."

Only when the young lady was reduced to a state of desperate tears did those in the know come to her rescue with the truth.

George Huston is temperamental. At a recent Hollywood party a lady in high spirits glanced out of the window and saw a traffic officer sitting astride his motorcycle in the street.

"I wish someone would bring me that traffic officer," she said. "I'd like to sit down at a party and talk to one. Find out just how they react. They're always furious by the time they stop me with a siren and I never get a break."

A few minutes later Huston, who is six feet three, calmly walked into the drawing-room carrying the traffic-officer in his arms. The T. O. was no baby. A husky six feet himself. Just how the diplomatic negotiations were managed Huston never told. But the lady is telling the story as an example of modern chivalry.

Walter Raleigh only threw down a cloak. . . .

V. M. I Professor Commits Suicide

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 23.—(AP)—Professor R. B. Proague, 46, of Virginia Military institute, committed suicide in a hospital here today by slashing his throat with a razor.

Professor Proague had been in ill health some time and came here a few weeks ago to recuperate.

Leaving a note in which the authorities said he wrote that he "had not been in my right mind, I have just come to my senses," Professor Proague requested that his body and clothes be burned.

It was understood the body is being prepared to be sent to Lexington.

Goebel To Attempt East-West Crossing

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—(UN) Colonel Arthur C. Goebel will leave here Thursday for Paris to prepare for a non-stop flight from the French capital to New York, it was announced today.

Goebel, winner of the California-to-Hawaii race, will sail from New York. On his flight he will use a low-winged Lockheed monoplane equipped with radio receiving and sending apparatus.

Gotham Swelters.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Today was the hottest day of the year so far in New York city. The thermometer registered 89 at 3 p. m., eastern standard time, rising to that height from a low of 68 at 5 p. m. The humidity was low, however, and there was comparatively little discomfort.

Miami Tries Again To Bar Al by Law

MIAMI, Fla., May 23.—(UN)—City commission late today passed another ordinance aimed at Alphonse Capone but the vote failed of four-fifths majority and the Chicago gang leader probably will be out of jurisdiction before the act becomes effective, 30 days hence.

The 3-to-1 vote lacked the necessary strength to make the law effective immediately. Commissioner R. B. Gautier voted against the measure on the grounds it violated his legal training and Commissioner J. E. Lumus refused to cast a ballot.

The ordinance declares any "person having visible means of support acquired in unlawful or illegal manner or persons dangerous to the public safety or peace and known to be crooks, gangsters or hijackers" are vagrants.

The act was passed despite the protests of labor representatives who argued unemployed men might be molested under the measure.

An act previously passed by commission to facilitate arrest of Capone whenever he crossed the line from Miami Beach where he pays taxes for an expensive residence on Palm Island, later was discarded for the new bill because of labor protests.

Nine Countries Name Reperations Loan

PARIS, May 23.—(AP)—Bank officials and treasury representatives of nine countries decided today on the designation of the $300,000,000 German reparations loan which will be floated under the auspices of the Bank for International Settlements, but did not settle the issue price of the bonds.

The loan will be known officially as "the German international 5 1-2 per cent loan of 1930." Another meeting tomorrow will discuss the issue price.

40 WEAVING SHEDS CLOSE IN ENGLAND

MANCHESTER, England, May 23. (AP)—Depression in the Lancashire cotton trade is increasing, and it is blamed chiefly on disturbed conditions in India and the low rate of silver exchange in China.

More than 40 weaving sheds are closed at Blackburn, where 10 mills have ceased operation.

Twelve mills have been stopped at Burnley and there is much unemployment at Oldham.

It is estimated that one in three of the half million cotton operatives is idle or on short time.

Malta Premier Escapes Bullets

VALETTA, Malta, May 23.—(AP)—An unsuccessful attempt was made today to assassinate Lord Strickland of Sizergh, prime minister of Malta, as he was entering the court of appeals to hear a case against the nationalist party.

Three shots were fired, but all missed. The assailant, who gave his name as Miller and his age as 38, is a supporter of the nationalist party and is understood to be a native Englishman. He was arrested for rioting in 1919 and was accused of having torn the British flag. He has only one arm.

'Everybody's Business'

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

Van Sweringen Brothers Pick Associates With Great Care—Chinese Consul-General Depicts Advance of Modern-ization.

"The Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland are very successful because they pick their work and their associates with extreme care," said a well-known business leader to me this week.

Armed with 66 per cent of the total outstanding stock of the Missouri Pacific at last week's stockholders' meeting, John P. Murphy, secretary of the Allegheny Corporation, the Van Sweringen holding company, named eight new Van Sweringen directors, seven from Cleveland and one from Buffalo.

Among those dropped were A. R. Graustein, the power behind the International Paper & Power Company; John J. Raskob, well-known financier; William H. Williams, chairman of the Wabash; Finley J. Shepherd, husband of Helen Gould, and Matthew C. Brush.

Two questions rise in connection with this interesting change. First, Will the Van Sweringens make an alliance with Arthur Curtiss James, of New York, who now controls the Western Pacific?

To acquire the Denver & Rio Grande Western is the next step in the Van Sweringer program, for it would give them a chance to enter Salt Lake City from Pueblo, Col. But this road is owned jointly by the Missouri Pacific, which the Van Sweringens now control, and the Western Pacific, which Arthur Curtiss James controls.

With this hurdle out of the way the "Vans" would move into Salt Lake City on the D. R. G. W. and into San Francisco and the far west over the Western Pacific.

Second: Will the Missouri Pacific's banking connections, long handled by the powerful house of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, be transferred to J. P. Morgan & Company? Very possible. For the Van Sweringen brothers have received powerful financial support in building up their huge railroad and terminal enterprises from both the house of Morgan and its close business ally, the First National Bank of New York.

That China has reached a point where it is ready to fall into line with western civilization in the march of progress was the gist of the address of the Hon. Henry K. Chang, Chinese consul-general at San Francisco, before the foreign trade convention.

Despite the social unrest and military disturbance reported in the newspapers, Chang averred that conditions in China were not so bad as they have been made out to be. But the forces at work are destined to triumph "and it is my belief that you will shortly see China emerge—a new nation—revitalized and rejuvenated," he said.

Chang pointed out that China's trade with the United States has increased fivefold in the last 20 years. In 1910 the United States was credited with 5 per cent of China's import trade. In 1929 it amounted to $400,000,000—or roughly 25 per cent of China's foreign trade.

"China as an actual and potential market has unlimited possibilities and deserves your closest attention," Chang told the meeting. "We welcome the extension of your commercial activities and your legitimate investments."

"China is the world's greatest market in a few years," Captain Robert Dollar, of San Francisco, never tires of repeating.

Hard on the heels of the statement made by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific railroad, that the greatest help the United States could give to Canada would be to consume all of the wheat that it raised, comes the report of the United States department of agriculture that white bread is a wholesome, nutritious food, and should be eaten as part of a balanced diet.

During the past five years the United States department of agriculture has found that there has grown up in the United States a distinct fear of white bread, a sentiment created largely by propagandists of wheat substitutes. So the amount of white bread consumed has been gradually diminishing.

But five nationally known authorities on dietetics announce that white and whole wheat bread should be eaten as part of a balanced diet.

Economists and farmers looking to the business side of the picture see dire disaster facing wheat farmers if anti-wheat bread propagandists have their way. The diminishing demand for white bread spells further demoralization of the American wheat farmer.

The American people today consume three bushels of wheat out of every four raised in the United States. It's this extra bushel that must be sold abroad that is causing all the trouble. If this extra bushel could in some way be consumed in the United States the world wheat problem would clear up readily and American wheat farmers would cheer.

But is white bread good? Don't take my word. The leaders who say "yes" are: Dr. R. Adams Dutcher, Pennsylvania State college; Dr. E. V. McCollum, Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Lafayette B. Mendel, Yale University; Dr. H. C. Sherman, Columbia University, and Dr. Harry Steenbock, University of Wisconsin.

The United States government officials, too, led by Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific work, agree with these bread authorities.

Ultimately the United States will consume all the wheat that it raises. But now—now is the time to help the farmer solve the wheat problem. For it is a big one, and still unsolved.

Doran Cautions Men on Seizure Of Paraphernalia

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—With drives against malt and hop stores in progress in several sections of the country, Prohibition Commissioner Doran cautioned administrators and agents today that the recent supreme court decision under which such action was being taken did not permit seizure merely because the various articles were offered for sale.

In seizing kegs, bottles, labels and other paraphernalia, the commissioner warned, the government must be able to prove that they are intended for use in violating the prohibition law.

G. A. Youngquist, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition prosecutions, who will have executive direction of the prohibition bureau when it is transferred to the department of justice, concurred in Doran's instructions.

"Mere presence of bottles, corks, crocks, caps and capping machines," Doran said, "does not, in our opinion, prove a design to use them for the manufacture of liquor intended for use in violating the prohibition act. Sometimes association with other articles will prove this design."

Since the decision in the Danovitz case, prohibition officials in various cities, including New York and Chicago, have started drives against stores handling malt, hops, kegs, bottles and other such paraphernalia.

Doran said that the court in that case concluded that bottling, labelling, etc., were part of the process of manufacture and that as a consequence the property involved might be usable in the manufacture of liquor.

"Secondly," he said, "the court held that property usable in the manufacture of liquor when designed or intended by the possessor for such illegal use is profitable, even though it be intended that the actual use be by other parties."

The commissioner told the agents that all paraphernalia used in manufacture of liquor could be seized whenever found with unlawful liquor.

100,000 Mexicans Pay Honor to Col. Sidar

MEXICO CITY, May 23.—(AP)—One hundred thousand persons today received with homage the ashes of Colonel Pablo Sidar, Mexican ace, killed near Costa Rica on May 11, while attempting a non-stop flight to Buenos Aires.

Colonel Sidar's memory was honored by the greatest demonstration of public mourning since the body of Captain Emilio Carranza was brought back from the United States two years ago.

At Valbuena flying field, a throng estimated at more than 50,000 stood silent and bare-headed while the urn containing Sidar's ashes, and another symbolic of those of Captain Carlos Rovirosa, Sidar's companion, whose body has not been found, were formally received by Secretary of War Amaro.

A crowd of 25,000 lined the streets between Valbuena field and the national palace for the passage of the two urns in Sidar's famous old army airplane "Ejercito Mexicano" in a mourning procession. About 30,000 more were massed outside the palace and crowded on balconies and stairways.

In the palace itself, President Ortiz Rubio, accompanied by his cabinet and the diplomatic corps, stood silent for a moment in front of each of the urns. The public was admitted and allowed to march past the urns an hour later.

Colonel Sidar received the military honors due a general. He was posthumously raised from the rank of colonel to that of brigadier general.

Al Capone's Brother Indicted for Booze

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—True bills have been voted against Ralph Capone, brother of "Scarface Al" and against five of his henchmen, charging them with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, it was revealed today when Capone was arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker.

Capone and his five companions appeared before the commissioner in the case growing out of recent raids on Cicero night clubs. When informed that true bills had been voted against them, they waived examination on charges that they conspired to violate the prohibition law through operating one of the raided clubs.

It was Capone's second appearance at the federal building during the day. Earlier he and his attorneys asked a new trial on charges of defrauding the government in his income tax returns. He recently was convicted on these charges and faces a possible sentence of 22 years in prison. Decision on the request for another trial will be made June 2.

Philippine Vote Given Approval

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(UN) Another breach between the senate and the Hoover administration, this time over the independence aspirations of the Philippines, threatened today. The senate insular committee, 8 to 4, reported for favorable action on the Hawes-Cutting bill providing for gradually increasing economic autonomy and a plebiscite to decide the independence question after five years.

The action was in direct opposition to the recommendations made to the committee by Secretary of State Stimson and War Secretary Hurley, both of whom urged continuance of the present American supervision of Philippine affairs through a governor-general appointed by the president.

8,000 GALLONS OF RUM MAKE $200,000 FIRE

HAMLET, N. C., May 23.—(AP)—Nearly 8,000 gallons of whisky, apparently imported, was burned here this morning. Officers estimated its retail value at around $200,000.

The whisky was seized last night when, acting on a tip that came to Deputy Sheriff Lawrence McLean, Chief of Police Miller opened two boxcars billed as "molding clay," en route from Savannah, Ga., to Buffalo, N. Y. Railway officials today sought to locate the shipper and consignee of the whisky.

Whaley Named.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—Richard S. Whaley, of South Carolina, was nominated today by President Hoover to be a judge of the United States court of claims.

Mr. Whaley was a member of congress from Charleston, S. C., from 1915 to 1921. In 1925 he was appointed a commissioner of the court of claims.

NATIONALISTS DEFEAT CHINESE REBELS

SHANGHAI, May 23.—(AP)—Nationalist government forces have severely defeated the northern alliance rebels, inflicting heavy casualties, said government dispatches today, and are driving them in general retreat toward Kaifeng, Honan province. The nationalists took 20,000 prisoners.

Defeated in a series of engagements which began May 8 in northern Kiangsu and Honan provinces, General Yen Hsi-shan, governor of Shansi province and head of the revolt against the central government, is said in government dispatches to be planning flight to a foreign country in anticipation of the collapse of the insurrection. The nationals, advancing northward on the railway beyond Hankow, are reported thrusting the rebel armies before them on another front to converge on Cheng Chow.

Thus the nationalists are engaged in a pincers movement, westward in northern Honan and northward in that province, to catch the rebel armies at Cheng Chow or Kaifeng, near-by. A decisive battle is expected in this area. The nationalist forces in eastern Honan alone were estimated by a missionary who returned here to number 70,000, while the opposing rebel troops had 100,000 men.

The latest nationalist victory near Kaifeng took place at Lanfeng, following the capture of Kweiteh by troops personally commanded by Chiang Kai-shek, president of the nationalist government. Chiang reported that a large part of Kweiteh was destroyed and hundreds of civilians killed by the nationalist artillery bombardment. Chiang directed his government to begin relief measures for the populace, suffering with exposure and hunger.

The few foreigners in the war area were reported unmolested.

CASTLE PREDICTS ERA U. S.-JAPANESE AMITY

TOKYO, May 22.—(AP)—William R. Castle, Jr., appointed United States ambassador to Japan for the duration of the London naval conference, at a farewell dinner given in his honor tonight by the America-Japan Society, declared that post-conference relations between Japan and America will be based upon a trust of real understanding.

The dinner was attended by members of the Japanese cabinet and other dignitaries.

Savonarola Memory Honored By Flowers

FLORENCE, Italy, May 23.—(AP) Flowers were piled high today at the foot of the Neptune monument in the Signoria square in memory of the famous revolutionary monk Savonarola. At the base of the monument is a little tablet recording the fact that May 23, 1498, Savonarola was hanged and his body burned on that spot.

The newspapers did not print reminders of the rebel monk's anniversary, but the fact seemed, as in other years, to have lingered in memory. People came from many quarters and deposited their floral offerings at the Savonarola tablet. Many Americans were among them.

Savonarola had two great loves—the Christian religion and the republic of Florence. He proclaimed Christ king of Florence and placed himself in opposition to the ruling Medici family. For a time, with the aid of King Charles VIII of France, Savonarola's rule, based, according to him, on the law of Christ, prevailed in Florence. But Savonarola went too far and the people of Florence turned against him. In some quarters he is regarded as a forerunner of the Reformation.

Birmingham Plans To Keep Eyes On Reds

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 23.—(AP)—Police Commissioner John H. Taylor and Chief of Police Fred McDuff said today efforts would be increased to keep alleged communistic organizations under surveillance following a mass meeting here last night.

The meeting, attended by approximately 150 negroes and half as many white persons, was announced as a "mass protest meeting of the communist party" and the "young communist league."

Speakers included Tom Johnson, described by The Birmingham News today as "director of district 17 who is listed on communist records as having been convicted of 'distributing leaflets and speaking to workers' in Ohio," and Walter Lewis, negro, described by the paper as a "communist worker."

Taylor said a police guard will be detailed "to see that there are no acts of violence" if reported plans for a general mass meeting and march on the city hall and Community Chest May 29 materialize.

Brother of Tunney Denies Intoxication

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Testimony that Detective Thomas Tunney, brother of Gene Tunney, was not intoxicated on April 25 when he was found seated in his automobile in West 23rd street today was before Deputy Police Commissioner Rutten who reserved decision in Tunney's trial on charges of having been "apparently suffering from some intoxicating agent."

Tunney testified he was taken ill while waiting for a friend. He was off duty at the time of the incident. A police surgeon and a hospital ambulance surgeon also testified he was not intoxicated, but was suffering from indigestion.

Prohi Farm Seizure Challenged in Court

PEORIA, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—The right of the government to confiscate farms on which the prohibition act has been violated by a tenant was challenged in federal court today.

Elmer and Mary Ellen Flaherty filed a motion asking dismissal of a federal libel suit against their farm on which a large still was seized several weeks ago. They contended seizure of the still and mash under the Volstead act rendered confiscation of the farm under the internal revenue act illegal. A similar petition was filed last week in the case against the Joseph Englehaupt farm in Putnam county.

Both cases have been set for hearing May 29.

Atlanta Ready To Demand Hearing on Census Status

Ramspeck Notifies Steuart of Plan Provided Basis of Count Should Be Reopened.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(Special.)—In the face of growing protests from other cities jealous of Atlanta's position as the second largest municipality in the south, Representative Robert Ramspeck, of the fifth Georgia district, today served notice on officials of the census bureau that Atlanta would demand the opportunity of a full hearing if there is to be any reopening of the question of its right to have its 1930 census computed on the basis of the city's new charter.

The Georgia congressman conferred during the day with Director of the Census William M. Steuart after it became known Thursday that the whole controversy over acceptance of the Greater Atlanta charter had been referred to Solicitor E. F. Morgan, of the department of commerce, for review and an opinion. Later he also conferred with Solicitor Morgan, insisting to both officials that the agitation against Atlanta was without legal basis.

He challenged the propriety of census officials reopening the case after Director Steuart, in a conference here last month, had given representatives of Atlanta what were regarded at the time as the final and definite assurance that the new charter would be accepted without question.

Status Uncertain.

Meantime, some uncertainty seems to exist as to the real status of the controversy. On Thursday, Director Steuart informed Representative Garrett, of Texas, who had called to protest against the Atlanta charter in behalf of Houston, that the matter had been placed in the hands of Solicitor Morgan for a ruling. The implication from this announcement was that the question was still up in the air and not settled as Atlanta representatives had been given to believe. But today he told Congressman Ramspeck that he was still of the same opinion he expressed at the time of the April conference, indicating that the case had merely been referred to the department of commerce legal department for a ruling that would fortify him against the complaints of Houston, Dallas, Birmingham, Memphis, Louisville and any other cities which may object to the position Atlanta would gain under its new charter as the second largest municipality in the south.

A question arose, therefore, as to just what constitutes a reopening of the case. The truth of it is that Director Steuart is being harassed so by the sudden outburst of civic pride from so many quarters that he is seeking to hold everything down until the fight cools off.

But Representative Ramspeck made it clear to both Mr. Steuart and Mr. Morgan, with whom he discussed the situation for more than an hour, that if any action is to be taken with the possibility of Atlanta being reversed on the former decision, the city, as a matter of right, will demand an opportunity to present its case in a formal hearing. The officials indicated to him that they would be glad to comply with his request.

Charter Not Unusual.

In his conference with Solicitor Morgan, who is a former governor of West Virginia, Representative Ramspeck pointed out that there is nothing unusual about the Greater Atlanta charter. He explained that a number of the larger municipalities of the country, including New York, Chicago and Boston, have special provisions in the charters permitting separate corporate units or boroughs to exercise taxing power different from the parent city. The solicitor previously had said that he was impressed with the lack of uniformity as to taxation in the new charter.

Representative Ramspeck gained an admission from him that there was full authority for the charter in the Georgia constitution and that the state legislature had acted with full justification in approving it. He went so far as to say in fact, that the charter showed evidence of having been adroitly drawn, adding that he had studied it closely since that matter was first referred to him.

In any event, he promised to consider every phase of the question before finally submitting his opinion.

So far as known the present agitation against Atlanta's new charter population of approximately 350,000 was started by civic organizations of Louisville, which stands to lose its former position as the second most populous center of the south, falling one notch below Atlanta by some fifteen thousand. Houston next came into the picture when preliminary census returns showed the city to have a population of some 290,000. If Atlanta's old boundaries were used with the 266,000 population, Houston would take rank next to Louisville.

As far Dallas, Birmingham, Memphis and all the rest, while they are in the class immediately below Atlanta by some 10,000, they nevertheless are declared to be jealous of Atlanta jumping above them by so much as 100,000, feeling that it provides a bad comparison.

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Thursday made known its intention to vigorously support Representative Ramspeck's opposition to any change in the census total previously assured Atlanta by officials of the bureau of census.

Horace Russell, president of the local trade body, and Ben S. Barker, executive vice president, declared that advices from Washington Thursday indicated that a fight loomed as the result of protests from a number of other cities "jealous" of Atlanta's corporate growth and that the chamber would lend its aid in retaining the population totals shown by the recent census.

Mr. Russell disclosed a telegram from Congressman Ramspeck in which the Atlanta representative advised that a brief be filed setting forth this city's right to retain the official census which included the recently incorporated boroughs.

TAYLOR'S FATE IN JURY'S HANDS

any undue reward to influence the behavior of the person receiving such reward in the discharge of his duty in any office of government or justice."

Judge Moore also said "the clerk of council of the city of Atlanta is an officer of government in the sense referred to in this section of the code."

The jurors were told that if they believed Taylor "in his official capacity as clerk of council and as such acting in the position of confidence, trust and clerkship in the legislative department of the city, and was accepted by council in an advisory capacity in matters coming before council, without receiving a reward for the purpose of influencing his official conduct concerning a matter pending before council, that would not be bribery, but if he should make an agreement for the payment of such sum to him for the purpose of influencing his official conduct as clerk of the council of Atlanta, and after action had been taken thereon by council money should then be paid to him in accordance with the agreement made prior to action of council on such subject matter, that would be bribery and it would not be a question of whether the city actually lost money in the transaction or not."

The case went to the jury at the end of its tenth day of trial, the last night being given over to the concluding arguments of the state, made by Solicitor-General John A. Boyin, and the final pleas of the defense, made by Taylor's chief counsel, Reuben R. Arnold, in which the former demanded Taylor's conviction "to rid Atlanta of a system of government that is appalling," while Arnold asked his liberty on the ground that in all except two counts the transactions in no way involved Taylor's conduct as city clerk."

Wait for Verdict.

From the time the jury went out until Judge Moore ordered its members to the hotel for the night an air of tenseness pervaded the courtroom, where nearly a hundred persons awaited the verdict. Solicitor-General Boykin and Special Prosecutor William Schley Howard, worn by the ordeal of the trial, went home to rest, leaving Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens to receive the verdict, should one be returned. Likewise Arnold went home and retired early, his brother, Lowry, Councilman W. Paul Carpenter and Samuel D. Hewlett, of Taylor legal staff, "sitting it out" with Mr. Stephens.

A number of Taylor's friends sat with the accused city clerk in the courtroom. Among them was Councilman William E. Saunders, chairman of the board of firemasters, who also is under indictment for bribery, and whose case is set for trial on June 2.

As the night wore on and hopes for a quick verdict disappeared, Taylor's spirits heightened. He laughed and talked with friends and joined in the discussions of newspapermen.

Judge Moore remained in his chambers. He had announced that if the jury showed any signs of reaching an agreement he would stay at the courthouse until midnight.

When the jury retired to reach its verdict it had to choose from the dynamic pleas of both Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who spoke for the state, and Reuben R. Arnold, Taylor's chief counsel, the former having pictured Taylor as a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" character operating a gigantic business of grafting from his clerk's office in the city hall and Arnold having charged that the "Taylor case is the crookedest on the records of Fulton county courts as far as the prosecution is concerned," and alleging that all of Taylor's deals save those covered in Counts 1 and 2 and involving transactions with former Councilman Cecil Allen were entirely within the law.

"Boykin and Howard (the special prosecutor) are a pair of stupid blunderers, bringing to you a case wholly without merits and bungled from start to finish," Arnold asserted to the jury in winding up his dramatic plea which was heard by a crowd which jammed Judge Moore's courtroom from wall to wall.

Acquittal Asked.

"The state came here with a bill containing 25 counts," Arnold went on. "After the evidence failed to support 14 of these charges Brother Boykin and Bill Howard abandoned them right in the midst of the trial. We ask you, gentlemen, to abandon the other 11. There is nothing in the evidence to support either or any of them."

Taking the counts individually Mr. Arnold went through the entire indictment, attacking the testimony of all witnesses, terming them just as guilty or more guilty than Taylor or Taylor's disgruntled political enemies.

"Here they are," Taylor's counsel declared. "For nineteen years this man has served his city and served it well. They who have opposed him and whom he opposed feared him more than they feared anyone in Georgia and when Boykin started to gather evidence against him all they could get to come into court and stand on were eleven measly little charges involving $2,800 and none of them are outside the law except the one involving Cecil Allen to whom Taylor made a loan, and everybody believes it was a loan except John Boykin and William Schley Howard."

Arnold confined almost half of his argument to the Allen transactions which he maintained were the only ones on which the prosecution should have been permitted to try Taylor.

"The Allen transactions constitute a court case. Taylor says one thing and Allen says another," Arnold declared. "If Taylor paid Allen for his vote it was bribery, but there are no persons who will believe that except John Boykin and his assistant, Mr. Howard.

"Let's go into Allen's testimony and see what we find.

Analyzes Allen Testimony.

"Here's a councilman who admits he had been bribed. He comes here not under indictment but under a waiver of immunity. He's a political enemy of Taylor's. He admits that. He has sworn to 'get' Taylor. He tells us that in 1925 Taylor gave him $100 to vote for the MacDougald Construction company in its bid for a paving job. The MacDougald Construction company people are not here to back up the payment. Taylor says it was a loan and he gave the money to Allen by check. Gentlemen, do you think that if Taylor was handing out bribes for the MacDougald Construction company he would do it by check and that check on his own bank account?

"No man who is handling bribes handles them by check. Purely on the face of Allen's own admissions this appears to be a loan.

"The other deal involved a $400 check. The same goes for it. Who is there that will believe that Taylor was paying out money for the Georgia Power company and paying it out by check on his own bank account. I do not think the Georgia Power company or Preston Arkwright would do a thing like that in a million years. Of course they will try to elect the men favorable to them but they would not stoop to such cheap tactics as bribing a man like Allen.

"But Allen admits he was hard up at the time. The fact that he went to his friend, Osborn, the next day after getting Taylor's check and getting a loan of $50 shows that. He went there with Taylor's check and he used it to get him credit with Osborn. He wanted to make it appear that he had something that he was too honorable to use, probably trying to impress Osborn that he was an honorable man and thereby worthy of the loan."

Calhoun Transactions.

Arnold then went into the Calhoun transactions which involve alleged payments of $2,250 and $200 to Taylor for use of his influence in defeating matters before council pertinent to the pool hall owners of the city whom A. P. Calhoun represented.

"There was no violation of the law in the first transaction," Arnold declared. "Taylor had every right to act for these people. His office or his duty as clerk of the city was in no way involved.

"Calhoun, the state's own witness, proves to you and to me when he says on cross-examination that Taylor, the clerk, was not involved, that he went to Taylor because Taylor was an influential citizen and political leader and wanted his help in winning the members of council to a stand favorable to the pool hall owners. It was legitimate on the face of it. Taylor acted as you or I, or any one else, including John Boykin, could have acted had we been approached on the matter. His sworn duty as an employe of the city did not enter into the matter."

As to the second Calhoun transaction Arnold argued to support Taylor's contention that Calhoun was mistaken about the entire matter.

Thinks Calhoun "Mistaken."

"Taylor says there was no second matter involving the pool hall owners before the council and the state has not produced any records from the city hall to prove that there was," Arnold declared. "Surely there must have been some record of the business they say the transaction involved."

The defense counsel then launched into an attack on the charges involving payments of monies from Jake Jacobs, acting in behalf of Solomon Piha, another involving the renewal of A. Pizanti's pool hall license and the alleged payment of $50 to Taylor by James L. Prattes.

"Taylor has told you, gentlemen, that he did not get anything from any of these men," Arnold declared. "Well, you saw them all on the witness stand. There was Jacobs and who can believe him? He was Taylor's sworn political enemy and it was proven that he is not everything that he should be. There was Pizanti who admitted that he lied four times before the grand jury, or says he lied four times and told the truth on the fifth occasion. How can anyone believe a man who admits lying four times but claims he told the truth on the fifth occasion? It is hard to do.

"As for the Prattes matter, that is too minor to discuss. Prattes says he gave Taylor $50, but Taylor says he turned the money over to John Y. Smith, who was Prattes' lawyer. Whether he did or didn't, his job as clerk was not involved and neither was it involved in the Pizanti matter nor the Piha matter."

Arnold directed a special attack on the testimony of Pizanti, declaring that the pool hall operator had been coerced into making the charge against Taylor.

Coercion Charged.

"The prosecutors brought this poor ignorant man down to the grand jury room where he had no one to back him and Taylor was not represented, not once but four or five times, no one knows just how many times, not even poor Pizanti himself," Arnold asserted. "They kept after him. Each time they asked him if he made any payments to Taylor and he said he did not. Finally after a number of denials he made an admission and they rushed him before the grand jury and indicted Taylor.

"There ought to be something done about that. I tell you, these third degree methods of prosecutors ought to be stopped. They're bigger than the law, the prosecutors. They are bigger than the courts and bigger than the state.

"Well, at any rate, Taylor claims Pizanti didn't give him a dime and I am inclined to believe that he didn't. Pizanti had to borrow money from his friend, Galanti. He admitted that he was broke. Two days after he borrowed the money from Galanti he paid his license fees. I think there is where Galanti's money went and not to Taylor."

In connection with the Piha transaction Arnold centered his attack on the testimony of Jacobs and that of Jesse W. Armistead, former alderman, who had testified that the Piha application was reported to council "among a bunch of approved papers after it had been reported on unfavorably by the police committee."

"We don't have to talk much about Jacobs, do we?" Arnold asked. "I do not think there is much stock taken in anything he said on the witness stand. But as to Armistead. He is Taylor's arch political enemy and he came down here to testify about the mistake of putting the paper in incorrectly. Well, anyone could make a mistake. No one is infallible. Why, it is the only mistake recorded against Taylor in 19 years and during that time his office probably handled 50,000 papers."

Transactions Skimmed Over.

"Taylor acted only as any other person influential with the members of council would have acted. These people went to him and wanted things done. He did everything he was asked to do and everything he promised to do. He was paid for it just like a lawyer or anyone else who had acted for these people before the council would have done. His job as clerk was in no way involved. His job and the laws governing it do not provide that he should give it every minute of his time. He could do outside work, either as representing people or as a building operator, real estate man, store manager or anything else.

"The people who paid Taylor got their money's worth. They got what they asked. It did not cost the city a dime. Everyone was satisfied with the transactions and no law was violated. That is all there was to it."

Then Arnold came to the Ewing transaction, in which it is alleged that J. H. Ewing, Jr., former city treasurer, came to him and paid him $3,000 for his influence in getting through an ice scoring ordinance.

"There was nothing illegal about that either," Arnold declared. "Taylor didn't even know that he was going to get any money for it. Ewing and Mr. Burnett (the chairman of the board of Ewing's company) came to him and asked him to help frame the ordinance and help get it introduced in council. Taylor saw that it was a good thing. He helped to frame it and got it introduced in council. It was passed, as the councilmen thought it was a good thing.

Borrowed Back $1,300.

"Then a couple of days later Ewing came to Taylor with $3,000 and gave it to him. Ewing borrowed $1,300 of it back from Taylor. Young Ewing had been dealing in stocks and was kind of hard up. That was all right. Taylor did not violate any law when he took that money. He had done something for a friend and he didn't even expect any pay for it. What does Taylor say about it in his statement? He says the matter is substantially the same as Ewing represented it to be. Everything was all right. The ordinance was a good one as everybody saw. It still is on the statute books. Everyone is satisfied and no law was violated in any way. Taylor's job or his duty was in no way concerned. It is not a case for the courts at all."

Before Mr. Arnold took up the final plea in Taylor's behalf Solicitor-General Boykin made a closing argument for the state, picturing Taylor as a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," who was "city clerk before he took any money but just an influential private citizen and political leader after it was done."

"Will anyone believe that these people would have gone to Taylor had he not been city clerk and a controlling power in the government of the city?" the solicitor-general wanted to know. "They will not."

In his attack on the city clerk Mr. Boykin centered his fire on what he called the most corrupt government Atlanta has ever had. Time and again he flayed the city clerk, whom he alleged to be at the head of the ring of grafters, which for more than six months has been under the investigation of the grand jury.

Acceptance of bribes for the accomplishment of things ordinary in the governmental routine was bitterly scored as being "the filching of the pockets of honest taxpayers."

"What is our city coming to when our citizens must dig down in their pockets and pay for the things that ordinarily are due them as citizens?" Mr. Boykin asked. "Where is it all going to end? Here we have a number of honest men forced to become dishonest in order that they might live in the manner in which they are entitled because our governmental officials stoop to grafting.

"The defense tells you that Taylor is within the law, but it is only their claim. They say he is not guilty of bribery under the law because his duties as clerk are not involved. I'll say they are involved. He's another Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Before he got the money he was the city clerk, but after he got it he was plain Walter C. Taylor. I ask you, Is there any difference between the two men? Not the slightest."

Like Arnold, the solicitor-general went down through the pressed counts in the indictment and argued at length in support of each.

"What do we find in the Allen transactions?" he asked. "A public servant who took Taylor's check and tried to trap him in his scheming business of bribery but who was forced to cash the check before he was ready to act, then defeated by Taylor's influence at the polls.

"The defense has asked why we didn't get Mr. Arkwright or other officials of the power company down here to testify and prove that Taylor gave Allen a bribe. We don't know that it was the money of the Georgia Power Company that Taylor was handing out. We have nothing to show that it was. Why should we get them down here when we do not even know where the money came from beyond Taylor. We know it came from Taylor and that is enough. It was Taylor who gave it to Allen."

Bribery Law Discussion.

Then the solicitor-general went into a discussion of the law on bribery.

"The statute was changed from a felony to a misdemeanor because you do not have to have corroboration on a misdemeanor charge," Mr. Boykin said. "Bribery is one of the most dastardly of crimes and one of the hardest to prove and it should be punishable by a sentence that is severe. Nothing could be too drastic for the bribe payer or the bribe receiver. And he that receives it is worse than he who offers it. For usually the receiver is a public officeholder and is violating a public trust when he takes a bribe."

Boykin attacked what he called a "shuttlecock system of government," charging that no one but Taylor could have accomplished those things considered to the betterment of the city and necessary to its well being.

"What do we find in these cases?" he asked. "Look at Roane and Witt and the others who went to official after official and got no results until they saw the 'boss.' The boss got them done and he got them done quickly because he got his pay for it. Why is it that honest taxpayers must put money into this man's pockets before they can get the city to do things the city should do? It is an alarming state of affairs and one that should be stopped and stopped by the action of this jury.

Defense Plea Hit.

"The defense has given you a lot of talk about Taylor not acting in any official capacity and they will give you more of it. But what about these men going to Taylor and giving him their money and not taking any more action themselves, just sitting back and waiting for the boss to act?

"They told you, each of them, that they made out no petition, they did not have to see any more councilmen, didn't they? They left the things to the big boss. They had paid him or promised to pay him and they went home and waited for action. They got it. Satisfied customers is what Taylor said he wanted. It appears that he always gave satisfaction when a plea was accompanied with money, but there is no record of satisfaction from any side until Walter C. Taylor got the filthy lucre he reached down into the taxpayers' pockets for.

"The defense will tell you, too, that there was no concealment of Taylor's actions. Of course there was not. Because Taylor led young Ewing to the third floor lavatory of the city hall and there took his money, out of sight of everyone. They might call that failure to conceal. They can hardly get away from that. Then there was the poor little pool hall owner, Pizanti. He approached Taylor in a downtown cigar store and Taylor told him not to talk here. No, Taylor told Pizanti to come to his room at the Robert Fulton hotel. There was no one in the room but Taylor and Taylor took nothing but the cash. Was that concealment?

"Of course he did not try to conceal the transaction with Marvin Roane. Roane went to him with cash and two perfectly good checks from well-known businessmen. There was no doubt of the worth of the checks. But did Taylor accept them? I'll say he did not. He told Roane to go get them cashed. The checks were too damning. Money is too hard to trace. Of course the defense will contend that such was not concealment.

Taylor's "Corruption."

"Now, let me show you just how corrupt this man is. Take young Jake Ewing, before his deal with Taylor a fine, upstanding young man. But the tempter came to him and what did he make of him? Ewing lost his job and he comes here in disgrace.

"And, too, Mr. Hewlett (defense counsel) has asked why have not we indicted Roane and Witt and the poor foreigners who own little pool halls and were mulcted out of their money by Taylor. Well why haven't we? Who is there that thinks these men would have voluntarily offered bribes? No one. These men gave bribes because Taylor forced them to. They could not get action without them. When you want something and have to pay for it you usually pay for it if you want it bad enough. That was the way with them. There never would have been a single bribe paid had not Taylor demanded, almost extorted it.

Failed to Collect.

"Now, to get back to Cecil Allen. Taylor claims the money he gave Allen were loans. But did he ever try to collect? No, he did not. Do you think that he would have tried to collect if they were loans? Of course he would. Allen was fighting him openly and if your enemy was fighting you and owed you money you would try to collect too, and so would I and so would everyone else.

"This is not the first time he had to bribe and did bribe, either. He told Roane that he had to put out to others, but he did not say who the others were and we cannot find out. I wish we could.

"Bribery is one of the most difficult charges in the world to prove. Too few know about it and they will not talk. But there is plenty of evidence here to support every charge we have made in this case and we ask a verdict from your hands which will rid our government of the intrigue and corruption that has been ruling it from the office of Walter C. Taylor."

Before Mr. Boykin made his argument Friday morning, Special Prosecutor William Schley Howard completed his address to the jury which started Thursday afternoon. During his closing remarks Mr. Howard centered on a discussion of the law and included a number of requests to Judge Moore to be included in the charge of the court.

Second Contingent of 106 War Mothers Reaches France

:: ONE OF FIRST GROUP TAKEN ILL ::

PARIS, May 23.—(AP)—One hundred and six more gold star mothers landed in France today to visit the shrines of their dead sons' heroism in the military battlefields.

Their arrival brought the total now in France to more than 235. That number will be maintained as a high point all summer, with one group on the battlefields, another arriving and another preparing to leave America for the pilgrimage at the same time.

Disembarking from the United States steamship Republic at Cherbourg, the mothers all were well as they were received with simple official ceremonies, to conserve their strength.

Mrs. Anna Platt, of Miami, Fla., a first contingent member, whose son is buried in Belleau Wood, suffered a heart illness at Chateau Thierry, supplying the first case of illness of other than a trivial nature since the war mothers began to arrive last week. The sick mother was taken to the Hotel Bonhomme, General Pershing's headquarters in 1918, where she was attended by Mary Lunberg, a nurse who had served with the A. E. F. She was reported resting well tonight.

There have been no hitches in the program arranged for the first contingent but experience has taught the officials several better ways of doing things and these new methods are now in force, adding comfort and convenience to the pilgrimages. This applied particularly to baggage.

Today's party, of which one member had been left behind because she missed the boat, sped through Normandy into the drab area of Paris' environs, and were due to detrain at the Invalides station this evening. Big closed cars there awaited them, each mother was given a badge indicating her hotel and all buses were marked so that the escorting officers were able to get from the train to the hotels quickly and without wearying confusion. Baggage went forward in separate cars arriving at the same time.

Tomorrow the mothers of the second contingent will have a day to themselves to look around and visit the shops.

Meantime the first group out in the war area pursued its sad pilgrimage. Mothers went to Romagne, Thiaucourt, Bony, Belleau Wood and Seringes-et-Nesles cemeteries. The Suresnes party today went to Chateau Thierry and other scenes made famous by the American army. A visit was made to the grave of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, son of the former "rough rider" president.

Tomorrow or Sunday five parties of mothers whose sons are buried in battleground cemeteries, will have their last look at the graves and then make a trip along the old battle front with army guides, who will tell them of the great incidents and battles of the war.

PUBLISHERS DEPLORE PRICE CUTTING WAR

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—The movement toward lower prices and wider sales of books received new impetus today. On the other hand, price-cutting brought expressions of disapproval from 10 publishers.

Albert Boni, who previously had said that his firm probably would meet the new book price cuts, but would do so unwillingly, tonight announced that on June 10 he will begin to published new books in paper covers at 50 cents each.

This is half the lowest price announced yesterday by the other publishers who started the price-cutting.

Including among the authors whose works Mr. Boni said he would issue at 50 cents each are Thornton Wilder, D. H. Lawrence, Paul Morand, Upton Sinclair, Will Rogers, Benito Mussolini, Marcel Proust and Guglielmo Ferrero.

He said he was entering "the price war initiated by other publishers." He is head of the firm of Albert & Charles Boni, of which, however, his brother, Charles, is no longer a member. Charles Boni, in business by himself, has for some time been publishing paper-bound books at the rate of 12 books for $5, delivered one a month.

Just before Albert Boni made his announcement, representatives of 10 publishing houses met in the offices of Harper & Brothers and issued a public statement of their disapproval of the price-cutting.

They pledged themselves "to avoid fundamental changes" in their present methods of publishing, but after the meeting several of them said as individuals that they did not mean they had bound themselves not to reduce their prices.

The following publishers were present or were represented at the meeting: Frederick A. Stokes, Harcourt Brace, Dodd Mead, Charles Scribners Sons, Harper & Brothers, The MacMillan Co., G. P. Putnams Sons, Alfred A. Knopf, E. P. Dutton & Co., and Cosmopolitan Book Corp.

Yesterday's price cut, already referred to earlier in the day by Horace Liverright as "the biggest bomb that's hit the book business in 50 years," was described by Mr. Stokes, spokesman for the assembled publishers, as an explosion.

"We should like," he said, referring to the firms of Farrar & Rhinehart, Simon & Schuster, Coward-McCann and Doubleday, Doran, who announced the cut to $1 and $1.50, "to congratulate the now famous four on the remarkable publicity stunt they have put over."

Doomed Moslems Plead To Allah

JEDDAH, Arabia, May 23.—(AP)—Moslem Arabs, doomed to die in the fire aboard the steamship Asia in the harbor here yesterday, knelt and said their last prayers to Allah before the flames took them.

Captain Marchandeau, of the Asia, today described scenes of horror which attended burning of his ship, which was leaving Jeddah for Djibouti with 1,500 pilgrims aboard when the fire broke out.

More than 100 of the pilgrims are believed to have burned to death. The captain praised the gallantry and bravery exhibited by his crew in the rescue efforts. The entire crew was saved; some of them climbed back aboard the doomed ship in order to take off some of the panic-stricken people.

Spectators gathered helplessly on the shore here to watch the awesome scene. The Asia was lying in the outer part of the harbor, after having taken aboard the 1,500 pilgrims destined for southern Red sea ports, when the blaze broke out in the second class cabin and spread throughout the ship. Its cause was not determined.

Signals were sent to all ships in the harbor and about 950 of the pilgrims were put aboard other ships and another 300 or 400 put ashore in small boats.

Man's Rescue of Wife Results In Agreement

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—(AP)—When Mrs. Gertrude Decars is able to leave the hospital she is going back home with her husband, John, whom she left last Sunday and who rescued her from drowning last night, when she leaped from a bridge in an attempt to end her life.

They met on a street in McKeesport, a suburb, and renewed the violent quarrel which caused their separation. In the heat of the controversy, Mrs. Decars turned from her husband and fled toward the bridge. Decars sensed his wife might hurl herself from the bridge, he told police afterwards. He ran to the river bank when he saw it would be futile to attempt to head her off. Mrs. Decars hurried to the middle of the bridge and plunged into the water. Decars plunged into the water at almost the same instant.

At the hospital today, it was said that aside from shock, Mrs. Decars was none the worse from her experience.

Meacham 'Sentenced Despite Money Pleas

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Despite requests of friends in the ministry, the bar and the business world for clemency, George J. Meacham, 58, was sentenced today to a minimum term of 15 months in Sing Sing prison for the theft of about $25,000 from the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Meacham, who pleaded guilty to forgery in the second degree, was manager of the insurance company's agents for 15 years. The maximum of his sentence is two years and six months.

Meacham's counsel said two brothers of the prisoner were willing to sign a note for the $25,000 and that he and George Gordon Battle, a native of Charlotte, N. C., Meacham's birthplace, would vouch for Meacham's future conduct, but Judge Connellan called his sentence "the utmost the court can do under the circumstances."

Prisoner Confesses 16-Year-Old Murder

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 23.—(AP)—A confession that he killed Sam Toto in Cleveland, Ohio, 16 years ago was obtained today from Sam Nicolose, a prisoner in the county jail here, according to Meadville police.

Nicolose's statement said he killed the man because of threats made against him and because he was compelled to give Toto money. After the shooting he said he went to Cincinnati, Ohio, then to New Orleans, and then came to Meadville, where he has operated a fruit store.

Police said the man had waived extradition to Cleveland.

Mr. Edmonds, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edmonds, of Boston, came to Wilmington four years ago. He is employed by the Bond Manufacturing Company. The bride worked as a bookkeeper for a stock broker before her engagement was announced cause of the monotony of social activity.

LENGTHY CHARGE GIVEN JURY

does not mean an artificial, capricious or fanciful doubt, but it means such a doubt as will arise in the minds of honest, conscientious jurors striving to arrive at the truth by reason of the nature of the evidence, the insufficiency of the evidence or the want of evidence.

He instructed the jury to consider all facts and circumstances of the case as shown by the evidence, and to take in connection therewith the statement of the defendant, giving it such credit as the jurors saw fit to place upon it. Judge Moore pointed out that the jurors were the exclusive judges as to creditability of witnesses and the weight of evidence given by them. He charged the jury on the creditability of witnesses and the jury's right to believe or not to believe the unsworn statement of the defendant.

Judge Moore touched on direct testimony and indirect or circumstantial evidence, and declared: "Before a jury would be authorized to convict on circumstantial evidence alone, the proven facts must not only be consistent with the hypothesis of guilty, but should exclude every other reasonable hypothesis save that of the guilt of the accused."

Defines Bribery.

Judge Moore defined bribery as follows: "Bribery is the gift of or receipt of any undue reward to influence the behavior of the person receiving such reward in the discharge of his duty in any office of government or justice."

"The clerk of council of the city of Atlanta," he said, "is an officer of government in the sense referred to in this section of the code.

"If any person shall directly or indirectly give or offer to give any money, goods or other bribe, present or reward, or gift to make any contract or agreement for the payment, delivery or alienation of any money, land or other properties, use any promise, persuasion or other like sinister unfair means or otherwise to influence the judgment or behavior of any member of the general assembly or officer of this state, or referee or arbitrator in any manner or cause depending, or which shall depend before such person and the officer, referee or arbitrator who shall accept or receive such bribe shall be guilty of a misdemeanor," Judge Moore said.

"Now, gentlemen, touching the definition of bribery, the court instructs you that bribery is the giving or receiving of any undue reward to influence the behavior of the person receiving such reward in the discharge of his duty in any office of government or of justice.

"If one should give to a member of the general council of the city of Atlanta a reward of money for the purpose of influencing his conduct as a member of general council, in and concerning a matter depending at the time before said council; or, if he should make an agreement to pay such sum of money to a member of general council for the purpose of influencing his action as a member of general council of the city of Atlanta in a matter depending before the council, and after action has been taken thereon by the council, money thereafter be paid to such member of council in accordance with agreement made prior to the action of the council on the subject matter, that, gentlemen, would be bribery, and it would not be a question whether the city actually lost any money in the transaction or not. Whether it did or not would not be material to the case.

Money Loss Not Necessary.

"But if money was given before action, or if a promise was made before action to give money, for the purpose of influencing the action of a member of the general council of Atlanta in and concerning a matter depending before it, and after action money should be paid in accordance with the agreement previously had then that would be bribery, whether the city of Atlanta lost any money, or otherwise, concerning the matter or not," Judge Moore said.

"If you should believe that this defendant, Walter C. Taylor, acting in his official capacity as clerk of the council of the city of Atlanta and as such was acting in a position of confidence, trust and clerkship in the legislative department of the city of Atlanta and was accepted by the members of general council in an advisory capacity, in matters coming before said council, did receive a reward or money for the purpose of influencing his official conduct as aforesaid in and concerning a matter pending at the time before said council, if he should make an agreement for the payment of such sum to him for the purpose of influencing his official conduct as clerk of the council of the city of Atlanta, and while he was in a position of confidence, trust and clerkship in the legislative department of the city of Atlanta for the purpose of influencing his action as such clerk of the city of Atlanta in a matter pending before the council, and after action had been taken thereon by council, money should then be paid to him in accordance with the agreement made prior to the action of council on such subject matter that, gentlemen, would be bribery, and it would not be a question whether the city actually lost any money in the transaction or not.

"I charge you that in order for one occupying an official position to be guilty of the offense of bribery by receiving any money, goods or other bribe, it is necessary that such person so receiving such money, goods, or other bribe, should know that the same was given to him for the purpose of influencing his judgment or behavior concerning some matter with which such person in his official capacity has some duty to perform, but it is immaterial, so far as the guilt or innocence of such person receiving such money, goods, or other reward, is concerned, that the duty might, or would, have been performed by him in the same manner had he not been paid, or given, such money, goods, or other reward. The offense of bribery lies in the giving or receiving of such undue reward with the intent to influence the opinion, judgment or behavior of the one occupying the official position with respect to some matter in which such officer has some official duty to perform.

"I therefore charge you that if one occupying the position of clerk of council of the city of Atlanta, should receive any undue reward of money, goods, or other present, from any person giving such money, goods, or other present to him for the purpose and with the intent to obtain, or influence, the opinion, judgment or behavior of such person occupying said office of clerk of council in any matter with which such clerk, in his official capacity, had any duty to perform, he would be guilty of the offense of bribery as defined by the law of Georgia."

"If you believe any money was paid to this defendant, under any of the counts that you have for consideration, unless you believe that the purpose of the giving of such money and the acceptance of same was to influence the official behavior of the defendant, Walter C. Taylor, as clerk of the council of the city of Atlanta, in the various transactions as set out in the indictment, you would not be authorized to find the defendant guilty of the offense of bribery," Judge Moore charged the jury.

Judge Moore took up the charges serially, and gave specific instructions regarding the different counts contained in the indictment.

Allen Bribe Charge.

Directing the jury's attention specially to Count 1 of the indictment, Judge Moore pointed out that the count alleged that the defendant unlawfully did offer to give and did give on December 7, 1925, to C. G. Allen, a legally qualified councilman of the city of Atlanta, $400 as a present and reward given by the accused to the councilman to influence the behavior of the councilman in the matter of voting upon and opposing or not opposing a petition from the Georgia Railway & Power Company for permission to abandon street car service and take up street car tracks on Central avenue from Mitchell street to Dodd avenue, on Dodd avenue from Central avenue to Pulliam street, on Bass street from Central avenue to Pulliam street, on Pulliam street from Bass to Ormond street, and on Ormond street from Pulliam street to Capitol avenue, the request from the company involving the permission to tear up a portion of the pavement on the named public streets, and the petition then and there depending before the general council, of which Allen was a member, said acts of accused and said offense being unknown until after December 1, 1929.

Indictments may be found and filed in the proper court within two years after the commission of the offense of a misdemeanor, and the offenses charged in all of the counts of the indictment were misdemeanors, provided the limitation shall not run in favor of one who commits a misdemeanor so long as the offender or offense is unknown, Judge Moore said.

"The statute of limitations does not begin to run in favor of the offender until his offense is known to the prosecutor or to some one interested in the prosecution or injured by the offense," he said. "As to this exception the state is required to show a prima facie case where the offense is alleged to have been unknown, and the state has only to show it was unknown to the prosecutor in order to make prima facie proof of that allegation. The defendant may rebut such proof by proving that the transaction alleged in the indictment, as a violation of the law, was known.

"If you believe, gentlemen, beyond a reasonable doubt, that Walter C. Taylor, the defendant on trial, in the county of Fulton and state of Georgia on the seventh day of December, 1925, did unlawfully offer to give to C. G. Allen, a legally qualified councilman of the city of Atlanta, a municipal corporation, and did give him the sum of $440, as a present and reward to influence his behavior as a councilman, and the offense was unknown until after December 1, 1929, as alleged in this count, then you would be authorized to find this defendant guilty under count one.

"If you do not believe he is guilty of the offense charged in count one, or if you should entertain a reasonable doubt of his guilt, it would be your duty to acquit."

Count two, Judge Moore pointed out, involved the alleged offer and payment to Allen of $100 as a present and reward to influence the councilman's behavior in the matter of awarding contracts for paving of Capitol avenue, from East Hunter to Capitol Square, and for paving of Fortress street, from Goodwin to Buena Vista avenue, to MacDougald Construction Company.

Calhoun Count.

Judge Moore next directed the jury's attention to count four, which alleged that Taylor, on March 5, 1923, being then clerk of council and as such being in a position of confidence, trust and clerkship in the legislative department of the city of Atlanta, consisting of the mayor and general council of the city, did unlawfully receive of and from A. P. Calhoun the sum of $250 as a present and reward given the accused by Calhoun to influence the official behavior of accused in the matter of a resolution that was pending in the legislative department of the city to the effect that:

"The general assembly of Georgia be and it is hereby requested to amend the charter of the city of Atlanta whereby the city shall be authorized to prohibit the maintenance of billiard, pool and bagatelle tables for hire in said city, or for playing when a charge is made."

Judge Moore pointed out that the indictment listed the duties of the clerk of council provided by lawful ordinance.

"It is set out in the indictment that the term 'clerk' and 'city clerk' where used in the ordinances refer to the position of clerk of council so held by the accused," he said.

The indictment said: "And it also being then and there among the duties of said accused in his said position as clerk of council to certify all official actions by said general council on ordinances and resolutions to the mayor and transmit the same to him for his official action thereon and to record the actions of the mayor thereon in the official minutes of the general council kept by accused, said duty being established by custom and usage in the legislative department of the city of Atlanta." This count also alleged that the act of the accused and the offense were unknown until after December 1, 1929.

"If you believe that the transaction was unknown, as alleged in the indictment, until after December 1, 1929, and the money was paid to the defendant as alleged therein, the purpose of which payment was to influence the official behavior of the accused in his official capacity and was not paid him otherwise than for influencing his official behavior in his said office as set out in this count, and you believe this beyond a reasonable doubt, you would be authorized to find the defendant guilty.

"I charge you, gentlemen, that notwithstanding you may believe the sum of $250, or any sum of money, may have been given by A. P. Calhoun to said Walter C. Taylor, as alleged in this count, you would not be authorized to convict under said count 4, unless you believe the purpose of the giving of such sum of money included the influencing of the official behavior of Walter C. Taylor as clerk of council of the city of Atlanta in the matter of the proposed ordinance as alleged in said count."

Poolroom License Charge.

Count 6, Judge Moore pointed out, charged that Taylor, accepted by members of general council in an advisory capacity on matters coming before council relating to licenses, the advisory capacity on such matters having been established by custom and usage, in connection with license matters did unlawfully receive from Calhoun $200 as a present and reward to influence Taylor's official behavior in the matter of a proposed ordinance depending before the mayor and general council to the effect that:

"No license shall issue to billiard, pool or bagatelle tables in the city of Atlanta unless the application for same is accompanied by the signatures of property owners on both sides of the location desired, for one block."

Judge Moore took up Count 9, which alleges that on June 15, 1927, Taylor unlawfully received of and from Fred C. Woodall, who delivered the money for R. L. York, the sum of $200 as a present and reward to influence Taylor's behavior in the matter of the fixing of the license tax on billiard tables and pool tables by the city for the fiscal year extending from July 1, 1927, to June 20, 1928.

Jake Jacobs Case.

Count 11, Judge Moore said, alleged that on March 1, 1923, Taylor unlawfully received of and from Jake Jacobs, acting for and on behalf of Solomon Piha, R. Amiel and Morris Tereal, $300 as a present and reward to influence Taylor's official behavior in the matter of the issuance of a license by the city in the name of B. Amiel to operate pool and billiard tables at 60 Walton street.

Judge Moore said that count 12 alleged that on August 17, 1929, Taylor unlawfully received of and from A. Pizanti $200 as a present and reward to influence Taylor's official behavior in the matter of Pizanti obtaining a license from the city to operate pool tables in a poolroom at 31 Marietta street under the name of the Metropolitan Billiard Parlor.

Prattes' Pool Table Count.

Likewise, Judge Moore said, count 13 alleges that on December 1, 1923, Taylor unlawfully received of and from James L. Prattes $200 to influence his official behavior in the matter of Prattes obtaining a license to operate pool tables at Broad and Alabama streets.

Judge Moore now called the jury's attention to count 15, which alleged that on May 7, 1923, Taylor unlawfully received from Carl Witt $50 as a present and reward to get certain excavation work done into and under beside Witt's building at the northeast corner of Peachtree and Harris streets, the excavation being for the purpose of installing a sidewalk elevator for entrance into the basement of the building.

Taylor's behavior in this transaction was that he obtained from general council action upon the matter favorable to the excavation and certified and transmitted the action to the mayor, who approved it, and then Taylor certified and transmitted it to the construction department of the city, conveying the instructions to the construction department:

"That all work done under this permit shall be done under the supervision of the chief of construction and if he desires that any of same be changed it shall be changed to conform to his instructions," the count alleged.

The court alleged, Judge Moore said, that under the authority obtained and certified and transmitted by Taylor, so certified and transmitted in accordance with his duties under and by virtue of his office, which duty was founded upon custom and usage in the legislative department of the city, the excavating work desired by Witt was obtained.

Roane $500 Charge.

Count 20 alleged that on March 18, 1927, Taylor unlawfully received from M. P. Roane the sum of $500 as a present and reward given the accused by Roane to get certain sidewalk pavement placed and laid on the east side of West Peachtree street between Porter place and Peachtree, Judge Moore pointed out. The count charged that Taylor obtained passage by council of an ordinance authorizing the paving and certified the ordinance to the mayor, who approved it with his official signature.

Count 25 alleged that on December 18, 1929, Taylor unlawfully received from the City Ice Delivery Company the sum of $3,000, delivered to Taylor through the agency of J. H. Ewing, Jr., to influence Taylor's official behavior in the matter of passage of an ordinance known as the ice scoring ordinance, the judge said.

Judge Moore told the jurors "it is your duty as upright, intelligent and impartial jurors, acting fairly and impartially between the state and the accused, to take this case in the light of all the facts and circumstances of the case, as disclosed by the evidence in the case, giving the defendant's statement just such weight and credit as you think it is entitled to receive, and reach a verdict which will speak the truth as you believe the truth to be."

Judge Moore then instructed the jury as to the form of its verdict.

Negro Driver Held Following Crash

When Andrew Roberts, colored, passed three police officers at the corner of Butler and Baker streets Friday night he stepped on the gas. And the police officers figured he had a reason.

They chased him to his home, 566 Irene street, and, after observing a broken bumper, charged him with having had a wreck. He admitted it, police said, telling them that it occurred at Piedmont and Forrest avenues. There they found that Roberts had struck a car driven by J. H. Johnston, of 468 Boulevard, N. E., in which Miss Evelyn Withers, 1177 Avon avenue, was riding. The latter suffered a cut on her leg and was treated by a private physician.

Roberts was locked up on a charge of reckless driving.

ECONOMIC MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE

Experts and leading businessmen from virtually every southern state east of the Mississippi river will gather in Atlanta June 2, 3 and 4 to organize a southern economic council for the purpose of stabilizing trade in the south, it was announced Friday by H. G. Hastings and J. M. Patterson, members of the Georgia committee of the newly-formed Southern Committee on Economic Organization.

The meeting has been called, it was stated, for the purpose of establishing a favorable balance of trade for the southwestern states and the conferences here will be attended by men and women representative of every state in the south east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio rivers.

Formation of the council is the principal objective, it was said, and such a council, through research and support by all economic interests, will develop facts upon which expert action may be taken from time to time. The economic council so formed, it was said, will be under direction of a board of not less than 10 outstanding men in the territory covered.

She was preparing to leave on an extended visit to Europe when she became ill.

Telephone-Speakeasy Finds Ad Its Undoing

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—The telephone at Jack and Al's hereafter will ring in vain.

Federal agents raided what they said was a telephone-speakeasy in West Forty-ninth street after their attention had been called to circulars placed in mail boxes of apartment houses and which read:

"Jack and Al announce the opening of an up-to-date branch under the personal supervision of Jack and Al—well-known distributors of high-grade whoopee beverages at popular prices. All merchandise is analyzed and tested, and immediate deliveries are assured. All sorts of wines and liquors. Gin $1.25 a quart; fine dry Scotch, $4 a quart. Rye, $2.50 a pint. Day and night service." A telephone number was listed.

"Jack and Al"—it seems they're four men—declared by the agents to be Jack Schwartz, Leo Meyer, Ralph Richardson and Robert Russell, Jr., all of whom were held in bail on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Gresham Is Held Under Peace Bond

An alleged pot-shot at a neighbor because of a row resulted Friday in the setting of a $5,000 peace bond for M. A. Gresham, of Sylvan road, on complaint of P. J. Bolton. Gresham had not made the bond late Friday night, it was said at the jail.

Judge Luther Z. Rosser, of municipal court of Atlanta, was told that a shot fired by Gresham from a rifle hit the ground near Bolton after the two neighbors had trouble. The hard feeling started two and a half years ago, but had been patched up and everything was peaceable until several days ago when the row flamed out again, it was said. Gresham was arrested by County Policemen W. J. Nelms and W. M. Tumlin.

Tribute Is Paid To Canine Hero

TAMPA, Fla., May 23.—(AP)—Rex, just common boys' dog, yawned and stretched here today at a ceremony in his honor at which he was conferred a medal of heroism by the Tail Waggers' Society of America.

Last May 1 Rex stood and barked all night by the body of Robert Peters, 10, after the lad was buried in a sand bank on a creek. In the morning he attracted passersby to the tragedy and led them to the spot.

The Hillsborough County Humane Society had charge of the exercises today and Rex was taken to the meeting by a Boy Scout who found him romping with children in the neighborhood. In addition to the medal Rex got a generous helping of raw beef and a ride home in an automobile. He enjoyed the meat more than the honor. The dog is owned by Allison McKinley.

Honors Day at University Held Friday for First Time

ATHENS, Ga., May 23.—As a means of giving public recognition to those students and student organization with high scholastic averages, "Honors Day" was held at the University of Georgia Friday for the first time. This is to be an annual event.

Dr. F. K. Richtmyer, eminent scientist, professor of physics in Cornell University, and formerly president of Sigma Psi, national honorary scientific fraternity, made the principal address, speaking on "The Evolution of Scientific Knowledge." Announcements were made of all winners of cups, prizes, trophies, medals, and ratings for distinguished scholarship. Special seats were reserved for the honor students and organizations. Professor Hugh Hodgson, head of the music department, was in charge of a special musical program.

Address by Dr. Richtmyer.

The age of scientific application has the world in its grip, said Dr. Richtmyer.

"We see pictures which modern science presents, but often lose sight of the details of the various scientific concepts," Dr. Richtmyer said.

"Scientific knowledge is increasing faster today than ever before in history. Broadly speaking, the history of science may be divided into four distinct periods, characterized by the key words. First was the period of discovery, then orientation, then measurement and, fourth, application.

"Frequently the discovery of scientific facts is quite accidental. Roentgen went to his laboratory one morning in 1895 and completed the discovery of the X-ray by nightfall. On the other hand, it took Michael Faraday 10 years to discover the phenomenon of electro-magnetic induction."

The students and campus organizations which were publicly recognized on this first "Honors Day" at the state university are given in groups.

SEARCY, CUMMING SEEK GRIFFIN JUDGESHIP

GRIFFIN, Ga., May 23.—A lively race for the office of judge of the superior court is assured here in the fall primary with the announcement of two candidates for the office. The incumbent, Judge W. E. H. Searcy, Jr., will be opposed by Judge D. R. Cumming, for eight years ordinary of the county.

Judge Searcy was formerly judge of the Flint circuit and has been judge of the Griffin circuit since it was formed some years ago. He is one of the ablest jurists in the state and has been highly complimented on many occasions among the legal profession.

Judge Cumming, also, is well known throughout this section and has served efficiently as ordinary.

GEORGIA CHEMIST AIDS IN JAKERALYSIS STUDY

Robert C. Wilson, of University of Georgia, To Act as Federal Consultant.

ATHENS, Ga., May 23.—Robert C. Wilson, dean of the School of Pharmacy at the University of Georgia, has been invited to act as a consultant with the chemical division of the prohibition bureau of the federal government in studying causes of the Jamaica ginger paralysis epidemic which has been prevalent in various sections.

Through the chemical divisions of the various departments in Washington, in association with the hygienic laboratories, the government is trying to learn the causes of the disease, though it is said that little definite headway has been made in determining the nature of the agent or agents which may occur in the bootleg varieties of ginger now on the market.

Dr. Wilson is hopeful that the School of Pharmacy at the University may be helpful in the solution of the problem.

The invitation to serve in this capacity came to Dean Wilson while he was in Washington recently attending the 11th decennial revision convention of the United States Pharmacopedial Association.

Dean Wilson has served the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association as secretary.

GORDON, Ga., May 23.—(AP)—Larry Fowler, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Fowler here, was drowned Friday afternoon when he went swimming with 10 other companions in Commissioner creek, one mile from here.

Jakeralysis Aide

Robert C. Wilson, dean of the school of pharmacy, University of Georgia, who will help federal authorities investigate paralysis resulting from Jamaica ginger.

QUILLIAN TO ACCEPT METHODIST POSITION

MACON, Ga., May 23.—(AP)—Dr. W. F. Quillian is going to accept the position of secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, it was learned Friday.

A message from Dr. Quillian, read to the students of Wesleyan College in chapel this morning, stated:

"I cannot bear the thought of leaving Wesleyan, but the church has called me and I feel that I must accept."

The message was in reply to one sent by the students and faculty urging him to remain here.

Dr. and Mrs. Quillian will return from the general conference on Monday or Tuesday, it was learned.

Changes made at the general conference are likely to result in some important changes in the South Georgia conference, it was indicated.

Dr. Walter Anthony, it is understood, has been asked to consider a transfer from Wesley Monumental church, in Savannah, to the Travis Park church, in San Antonio, Texas, the pastorate there being made vacant by the elevation of Dr. Paul Kern to the bishopric.

DRY AGENT WEHUNT TENDERS RESIGNATION

Asserts Charge That He Drank Half Pint of Evidence Didn't Cause Action.

MACON, Ga., May 23.—(AP)—Ralph T. Wehunt, federal prohibition enforcement officer, Friday tendered his resignation to Deputy Administrator Fred D. Dismuke, of the middle district of Georgia, effective May 31.

Making the tender on a regular government form, Wehunt said: "I am entering a new business." Mr. Dismuke said he is returning to the automobile business in Atlanta.

Wehunt was the central figure in a federal court case Thursday in which Jim Blackmon, Upson county farmer, stated to Judge Bascom S. Deaver that the agent had drunk a half pint of whisky and then had him arrested for selling it. Wehunt denied the charge, but admitted he "sampled" the whisky to "see what I was getting." He added, too, that his informer drank more than a sample. Wehunt has been in the service since February.

Mr. Dismuke, in making public the resignation, said the drinking charge had nothing to do with the resignation.

Mr. Dismuke, too, commented further on recent evidence, obtained in federal court here, that some of his officers drank in their efforts to obtain evidence of sales.

Agents Ordered Not to Drink.

"I instruct my agents most emphatically that they shall not drink," he said. "I most vigorously disapprove of it.

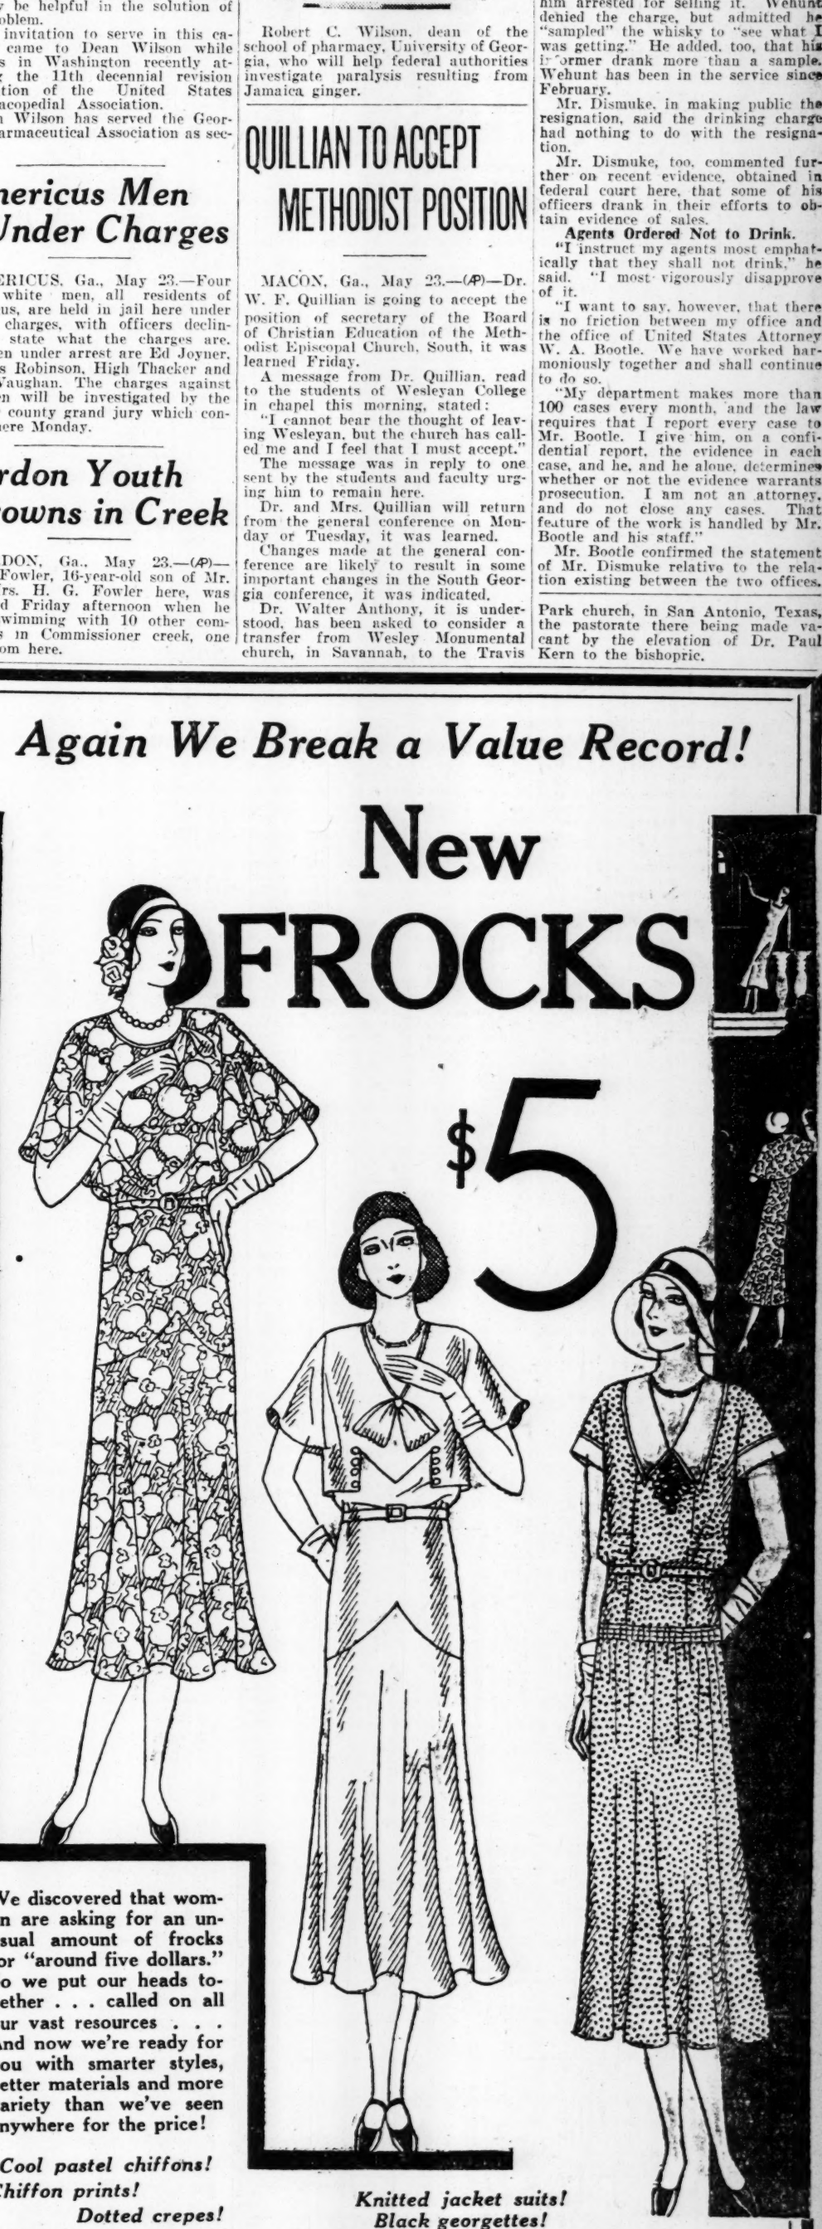

"I want to say, however, that there is no friction between my office and the office of United States Attorney W. A. Bootle. We have worked harmoniously together and shall continue to do so.

"My department makes more than 100 cases every month, and the law requires that I report every case to Mr. Bootle. I give him, on a confidential report, the evidence in each case, and he, and he alone, determines whether or not the evidence warrants prosecution. I am not an attorney, and do not close any cases. That feature of the work is handled by Mr. Bootle and his staff."

Mr. Bootle confirmed the statement of Mr. Dismuke relative to the relation existing between the two offices.

EIGHTEENTH INSTALLMENT.

"Yes, but don'st rouse her up, Dan. Let her go off if she will."

He took the baby, and sat down in the rocker, and Cassy came across the room with the bottle in her hands. Suddenly she went down on her knees beside the two.

"Dan——"

He looked at her in surprise, even in faint alarm.

"Dan," she asked, quickly, inconsequently, "do you love me as much as you used to—in the old days, I mean—when we had so much trouble—and no money—before the babies came?"

Half laughing, half crying, her brown face was close to his. He leaned across the baby and put a half kiss on the bridge of her nose.

"Why, you poor sap," he said. He shifted the child on his arm. "What makes you think I don't?" he asked innocently.

"I don't think you don't," she hastened to protest, shocked. "It's only that, in some way—"

"Well, shoot!" Dan said expectantly as she paused.

"It's only that in some way we don't seem as close to each other as we used to be, Dan."

Dan looked puzzled for a moment. Then he said, doubtfully, "Isn't it just that we're both so busy, Cassy? You're tied up with the kids here, and I'm working like a horse at the shop."

"Yes, that's all it is!" she agreed, as he paused, as anxious to reassure him as herself. "Only, I sort of miss our old worries."

"We'll be sunk again!" he predicted cheerfully.

"'Member the time I sold your old chauffeur's uniforms, Dan?"

"My old—? That's right, so you did. Gee!"

"And the Cannon house, Dan, on a hot summer afternoon?"

"Oh, I love to think of it, Dan."

"You're going to be fixed pretty soon so that you won't have to remember all that."

"I'm not sure," she said, her head against his arm as she half sat, half knelt on the floor beside him. "I'm not sure that I ever want to be fixed that way!"

"Bottley-boken, bottley-boken," Margaret contributed conversationally.

"Did you break another bottle, you bad girl?"

"No, that's that same old bottle. She loves to talk about it.

"Isn't she pretty, with the light in her eyes?"

"Dan, I think she understands every word we say." Cassy got stiffly to her feet, stooped to take the child from his arms. "Still love your old wife?" she asked lightly. But the word still meant magic to her, and tears came into her smiling eyes as she spoke.

"Well, what do you think?" Dan questioned in turn. The words came out with a roar; he dropped his weary head on his arms. While she was settling the baby for the night, Cassy saw him stagger like a drunken man toward his bed. "Call me at 6, Cass," he muttered, from the pillow.

A little later Cassy went to kneel beside him. He was sleeping like a baby, his handsome head flung back, his face youthful and innocent in the tempered light. She knelt there a long time, staring, hardly thinking, and saw her own tears shining on his hand before she raised herself, weary and chilly and stiff, to go cautiously about the big walnut bed and creep quietly in beside him.

In the spring, for the first time, the Wallaces went up to the Morado stock ranch, 10 miles back in the hills. This was where Dulce had spent most of that spoiled and wilful childhood of hers; Cassy and Dan had heard repeated allusions to it, but had not seen it before.

They took Tommy, boldly exploratory in his brown laced shoes and striped blue romper, and toddling Margaret, particularly alluring in blue gingham. The children's delight in the place was equalled by Cassy's. Dulce, who looked her handsomest in white, assumed an indifferent, matter-of-course air for the occasion, but the others knew that she was deeply pleased by their enthusiasm.

They walked about on fresh emerald grass, between the paddocks that were trimly fenced with white pickets, and outlined with tall poplars just breaking into leaf. The low lines of the stable roofs were red, and their walls white. The day was still, blue and hot. Horses were looking in mild interest out of some of the doorways. In the fields, mares stood ruminating, deep in clover; a dozen young horses raced about a level field, their wild hoofs flinging clods of soft turf into the sunshiny air.

"La Lomita Stables."

"Gee," Dan exclaimed, "I think this is fascinating!"

"My father," Dulce explained, as they walked about, "was mad about this place. He wanted to make it the finest stock farm in the country. We used to have pheasants, sheep and polled Herefords—we still have a few of those. My father brought the white peacocks west with him, himself. I've kept those, but we don't keep up the other lines. And we don't show the cattle; we just keep them for home use."

"But Dulce, why don't you live here? It's ever so much prettier than the other place," said Cassy.

"Well, Lou didn't like it, for one thing. He used to imagine the altitude gave him asthma. It's 10 miles out of town, too. And then I married my first husband here," Dulce explained, pressing her white palm upward against a filly's soft nuzzling mouth. "He was an eastern boy, a sort of ne'er-do-well, really, whose family thought he might settle down here. But he never did. He broke my father's heart, and he would have mine, if he hadn't been thrown one morning, riding a horse that every man we had on the place said—"

They were walking back toward the house now; Dulce paused, her face quite flushed with an annoyed explanation.

"Every man on the place said that he was a bad horse," she repeated. "But no, Frank would mount him. I walked into the house. I simply couldn't watch it. But before I got there I heard them all shouting, and the stallion went by me, lickety-split across the flower beds, dragging Frank like a sack!"

"Horror!" Cassy whispered.

Dan was hardly listening. "What a life!" he said. "Up here in the hills, with all the fruit and flowers and poultry you want, and these things to watch!"

"Why, Danny, I never knew you were so fond of horses!"

"Gosh, yes, I've always been crazy about them!"

"Dan, I'll have to put you in here as foreman."

The house was old-fashioned, but Cassy thought its fresh colonial white and green much more attractive than Dulce's other, more luxurious place, down in the valley.

Below was a lawn, and roses just beginning to bloom, and masses of garden flowers all ready for spring. After their walk in the sunshine, they were glad to sit still in the shade for a while, awaiting the call for luncheon.

One of the trainers came around the corner of the house, and Dulce and he conversed in easy Spanish undertones. Afterward they went in to luncheon, served in the shaded dining-room—a perfect meal, in cooking and serving and appointments, as were all Dulce's meals.

Cassy had an odd moment, at the luncheon. For just a few seconds she experienced a curious feeling that the scales had moved, and that Dulce's side had gone up. She was jealous—just a deep-faint prick—of Dulce.

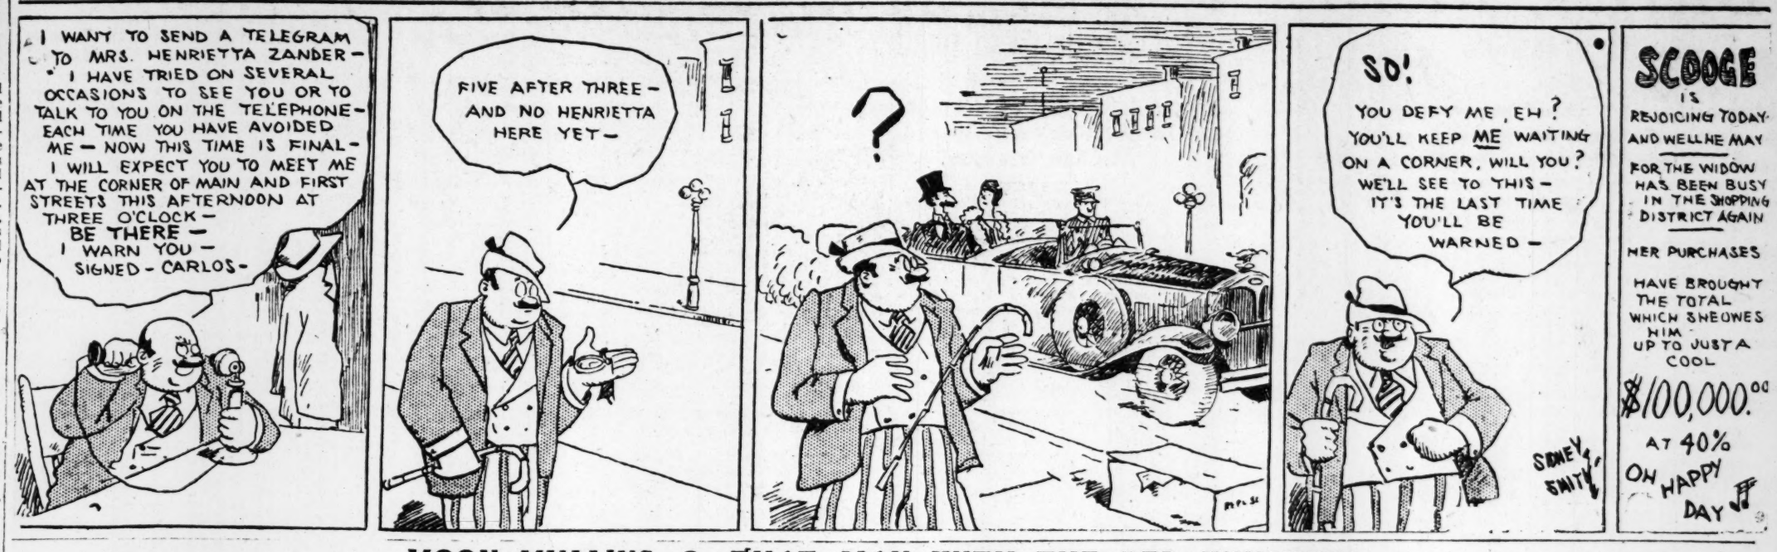

She laughed it down; it was too ridiculous. But the beauty and the charm of the place overwhelmed her good common sense in spite of herself.

When she went upstairs with the babies for their naps, the same order and beauty there brought back the same little maddening prick. Such white beds, such speckless, flowery wall-papers and colonial paneling. Shades drawn so primly at the windows, towels ranged so neatly on glass bars. Cassy sat in Margaret's room dreaming, until Margaret went to sleep, the color, sweetness, warmth, loveliness of La Lomita wrapping her in a sort of stupor.

Many Visitors Review Students' Exhibit at Museum

Wide interest is being shown by Atlantans in the exhibition of students' work which is on view at the High Museum of Art, 1262 Peachtree street, of which Lewis P. Skidmore is director. Since the show was placed on view with a reception honoring members of the Atlanta Art Association and relatives and friends of the students last Monday, interested groups of art lovers have visited the museum. The students of the museum school, who, under the direction of Robert Rogers and Benjamin Shute, regular instructors, have accomplished good results during the term, came to Atlanta from all sections of the south.

The exhibition includes portraits, oil studies, commercial work, life drawings, which reveal unusual mastery of technique and a keen conception of the underlying principles of art; decorative boxes and urns and etchings. SECKATARY HAWKINS :: :: What Herman Played :: :: :: :: By Robert Franc Schulkers

WE BOYS HAD AGREED TO TAKE INTO OUR CLUB AS A NEW MEMBER THE FIRST NEW BOY WHO SHOWED HIMSELF AT OUR CLUBHOUSE DOOR. IT HAPPENED TO BE HERMAN THE FIDDLER. WE LAUGHED AT HIS ODD CLOTHES BUT MARVELED AT HIS PLAYING.

THE STRANGER BOY DROPPED HIS BOW. HIS FIDDLING CEASED. THE OTHER BOYS ALL STARED AT HIM, AS THOUGH THE MUSIC HAD CAST A SPELL OVER THEM. TO ME IT WAS THE SWEETEST MUSIC I HAD EVER HEARD.

BILL HAD ASKED HIM WHAT HE PLAYED, MEANING WHAT PART ON A BALL TEAM, OF COURSE, AND HERMAN HAD SHOWED HIM WHAT HE COULD PLAY—HE COULD PLAY THE FIDDLE. STILL, BILL DARBY WAS A GOOD SPORT AND SAID HE'D DO.

HE WANTED TO GET AWAY, SO WE LET HIM GO. HE SAID GOODBYE TO EVERY BOY IN THE CLUB AS THOUGH HE HAD KNOWN THEM FOR YEARS INSTEAD OF A FEW MINUTES. AND I TOLD HIM GOODBYE AT THE DOOR, SORRY TO SEE HIM GO. Sick.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

Two Happy Little Folks.

BY THORNTON BURGESS.

No loss is there without some gain;
—Nanny Meadow Mouse.

Nanny Meadow Mouse was up in a tree. She didn't get there herself. Farmer Brown's Boy had put her there, although Farmer Brown's Boy didn't know it. Farmer Brown's Boy had put an old tin can up in the tree for a birdhouse and unknown to him Nanny was in that tin can. When Nanny finally discovered where she really was, she was for leaving at once. She waited only long enough to make sure that Reddy Fox was not at hand and no other enemy was in sight. Then she crept out onto a little branch that was just in front of the little round door and started down to the ground. There was an old stick leaning against the tree and slanting down. It was an easy matter for Nanny, for she had climbed before.

"There!" said she, when at last she was on the ground. "I guess I'm about through with that thing. Now what shall I do and where shall I go?"

She hesitated a bit, for she had never been over here before and it was all new to her. She made her way to the edge of the bushes and tried to make up her mind whether to stay in the bushes or to go out on the Green Meadows. She was still undecided when she heard a little rustling back of her. Nanny's heart leaped right up in her throat. Who could that be? It might be Shadow the Weasel. It might be a strange Mouse. It might be—well, there were a lot of people it might be. Nanny turned her head and looked back. Then she gave a little squeal of joy. There was Danny Meadow Mouse!

Danny was staring as if he had never seen her before. You see, they had been separated so long that Danny had been sure that something dreadful had happened to Nanny, and Nanny had been sure that something dreadful had happened to Danny. So it was hard for either to believe that they were once more together. It was Nanny who moved first. After that first little squeal she turned and rushed straight to Danny. They touched noses and right then and there were two as happy little people as could be found on all the Green Meadows.

"Where have you been?" demanded Nanny.

"Where have you been?" demanded Danny.

Then each told of the adventures they had had. Danny had been wandering around all this time, not knowing where to go and not caring much where he was, so long as he could not find Nanny. It was just by chance that he had come that way just then. He had been not very far from there when Farmer Brown's Boy had come along.

"Did you see Reddy Fox, too?" asked Nanny.

"No," replied Danny. "Has Reddy been this way?"

"I should say so!" exclaimed Nanny. "He ran when he heard Farmer Brown's Boy coming."

"Then he must have run the other way and that is why I did not see him," said Danny. "Well, my dear, what shall we do now? Where shall we go? I suppose we may as well look for the place to make that new home we started out to make. Shall we look around here in the bushes or shall we go out on the Green Meadows?"

"That is the very thing I was trying to decide when you came along" replied Nanny.

Just then a Merry Little Breeze wandered by and tickled their noses with an odor that made little cold shivers run up and down their backbones. That Merry Little Breeze brought the smell of Reddy Fox, and they knew by the strength of that smell that Reddy was very near. He must have seen Farmer Brown's Boy leave and have come back to see if Nanny had left that old can.

"Where have you been?" demanded Nanny.

"JERRY" AT ERLANGER ENDS POPULAR WEEK

With two performances today, a matinee at 2:30 and the night show at 8:30, one of the most successful productions yet given Atlanta by the Erlanger Theater Players will come to an end. In "Jerry" the Players evidently found a vehicle that appealed to a large proportion of local playgoers, judging by reports from the box office. On several performances, especially matinees, the record for that day of the week was broken by "Jerry."

Next week the production will be that famous John Golden comedy, "Pigs." All theater followers know that John Golden is the man who proved to New York and the rest of the nation that there is more money in clean American comedy than in suggestiveness and risqueness. He has a long series of his particular type of success to his credit, but nothing he has done has surpassed "Pigs" in popularity.

An unique part of the presentation is that a litter of real live pigs appear on the stage, as the most important "prop" of the play. To add interest the Erlanger management has announced that the live pigs will be given away to members of the audience as souvenirs at the end of each performance.

FOX ENDS "SERGEANT GRISCHA" RUN TODAY

Thousands of Atlantans have already marveled over that tremendously realistic drama, "The Case of Sergeant Grischa," which will be shown at the Fox theater today for the last four times. Chester Morris, as Sergeant Grischa, enacts probably one of the most convincing roles of his career and Betty Compson, as his common law wife, portrays her part most effectively. Jean Hersholdt is great as a German general.

On the stage, Fanchon & Marco's "Idea in Green" is a delightful song and dance revue with an atmosphere decidedly Irish. Born & Lawrence, as a comedy team, present an act that invariably is encored several times at each performance. The scenic effects and costuming in "Idea in Green" are among the most beautiful that have been brought to the big stage at the Fox.

Next week the feature at the Fox will be Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, the talking screen's greatest comedians, in "The Cuckoos," a big laugh riot in which these two stars, famous for their work in "Rio Rita," are featured.

P. S. Twitty To Attend Mobile Fishing Rodeo

Peter S. Twitty, state commissioner of game and fish, has accepted an invitation to serve as associate director in a fishing rodeo to be held in August, in the waters of Mobile bay and the Gulf of Mexico under the auspices of the Alabama department of game and fish.

Headquarters of the rodeo will be on Dauphin island. Last year when the first of the rodeos, which the Alabama department plans to make annual, was held, more than 200 attended, among them several Atlantans and Georgians.

Contractors Deny Curtis 'Influence'

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—Seven contractors were questioned today by the state's attorney's office in its investigation of informal complaints that Attorney Harry K. Curtis, son of the vice president, had accepted fees with the understanding that he was to use his influence in obtaining government contracts.

None of the seven contractors gave any damaging information against Curtis, said Chief Investigator Patrick Roche. Six other contractors also will be questioned, Roche said.

Three of the contractors told Roche they had paid money to Curtis, but none of the trio said Curtis had promised to get them contracts.

A. H. McGill, general contractor, said he paid $250, to Curtis to be kept informed on contracts but declared he regarded the payment as a retainer.

Charles Graf, a plastering contractor, said he talked with Mike Malloy, whose name cropped up early in the inquiry. Graf denied that government contracts were discussed. He said he paid Curtis $500 as a retainer to represent him in a foreclosure proceeding.

Paul Wahl, general contractor, said he paid $500 to Curtis.

Paving Work Starts On West Peachtree

Paving of West Peachtree street and Langston street was begun Friday by Fulton county forces, co-operating with municipal authorities in improving the thoroughfares.

At the same time the construction department of the borough of Atlanta announced that a guard rail is being erected on West Murphy avenue at McCall's crossing at the insistence of Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward.

Auto Crash Victim Loses Little Finger

Physicians at Grady hospital late Friday had to amputate the little finger of Miss Wilma Summersgill, 29, private secretary, who was injured when a car driven by W. H. Lewis, 629 Cherokee road, crashed into the automobile she was driving, turning it over and crashing it against a telephone pole on Boulevard at the intersection of Glennwood avenue.

Miss Summersgill was driving south on Boulevard and Lewis, driving north, was attempting, it is said, to make a left-hand turn into Glennwood. Lewis' automobile was almost completely wrecked and Call Officers Charlie Floyd and Arthur Daily arrested him on a charge of reckless driving.

Ex-Haitian Chief Departs Secretly

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, May 23. (AP)—Former President Louis Borno, who made way for provisional President Eugene Roy earlier this month, suddenly left Haiti, with his son, Henri, in an airplane today for Havana, Cuba.

Preparations for the departure were made with the utmost secrecy. Only the president's immediate family and Brigadier General John S. Russell, American high commissioner in Haiti, knew before 11 a. m. that the ex-president was going.

It is M. Borno's first flight. He will sail from Havana for France at an early date, after being joined by his wife, who will leave Port Au Prince in a few days.

ENGLISHMAN NABBED AS RUM CONSPIRATOR

Prominent Distiller Held on Charge of Soliciting Orders.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Edward Tatham, socially prominent and a director of the English distillery, Justerini & Brooks, Ltd., was arrested today on an indictment charging him and his concern with conspiracy to import liquor into the United States and solicit orders here.

A sealed indictment was returned in the federal building yesterday and a bench warrant was issued by a federal judge, who fixed bail at $20,000 in advance of arraignment.

Tatham's idea, Assistant Federal Attorney Watts said, was to import the finest European liquors and whiskies into New York, distributing them at high prices among wealthy people.

"There are indications," Watts declared, "that a financially strong American syndicate was backing the scheme."

Watts added that Tatham has the highest social connections on both sides of the Atlantic and had just concluded a stay of several days at the homes of prominent social registerites whom the assistant United States attorney declined to name.

He was arrested in the drawing room of the Toronto Limited as that train was about to pull out of Grand Central terminal.

"Tatham," Watts said, "is an Englishman of culture, a graduate of Oxford, in fact, a man of just the type to promote the sale of high grade products among persons able to pay and pay well."

He added that he believed the federal indictment established a precedent, being the first in which a foreign concern is charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

The true bill alleged, among other overt acts, that a circular was mailed from London, soliciting an order from Samuel Thorne, of Harrison, N. Y. It was charged that Tatham, in furtherance of the conspiracy, arrived here May 19 aboard a coastal liner from Miami, Fla.

Rainy, Cooler Weather Seen For City Today

Rain, with cooler weather, was prophesied for today by C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local office of the United States weather bureau. The temperature is expected to range in the seventies.

Clouds forecast for Friday proved rain-bearing. With fair weather in the afternoon, however, the temperature mounted to summer proportions. High was 82 degrees and low 64.

State Farm Heads Meet Here Today

Commissioners of agriculture of the southern states will meet this morning at the Ansley hotel to discuss agricultural conditions in the south. Problems of marketing, as well as fruit and cotton crops, will be discussed.

The meeting was called recently by Harry D. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture of Louisiana, who is the head of an association of the southern commissioners.

Surgeons Remove Hook From Gull

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 23.—(UN)—If sea gulls are like people, there is one gull flying around somewhere over Lake Michigan proudly flapping his wings and bragging to his fellow gulls about his "operation."

Two small boys were fishing off the lake shore. The gull spied their bait and swallowed it, hook and all. The boys dragged in the bird, but could not remove the hook from its throat.

Anton Koenig, employe of St. Mary's hospital, was passing. He carried the gull to the hospital where Dr. Paul S. Epperson and Dr. William Studley performed the strangest operation in the history of the institution. They gave the gull an anaesthetic, removed the hook, and sewed up the incision.

First Degree Murder Charged To Boy, 14

CHARLESTON, Miss., May 28.—(AP)—Grand jury indictments charging first degree murder have been returned against Jack and Luther Williams, farm boys and brothers, 17 and 14 years old, respectively, in Tallahatchie county circuit court, in which they are alleged to have smothered to death and robbed Mrs. Henrietta Dees, 85-year-old, at her farm home in the northern part of Tallahatchie county on or about April 25.

The motive was given as robbery.

The brothers are being held in Tallahatchie county jail here. They were arrested ten days ago by deputy sheriffs as suspects in the death of Mrs. Dees, who was found dead in bed on the Luther Burkhalter place near Enid.

As no marks were found on her body, the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of death through natural causes. Suspicion of Major J. A. Blount, prosecuting attorney was aroused by a report that the boys were spending money freely.

Mrs. Dees was known to have carried a considerable amount of money in a belt and the belt and money were missing when officers searched the Dees' home.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—Reports of unusually favorable prospects for the United States 193' spring wheat crop had a bearish effect on wheat values today. The outlook for the Canadian crop also was reported as relatively auspicious, and selling was further promoted by non-fulfillment of predictions of widespread frosts last night. Forecasts of frost tonight in Kansas, Nebraska and the northwest were virtually ignored.

Closing quotations on wheat were weak, 1 3-8 to 2 1-4c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 1-8 to 1 7-8c down, oats 5-8 to 7-8c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

In connection with the new domestic spring wheat outlook, Chicago crop authorities indicated today that big condition figures were to be looked for in the monthly trade summaries on June 1. Even before this information was at hand, the market was tending downward owing to absence of predicted frosts and because of evidence that exporters of North American wheat were not following advances in prices. Waning of demand from exporters and speculators led promptly to much selling on the part of yesterday's buyers, and the market as a whole acted in decided contrast with yesterday's display of strength.

Reversal of the wheat market's action as compared with yesterday was rendered the more striking because of upturns in Liverpool quotations and of continued bullish crop advices from Europe, especially France. Reports about domestic winter wheat were likewise more or less disquieting, dispatches from Nebraska in particular telling of spindly plants with short heads between Crete, Hastings and Superior. Pessimistic advices also were received from the Texas Panhandle, where one large owner said that he would not make half a crop owing to excessively dry weather and high winds during the last week.

Corn and oats prices receded with wheat and as a result of reports that the new corn crop in many sections is 20 days or more ahead of last year.

Provisions were somewhat firmer as a result of upturns in the value of hogs.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Convertible bonds dominated the trading on the New York Stock Exchange today in a session which in contrast with the recent dullness was spirited. The demand for the stock privilege issues, particularly the five most active bonds, brought the total volume to a good figure despite the fact that many bond men were out of town for their annual field day.

Investment issued showed an inclination to go somewhere, but by the close only a few had advanced appreciably. The general tone of the market, however, was satisfactory. Moderate demand for rails firmed prices during the earlier hours but many yielded ground later to finish steady or only slightly changed.

This was the last day which the American Telephone 4 1-2s could be converted into common stock carrying rights and the bond's performance was sensational. Sagging 3 points at the start, it rebounded 9 to end the day 6 points above yesterday's close. Officers of the company were besieged by bondholders anxious to make the exchange for stock and only a small proportion of the original $219,000,000 issue remained unconverted at the close of business.

Philadelphia Reading Coal & Iron 6s were heavily in demand and rose nearly 2 points to a new 1930 high for the second day in succession. General Theaters 6s of '44 appreciated 3 1-2 points, and a half-dozen other issues gained moderately.

There was fair activity in the foreign list and prices were steady to firm. European and South American governments were most in demand. Bolivian 7s gained 1 7-8 and Brazil 6 1-2s 1 1-4. Japanese 5 1-2s eased in an active market. French 7s gained a fraction.

United States Governments were quiet. Liberty 4th 4 1-4s registered touched a new high. Most of the group are close to the high level of the year.

PRICES OF GEORGIA FARM PRODUCTS UP

The general level of farm prices in Georgia and throughout the United States advanced slightly between March 15 and April 15, the report of the United States Department of agriculture today said.

The advancement was attributed to higher prices for most of the items included in the index except livestock and wool. Since then, the report said, livestock prices have again declined, except cotton, and the general average of farm prices during the first half of May was lower than on April 15th.

On April 15, the index of farm prices at 127 was 1 point higher than on March 15 and 11 points lower than on April 15, 1929. The advances between March 15 and April 15 of 3 points in the index for grains, 1 point in the index for dairy and poultry products, and 7 points in the index for cotton were partly offset by a 5-point decline in the index for meat animals.

The present low level of farm prices may be compared with the low levels reached in preceding declines, namely, 110 in June, 1921; 129 in May, 1924, and 129 in May, 1924, and 125 in April, 1927.

The trend in commodity prices in general was reported downward during April. According to the index prices May 6 were at the lowest level since 1916, being 132 per cent of 1913 compared with 135 in the first week of April and 143 a year ago.

The average price of potatoes for the country as a while was $1.46.1 per bushel, or 9 cents higher on April 15, than on March 15, and 91 cents higher than in April last year.

Cash corn prices averaged somewhat higher in April than in March. Farm prices on April 15 averaged for the entire United States 78.3 cents a bushel, compared with 74.5 cents a month earlier and 87.5 cents April, 1929.

Hog prices in April fluctuated over a narrow range and were considerably lower than for April, 1929, notwithstanding that slaughter supplies were about 7.5 per cent smaller.

The general business situation during April was not materially different than that of March, the report said. Available data indicated that general industrial activity remained close to the low level reached so far this year, while factory and mining production combined remained somewhat above the low level of last December.

General Trade Shows Virtually No Change

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Aside from a slight further easing in the general level of lines, this more particularly in evidence in iron and steel lines and speculatively dealt-in products of farm origin, there are strikingly few changes to be observed in the general trade and industrial field. Where, as in a number of surplus crop-producing areas, rains have retarded planting and restricted rural buying something like an offset calculated to make for cheerfulness is found in the apparently good start, mainly in the shape of copious supplies of moisture given the bulk of the spring-sown acreage.

At a few markets there are signs of a closer approach to a year ago than in recent months in the volume of day-to-day buying, which tends to strengthen the impression that the purchasing tendency has found levels at which new buying may be made with a shade more confidence than existed for some time past. Perhaps aiding this idea has been the wider scope of employment in outside occupations, which tends to more than offset the slight reduction indicated in factory operations from earlier periods.

SHOE COMPANY DENIES INSOLVENCY

ST. LOUIS, May 23.—(AP)—The Hamilton Brown Shoe Company denied in an answer today to receivership action against it that it is unable to obtain money to meet its maturing and future obligations or that there is any immediate prospect of liquidation of the $5,000,000 business or a forced sale of property.

The answer was to a petition by the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company, of Chicago, a creditor, for appointment of a receiver. A hearing of the receivership petition was deferred until tomorrow.

Sugar.

NEW YORK, May 23.—A new low record for raw sugar was established in the market today when sales were reported at a decline of 1-33c, or at 3.14 for spots delivered. Even at the decline there was little interest manifested, with sales at this level confined to 45,000 bags of Philippines for arrival next week. There were further offerings of nearby duty frees at the same price.

Reflecting the decline in spots, futures were easier under liquidation and selling by houses with European and Cuban connections. Opening prices were unchanged, to 1 point lower, with active positions later showing net losses of 2 to 4 points. Aside from covering on the scale down little support was in evidence. Final prices were at about the lowest, and from 2 to 3 points below the previous close, with the July position showing the minimum loss. Approximate sales 28,950 tons. No sales were reported in the No. 2 contract with final prices 3 to 3 points lower. Closing prices: No. 1: July 1.45, September 1.52, December 1.61, January 1.63, March 1.70, May 1.77; No. 2: July 3.33, September 3.39, December 3.51.

The warmer weather is expected to lead to an increase in consumption of refined sugar, but as yet it has not been reflected in any increased demand and prices were unchanged. Refiners all list at 4.70, while second hands, are available at from 4.60 to 4.65.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Cotton goods were quiet in the finished goods division. Moderate inquiry was reported for some lines of gray cloths at prices mills would not accept. Wool goods are selling in small lots, most of the new business being done on cloakings of the broadcloth type. Raw silk was weak. Season-end lines of spring and summer silks are being liquidated at attractive prices. Burlaps were quiet.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Cotton opened with an advance due to rains over a large part of the central and western belts but eased off later on predictions of clearing weather in these sections and of generally fair weather over Sunday.

Tenders on May contracts in New York today totaled 65,000 due to large selling operations of some spot firms who apparently lifted their hedges in July and sold May in order to save carrying charges. Tenders in New Orleans were only 1,700 bales.

Notices so far aggregate 486,800 in New York and 85,450 in New Orleans or 572,250 altogether. The certificated stock is 597,594 practically all of which is expected to be delivered before Monday when trading in May ceases at New Orleans.

BEER & CO.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—Complaints of too much rain in western and central belts in early week influenced the market to a higher price level, but the advance was followed by a sharp reaction owing to prospects for better weather in the southwest and because of the weakness in the New York stock market. The weekly weather and crop government review was favorable for east of the Mississippi valley, but very unfavorable from valley sections westward except in more southern districts. Subsequently the market bulged in consequence of indications for the return of wet weather to the southwest. Returns to the Fossick bureau averaged the decrease in acreage at 2.9 per cent. The government revised report as to crop of 1929 was about as expected, yield 14,828,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, but as to acreage in cultivation July 1, 1929 was smaller than previously figured by 502,000 acres, amounting to 47,067,000 acres.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Fluctuations in Friday's cotton market were narrow. In the beginning the market was steady and advanced moderately on unfavorable rains in the western belt. When the forecast for clearing weather in the west was issued there was a disposition to sell cotton. This influence held sway the remainder of the day and the market closed with quotations at a slight loss from last night. Trading in May contracts terminated at noon with farm board brokers continuing good buyers.

There is nothing in trade developments to warrant a change of view from the expectancy of fluctuations within a trading range for the time being.

October Liverpool due 7.86.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Trading again was on a small scale Friday, with the tone of the market irregular. Further undesired rains in the southwest combined with a bullish Dallas news weekly report on Texas and Oklahoma conditions caused a moderate advance at the opening but prices subsequently eased off under scattered selling due to forecast for fair weather and paucity of demand. The May delivery went off the board today at 16.22, with total tenders on May contracts in all markets estimated in the neighborhood of 550,000 bales. It looks like a trading market dependent on weather developments for the immediate future.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Prospects for some improvement in the weather brought on a reaction in the market today, although there were heavy rains again over all of Oklahoma and a large part of Texas and some portions of the Mississippi valley.

These rains are very unfortunate as that country has already been suffering from excessive rainfall, and it is believed that the crop is rapidly getting into grass in that territory. On the other hand such showers as fell in the eastern belt were beneficial. Market continued within narrow range without any definite trend either way. However, so far as the Mississippi valley and the western belt are concerned a decided improvement in weather conditions is becoming rapidly most essential. Liverpool futures are due tomorrow, holiday.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Buying was much more confident in character in Friday's session, although few stocks were bid for aggressively. Volume of transactions in General Motors clearly indicated substantial long pull accumulation of the type which can safely be followed.

Increasing interest was evidenced in utilities, with Niagara Hudson Power in good demand on indications that interests in this company and in Consolidated Gas are working toward establishment of a close relationship between these properties. With further developments in the eastern utilities situations believed to be pending, increased activity may be expected in Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, United Corporation, Niagara Hudson, United Gas Improvement and American Super Power. Among utilities, on a value basis as well as on prospects of merger developments on the Pacific coast, Pacific Lighting is attractive.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The market started off well Friday by ignoring a very disappointing statement of brokers' loans. A series of quiet buying movements followed which broadened out in the afternoon when it was announced that the tariff conferees had reached a compromise on the flexible feature of the proposed tariff bill. The buying of stock which occurred may only have been accidental, but there is a good deal to be said for the contrary view as most businessmen seem to be strongly of the opinion that tariff indecision has adversely affected their operations. Most of the best stocks were in special demand and closed with fair-sized gains near their best prices of the day. Trading volume improved slightly on the advance. Whatever its significance from the bull standpoint may be today's recovery at least seems to demonstrate that the professional bear party has met with a real reverse in its campaign to bring out renewed liquidation.

BEER & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—On slightly increased volume the market worked distinctly higher Friday. Sales totaled 2,157,000 shares. Preliminary averages showed a gain of over 3 points in the industrials and a very small gain in the rails. Except for a short time in the first hour when a rather vigorous rally was temporarily under way there was little change in the character of trading.

However, it looks as though the good character of buying which has been quietly going on for the past week or so was beginning to have its effect. The indications are that in the best stocks a fairly stable bottom has been established and that subject to minor reactions a new up trend has been begun. We do not expect by any means all stocks to participate in such a recovery as seems ahead, but the stocks of companies which are in particularly favorable situations are expected to trend gradually higher.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—On a slight increase in trading activity as compared with Thursday, the market Friday staged a fair rally. Leading stocks were able to work through resistance levels established on the rallies of the preceding three days. The industrial averages were up 3 points for the day, closing at 270. This represented a gain of nearly 10 points from the lows of last Tuesday.

We believe the further strength shown Friday offers additional evidence against the probability of any immediate extension of recent reactionary tendencies. The recovery from the low prices of last Tuesday morning had equalled normal technical expectations in the average high prices of the past three days. If further weakness were to follow the reaction of last Monday and Tuesday it should have been visible yesterday. Instead of the reappearance of reactionary tendencies the market was able to extend its recovery. At their high point for the day the industrial averages were within a fraction of their high price last Monday.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The stock marget gives every evidence of having established a resistance level around the low prices of this week. Nominal reactions uncover large buying power and traders are veering to some extent to the long side. The main weight of the professional operations, however, is still on the bear side, and this tends to preserve a large and scattered short-interest which serves as a cushion on reactions. It is our opinion that the short side now offers far less attractiveness than the constructive side. We would, therefore, look for opportunities on the up-side rather than the down side.

April railroad earnings reports are beginning to appear and reflect the recent low level of car-loadings in substantial reductions in earnings compared with a year ago. Recent strength in the rail shares in the face of knowledge that April earnings would be poor indicated that the short-interest in this group was much larger than generally realized. In view of the extent of the recovery we would postpone new buying until after the April returns are out of the way.

FLORIDA WEST COAST HAS CLEARING HOUSE

TAMPA, Fla., May 23.—(AP)—The West Coast Regional Clearing House Association was a going concern today with T. E. Moody, cashier of the Hillsborough State Bank, Plant City, as president. The clearing house was formed here yesterday by 30 bankers from Hillsborough, Polk and Pinellas counties. It was organized to assist in the financial development of the counties represented, the chief executive said.

W. D. Gray, cashier of the American National Bank, of Winter Haven, was made vice president and Polk county representative. William F. Rehbaum, assistant cashier, First National Bank of Clearwater also was made a vice president and will represent Pinellas county. Roger W. Clapp, assistant cashier of the Exchange National Bank here was made secretary, and E. C. Schoen, assistant cashier of the First National, of Tampa, was made treasurer. These five officers will form the executive committee.

Joseph R. Murphy, of Atlanta, Ga., former secretary of the Georgia Bankers' Association, active as an organizer of these groups, explained the purpose of the west coast body and work being done by such co-operative clubs in promoting relations, service and business.

In a general comparison of notes, bankers said the three counties were completing a profitable vegetable and citrus season with an outlook better than for some time.

Several local bankers addressed the financiers.

Wall Street Briefs.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Members of the National Raw Silk Exchange have voted to take a double holiday May 30-31.

Oscar F. Grab, president of the Normandie National Securities Corporation, says a nation-wide survey made by his organization shows an upward trend generally in business conditions. He said present conditions were found "not particularly favorable" in Florida, West Virginia and Michigan.

Installment buying is standing the test of the present business depression, according to Pratt E. Tracy, president of the Airway Electric Appliance Corporation. He said the corporation's records showed that out of 100,000 retail accounts the number delinquent in payment at the end of March constituted only 3.2 per cent over a year ago.

Paper and pulp production in March showed an increase of 4 per cent over February, 1930, and a decrease of 6 per cent compared with March, 1929, reports the American Paper & Pulp Association. Total wood pulp production in March increased 12 per cent over February, 1930, and was 6 per cent ahead of the same month in 1929.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—The feature in cotton here today was the final evening up of the May position in which trading locally ended at midday. Additional notices were issued and were evidently stopped by the leading long interests without much change in the differences. After an early bulge on covering and reports of some rain in the southwest, prices eased off under realizing. July contracts sold down from 16.40 to 16.25 and closed at 16.29, while the new October declined from 15.00 to 14.82 and closed at 14.84. The general market closed steady, at net declines of 5 to 10 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 3 to 8 points on reports of rains or showers in the western belt and covering by trade or speculative shorts in the near month. May notices were reported, causing some near month liquidation. The general list turned easier after the publication of the favorable weather forecasts. May eased off from 16.27 to 16.17 but steadied toward midday, the last sale being at 16.22, 9 to 10 points under the prevailing quotations for July. Notices issued here during the day, including deliveries reported at Savannah, were estimated at about 64,000 bales and notices representing about 1,700 bales were reported at New Orleans. After trading in May was terminated, the market continued quiet but prices eased off. The new December contract sold off from 15.05 to 14.90 and closed at 14.91 with active months generally within a point or two of the lowest.

While definite figures on the amount of cotton taken up on May contracts in the three futures markets of the country were not available it was estimated at 570,000 bales, probably the largest month in the history of the market. Some unfavorable private crop advices were received here from the southwest but appeared to make very little impression on the market after the early buying orders had been executed. Port receipts today 14,397. United States port stocks 1,714,855. Exports 15,835, making 6,437,886 so far this season.

N. O. SPOTS GAIN 10 TO 12 POINTS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—(AP)—The market was influenced by the weather entirely in today's trading which was only moderate. Prices gained 10 to 12 points in the early trading but when the official forecast was issued promising fair and warmer weather for the western belt over the week-end, prices eased off losing 16 to 24 points, the new crop months losing the most. The market ruled quiet all afternoon fluctuating narrowly within the earlier range. The close was steady. The general market closed at net declines for the day of 9 to 11 points.

Liverpool came in as due to 2 points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 9 points. The market was firm in early trading and improved slightly over the opening figures owing to weather in the west. July traded up to 16.13, October to 15.04, and December to 15.11 or 10 to 12 points above the previous close.

When the official forecast was issued promising fair and warmer weather for the west, prices eased off particularly on new crops. July traded down to 15.95, October to 14.80, and December to 14.89, or 18 to 24 points down from the highs.

The market showed little animation during the afternoon and continued within the previous range improving a little in the final trading. July closed at 15.96, October at 14.85, and December at 14.93, 9 to 10 points net lower for the day on those months.

Port receipts 8,403; for week 66,265; for season 8,387,471; last season 9,316,964. Exports 12,836; for week 32,852; for season 6,275,283; last season 7,333,370. Port stocks 1,728,296; last year 1,153,242. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 60,580; last year 82,850. Spot sales at southern markets 3,563; last year 9,011.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—The stock market made a comfortable rally today. Higher tendencies that had developed in yesterday's late trading were expanded into a modest buying movement which, if not particularly aggressive, was nevertheless sustained, forcing a covering of short commitments and encouraging the placement of numerous lines on the long side.

The upward move carried the leaders 1 to 5 points net higher, and there were larger gains in less active issues. Final prices were close to the highest of the day, for profit-taking on the advance was only moderate and the market finished strong.

The existence of an oversold condition, as the result of the persistent professional liquidation earlier in the week, favored a technical recovery, but steady investment buying as well as pool accumulation of prominent issues was influential in determining the course of prices. Utilities and industrials displayed the most noticeable strength. American Telephone, selling without the rights, showed a maximum gain of 6 points and closed 5 1-8 higher. Electric Power & Light, North American, Public Service of New Jersey, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, American Can, United States Steel, New York Central, Johns-Manville, Radio and General Electric rallied about 2. The American Tobacco issues soared 5 points, Westinghouse Electric nearly 5, Calumet & Arizona 2 3-4, Worthington Pump 3 1-2 and Eastman Kodak 4. Case was up 12 1-2 on the day and Diamond Match 9 1-4.

News developments were insignificant, unless the absence of important change, as noted in the week-end business reviews, could be construed as important. Although Dun's found that "indications of betterment are more distinct in some instances," they were "not representative of a broad and decisive revival and sentiment is more than usually sensitive to varying conditions." The summary added that the wide scope of the readjustment was being illustrated in numerous ways, pointing out that "even many months after the beginning of the commodity price decline the movement gives no definite signs of ending."

Bradstreet's found that aside from slight further ease in the general level of lines, especially in iron and steel and farm products affected by speculation, "there are strikingly few changes to be observed in the general trade and industrial field."

Reports from the Santa Fe Springs oil field conveyed a hope that conferences on the curtailment program had given the situation a more favorable turn and that one of the principal objectors to the restriction agreement might be brought into line. Most of the operators were said to be observing the agreement, and the advices added that details for signing the six months' output restriction pact had been arranged.

Strength of New York Central was coincident with announcement that the road had acquired a 4.6 per cent interest in Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, which is controlled by interests close to Central. Lackawanna is assigned to the Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate system in the interstate commerce commission's consolidation plan. New York Central has been interested for some time in the possibility of acquiring a shorter route to the west, thereby relieving its main line.

The commodity markets eased, wheat and corn sold off more than a cent, while cotton was 5 to 10 points lower in a steady close. Sugar was off slightly.

Foreign exchanges softened slightly. The Spanish peseta, up 5 points, was an exception to the general trend of the European rates. Sterling cables sagged 3-32.

Credit conditions remained stationary. Call money was in supply at 3 per cent and the undertone of time funds eased, although there was no change in the rates.

ATTERBURY EXPLAINS WABASH ACQUISITION

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—President Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania railroad, testified to the interstate commerce commission today that acquisition by the Pennsylvania of important holdings of stock of the Wabash and Lehigh Valley systems was a result of sharp railroad contests in eastern territory.

Atterbury said the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Nickel Plate interests had adopted a plan for consolidating eastern railroads.

"The Nickel Plate was already taking over the Pere Marquette and Erie, and had the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Baltimore & Ohio people wanted the Reading line and the Wabash, the New York Central desired either the Lackawanna or the Lehigh Valley," he said. "The Pennsylvania system needed a direct line from St. Louis to Chicago, better facilities around the south side of Lake Erie and was also desirous of a better connection between Buffalo and New York city.

"During our discussions it became evident that neither the Nickel Plate nor the New York Central was prepared to facilitate our system to the betterment of the line around Lake Erie. Also the Nickel Plate crowd and the Baltimore & Ohio began buying into the Wheeling & Lake Erie and the Western Maryland, while the Lehigh Valley stock was being purchased by the New York Central. Clearly a combination against the Pennsylvania system was being brought about.

"We found Mr. Loree . . . was interested in creating a fifth major railroad system in the east.

"I have not been in sympathy with the idea of five systems but it was obviously to the interest of the Pennsylvania railroad that if such a fifth system were to be built up that it should be under the leadership of the Delaware & Hudson, Mr. Loree's company, because the Delaware & Hudson is a friendly system."

DAY IN FINANCE

By R. L. BARNUM

Stock Market Makes Substantial Recovery as Trading Volume Increases — Plenty of Money Available at 2½ Per Cent.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Stocks had a substantial recovery with trading more active. Overnight traders apparently reached the conclusion that yesterday's very small volume of business, despite the fact that bears were pounding the market, indicated that the market was oversold and due for a rally.

M. J. Meehan, head of the stock exchange firm bearing his name and one of the largest traders in Wall Street, told his friends today that he is going abroad early in June, to be gone until the middle of July. This fits in with the plans of many stock exchange houses which are pushing vacations of partners and employes ahead so that a full staff will be on hand before the close of July. In other directions signs are not lacking that an active bull stock market is expected by August.

Call money renewed at 3 per cent, the supply greatly exceeding the demand and with plenty of funds available on the outside money market at 2 1-2 per cent. With general business and trading on the stock market at the existing low level money in Wall Street is going begging.

The weekly increase of $8,000,000 in brokers' loans is believed to be connected with the conversion of American Telephone bonds. The conversion privilege on these bonds expires today. The original amount of these bonds outstanding was $218,000,000 but up to the opening today only $10,000,000 remained outstanding. A holder of a $1,000 bond in exercising the conversion privilege must put up $800 for which 10 shares of stock are received and also the right to subscribe to new stock at 100. Holders of outstanding stock are also offered the right to subscribe to new stock at par one new share for each six held. From both of these transactions the company will get close to $450,000,000 new money for improvement and additions.

Utilities Ahead.

Shortly after the stock market panic last autumn President Hoover called a conference at Washington of leading businessmen from all parts of the country. Each different group appeared at different times pledged that certain sums would be spent this year for improvements and additions, the object being to stimulate general trade. So far this year the public utility companies are far ahead of any other group in carrying out the promised 1930 expenditure program.

It was learned today that the securities company owned by New York Central has recently acquired in the open market 77,000 shares of Delaware, Lackawanna and Western costing $10,800,000 or an average of $140 per share. The best guess is that this is a move on the part of the New York Central in the long standing fight of the Big Four trunk lines in the division of eastern territory. The Lackawanna stock just purchased by New York Central is only 4 1-2 per cent of Lackawanna's outstanding stock but actual control of Lackawanna has long been in the hands of George F. Baker, acting with members of the Vanderbilt family and associates. These same interests are in control of New York Central.

General Motors sold higher today than at any time since the sudden collapse in the stock market as a whole late in April and early this month.

Signs are increasing that large traders in the stock market close to insiders in the management of General Motors identified in the past with pool operations in General Motors are again active in this stock. There is believed to be a very large outstanding short interest in General Motors.

Union Carbide made a new low for this movement after the stock market as a whole had turned upward. According to gossip the recent heavy selling in Union Carbide has been for the Brady estate.

This is the time of year when investment bankers and bond salesmen belonging to the New York Bond Club usually hold their annual outing, but it so happens that while Wall Street bond salesmen are having their play day at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club today investment bankers from ten nations are meeting at Paris to make the final arrangements for the offering of German reparation bonds under the Young plan. This offering of $300,000,000 bonds will be the largest international loan floated since the way. Today's Paris cables say that this country and France will be asked to sell $82,000,000 each, England $50,000,000, Holland and Sweden $25,000,000 each, Switzerland $15,000,000, Germany $11,000,000 and Belgium and Italy $5,000,000 each.

An offering of $300,000,000 bonds yielding around 6 per cent secured by a prior lien on the railroads of Germany with the national credit of Germany behind the issue seems small when divided between the eight countries named above. The importance of making the $300,000,000 offering of German reparation bonds a success is realized, however, when it is recalled that for the last seven months central banks in the countries named acting together have repeatedly lowered their rediscount rate to make money easier to help float the $300,000,000 German reparation bonds.

This offering of $300,000,000 bonds is the first under the Young plan which calls for total payments by Germany, having a value today of $11,000,000,000. If the first offering of these bonds should fall flat there would be a serious setback in all of the work that has been done to take the German reparation payments out of politics. The Young plan, carefully built up out of the success and failures of all reparation negotiations since the first Paris conference, commercializes Germany's war debt by placing bonds in the hands of individual investors. The Young plan provides for the payment by Germany of $165,000,000 a year for 37 years, or a total of some $2,000,000,000 for that period. These payments are non-postponable. Total payments run for 57 years but after 37 years there may be a readjustment of the postponable amount. The offering of the first $300,000,000 bonds may come next week. A successful offering will have an influence on the world's political, financial and industrial machinery difficult to exaggerate.

Youngstown Limits Dividend on Common

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 23.—(AP)—Directors of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company today declared regular dividends of $1.37 1-2 on pfd stock and $1.25 on common stock of record June 14, payable July 1 "to stock which is entitled to receive dividends." The statement given out after the meeting pointed out that under Ohio law stockholders who opposed the company's proposed merger with Bethlehem Steel Corporation are not entitled to dividends.

Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, and leader of the forces opposing the merger plan, attended the meeting as a director of Sheet & Tube.

"No dissenting stockholders will lose a penny," he said afterward, because if the deal falls through the stock will immediately be restored to full privileges and receive the dividend.

"If a fair cash value of the stock is fixed by court order, the dissenting stockholders are entitled to receive interest from the date of the stockholders' meeting which approved the merger."

Eaton said he was determined to carry through the merger fight to a finish.

"It is not for myself," he said. "It is for the interest of Youngstown, Ohio, and the entire middle west that the merger with Bethlehem should be prevented."

HOUSE VOTES FUND FOR BULLET VICTIM

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The Owen bill to authorize the payment of $5,000 to the widow of Perle S. Thomas, Fort Pierce, Fla., citizen, who was killed by immigration officers on February 4, 1927, was passed by the house today and sent to the senate.

The amount to be paid the widow, Lamirah F. Thomas, would constitute a full settlement against the government. Originally the bill authorized $10,000, but was reduced by committee amendment.

Mrs. Owen said the bill bore the recommendation of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who termed it an "act of justice." The claims committee in recommending its passage declared "this is a very meritorious claim, in that Thomas was killed through no fault of his own."

Per Capita Money Lowest in Years

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The per capita circulation of money in the United States fell to the lowest level since 1914 during April, 1930, it was shown today in the monthly circulation statement of the treasury.

In 1920 the per capita circulation was $53.01, having risen from $40.23 in 1917 and $34.92 in 1914. The lowest per capita circulation shown in the treasury statements was in 1879 when it amounted to $16.92.

IOWA TOWN APPEARS AND VANISHES QUICKLY

OTTUMWA, Iowa, May 23.—(AP)—Haydock, a mining community in Monroe county, leapt from nothing to an upofficial population of 4,000 and back to almost nothing within the space of half a decade.

There is no Haydock listed by the 1930 census enumerators, nor was it listed in the 1925 state census. Four years ago when coal digging at its height however, it claimed a population of 4,000. Now it has fewer than 50 persons as the mine has closed.

General Thepov was the official held responsible for the massacres of "bloody Sunday," January 22, 1905.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—The curb market broke out of its narrow trading range with a decided upturn today, centering in a handful of the utility shares. Niagara Hudson was a dominant feature, displacing such recent leaders as Electric Bond and Share, and United Light A. Trading, however, showed little acceleration, the day's turnover falling short of 700,000 shares.

Operations for the advance were resumed on the theory that the market had reached an oversold position, and was due for an upturn, on technical grounds alone if for no other reason. The activity in Niagara Hudson was evidently in response to expectations of early consummation of a close alignment with Consolidated Gas of New York. Floyd L. Caryle, chairman, is expected to be placed on the Consolidated Gas board at the meeting next week.

Niagara Hudson sold up 2 1-2 points to 23 1-4, less than a point from its 1930 record, and closed near the top. St. Regis and Eastern States Power were carried up along with it. A buoyant feature was Central Public Service new, which shot up more than 6 points to a new high about 40. American Commonwealths B also reached new high ground. Among the more volatile issues, Commonwealth Edison and Duke Power each gained about 9 points. Electric Bond and Share, American Superpower, and United Light A gained nearly a point each.

The industrials, on the whole, were neglected. Deere rallied 4 points, then lost its gain. The Pacific Coast Biscuit issues were again firm, selling up moderately to new peak prices. Fokker Aircraft was in fair demand, and the Van Camp Packing issues, recent weak features, rallied substantially.

Oil and natural gas stocks moved in narrow ranges.

Wets First, Drys Second As Digest Poll Closes

40 Per Cent Want Repeal, 31 Per Cent Enforcement and 29 Modification as Voting Ends.

Forty voters out of every hundred in the United States desire the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, 29 prefer modification of the Volstead law, and 31 stand for strict enforcement, according to the Literary Digest's final report on its nation-wide poll, to be published in tomorrow's issue of that magazine.

For enforcement, 1,464,098, or 30.46 per cent.

For modification, 1,399,314, or 29.11 per cent.

For repeal, 1,943,052, or 40.43 per cent.

"An unparalleled return, this, from the twenty million blank ballots, which began their outflowing pulsations through the mail routes of the entire country in the last days of winter and the first days of spring!" exclaims the editor.

"The harvest of votes far exceeds the fruits of all the Digest's most famous and disputed presidential polls. Does not this indicate that the American people are more deeply stirred by the existing prohibition situation than they were even by the Hoover-Smith contest, whose astonishing outcome was so categorically forecast by our 1928 poll?

"Compare the totals. The Hoover-Smith poll of some nineteen million ballots brought a return of 2,767,263 votes. That was unprecedented, but it fades perceptibly in the presence of one prohibition-poll harvest of over four and three-quarter millions out of twenty millions."

Five states — Arkansas, Kansas, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee—registered a majority vote for strict enforcement, as previously reported; and five gave a majority for repeal—Connecticut, Louisiana, Nevada, New Jersey and Rhode Island. The two extremes, by the final figures, continue almost neck and neck—going in opposite directions: Kansas, 57.67 per cent dry; Nevada, 57.61 per cent wet.

Thirteen states gave over 40 per cent of their votes for enforcement: Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

Eighteen states are more than 40 per cent for repeal: Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Wyoming—and the District of Columbia.

Washington state is the only one to give even a slightly larger vote for light wines and beer than for either enforcement or repeal; but the states that cast approximately 30 per cent of their ballots for such modification include nearly one-half of the whole country—namely: Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

A generous portion of the Literary Digest's editorial comment in this issue is devoted to thanking the press of the country and all those on both sides who have helped to make the poll a success. It says:

"To the Digest it is a deep satisfaction to have grappled successfully with this immense talk. But all our hard labor and lavish expenditure would have been of little use without the eager co-operation of those who marked and returned their ballots. To these 4,806,464 public-spirited Americans of both sexes we proffer thanks and congratulations. They are the poll!

"In all fairness the Digest also congratulates and thanks those other thousands who received no ballots but were so keen on voting in this sweeping expression of the national attitude that they besieged us with pleas for ballots—pleas to which we were obliged to turn a deaf ear, since the very essence of our polling system is the wholly impersonal drafting of the names and addresses.

"And the letters that have come to us! One wonders whether on any previous occasion in history so many personal letters on a single topic—letters packed with thought and feeling and cemented with anxious sincerity—have been delivered to the same address."

Of its critics the Literary Digest says:

"Honest criticism, honest questioning, the Digest has enjoyed though it hasn't had time or space for disputation during these strenuous months. But there has been a darker side. In the heat of bitter partisanship some poisoned shafts have been aimed at the Digest. Misguided zealots have sprung more than one bit of 'dirty work at the cross-roads,' and here and there some actionable stuff has found its way into print. However, all such naughty excesses tend to defeat themselves, and we believe that some not too hardened cheeks will blush as partisan passions calm down. Moreover, we find in the country at large such abundant evidence of the Digest's secure place in the confidence and esteem of the people that we're already forgetting the poison-pen stuff, although it has been a trifle worse during this poll than any previous one."

Four Youths Arrested In Murder of Woman

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Marie Pelletier, 49-year-old mother of four children, was found shot to death late last night a few steps from her home in suburban Berwyn.

Her husband, who found the body, thought she had taken poison and ran to the drugstore for help. When he returned, police had arrived. The woman had been shot twice in the chest.

Police believe the shooting was done by robbers. The woman's purse, which her husband said contained only a small sum, was missing.

Scattered about the body were groceries Mrs. Pelletier had bought for a party planned for tomorrow night.

Police arrested four youths as suspects after an automobile chase early today. A purse containing a rosary and a pair of spectacles was thrown from the youths' car during the chase. Police said Mrs. Pelletier carried a purse answering the same general description and were seeking a thorough check on the contents.

Woman Uses Fire To Commit Suicide

TAMPA, Fla., May 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Theresa Diez, wife of a cigar factory employe eluded the watch of relatives here this afternoon, drenched herself with kerosene and set fire to her clothing, with fatal results, according to city officials. Friends said she had been in a highly nervous condition for some time.

PANAMA WELCOMES ELEANOR BOLLING

BALBOA, Canal Zone, May 23.—(AP)—The sturdy little steamship Eleanor Bolling came to port today bearing homeward the famous second in command of the Byrd antarctic expedition, Professor Lawrence Gould, geologist, formerly of the University of Michigan.

Also among her passengers were the intrepid Bernt Balchen and Harold June who, with their distinguished commander, made the unprecedented flight from Little America to the south pole and back.

Rear Admiral Byrd personally greeted his comrades of the history-making exploration. His was the first foot upon the gangplank when the Eleanor Bolling touched the pier. It was a warm, brotherly reunion that took place on the deck, after a separation in which the returning travelers had continued to experience excitement and hardships due to severe weather on the voyage.

The geologist, whose exploit in penetrating the sub-arctic wastes was characterized by Rear Admiral Byrd as the "greatest personal achievement of the expedition," brought back new and interesting details of his discoveries. It was he who bore the responsibility for the widely flung exploration accomplished by the Byrd party.

The Bolling steered into port under her own steam with plenty of coal in reserve, although on May 17 when she cut loose the bark City of New York, which she had towed from April 30 through terrific seas and against almost overpowering head winds, it was reported that her coal had been nearly depleted. As she came into the bay airplanes zoomed and dipped over her and a great crowd quickly assembled at the waterfront.

The new arrivals were greatly affected by the tropical heat. The trip from Dunedin had been hard for the men who have not faced high temperatures for so long.

Accompanying Rear Admiral Byrd aboard the ship were Captain Railey, Charles J. V. Murphy, J. R. Hildebrand and Ralph Williams. After coming ashore again Admiral Byrd went to the admiralty and asked for a navy tug to go out and help the bark City of New York, last of the expedition ships, reported about 600 miles at sea.

Balchen's first inquiry was about his many friends and acquaintances in aviation in the United States. He asked closely about individuals who had been in accidents. He said, "I wouldn't have missed the trip to Antarctica for anything." He admitted holding the boxing championship of the expedition. With Harold June and Czegka he came aboard the Bolling from the City of New York when the two ships parted company.

Admiral Magruder To Address Veterans

BILOXI, Miss., May 23.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder has accepted the invitation of officials of the 40th Confederate reunion to speak at the opening session of the reunion in Biloxi June 3.

He will be a guest throughout the entire period of the reunion, being on a leave of absence from his official duties. He is a native Mississippian.

Admiral Magruder is at present in command of the base force at Hampton Roads, Va., on the U. S. S. Proycon, flagship, and has been assigned to the eighth naval district with headquarters at New Orleans.

Bath Ends Prisoners Flight To Freedom

CANON CITY, Col., May 23.—(AP) Danny Reardon, erstwhile trusty in the Colorado state prison, was securely behind steel bars today because he halted an apparently successful escape and took a bath.

Danny, fed up with prison fare, walked away from the institution yesterday. Some hours later A. A. Fry, bathhouse proprietor at Florence, Col., 10 miles distant, found a stranger asleep in his establishment.

Searching guards arrived about the same time. The slumbering stranger was Danny.

"Took a bath and went to sleep," he said in weary explanation as he was shoved into the "hole," prison jargon for solitary.

FLOOD DAMAGE BILL IS SIGNED BY HOOVER

President Hoover has signed the bill authorizing the reimbursement of the State of Georgia to the extent of $506,000 for damages suffered in the floods of the fall of 1929. J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway board, was advised in a telegram received Friday.

Congressman Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, sponsored the bill before the house. In his telegram Friday Senator W. J. Harris, who introduced it in the senate, said that "Congressman Vinson is due special credit for the legislation."

Mr. Barnett said that he had not been informed as to when or how the money appropriated would be paid to the state highway department. He has not seen a copy of the bill, he said.

It will reimburse the department for half of the costs of the damages to state roads in high water last fall.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR LEVEE REPAIRS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The Ragon bill to reimburse levee districts on tributaries above the backwater areas of the Mississippi for levee repairs after the flood of 1927 but before passage of the flood control act, was passed today by the house.

It now goes to the senate.

Representative Ragon, democrat, Arkansas, author of the bill, explained that the districts were compelled by the danger of further damage to proceed with repair work before the government authorized relief funds.

Only $1,033,543 has been expended of the $5,000,000 for this work authorized under the flood control act, he added, leaving more than $3,800,000 available for further relief.

The bill also would make the provisions of the flood control act apply to similar repair and construction work done on the Atchafalaya river in Louisiana which forms an outlet for the Mississippi.

Zeppelin Delays Departure for Rio

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 23.—(UN)—An explosion of a valve on equipment used to refuel the Graf Zeppelin late today injured one workman, but refueling continued and the dirigible was scheduled to depart for a 1,200-mile trip to Rio de Janeiro about midnight.

The workman was only slightly hurt and the accident did not prevent the routine work of preparing for the next flight. Refueling was carried on all during the day, but as the afternoon wore on it became evident the original 6 p. m. departure time (4 p. m., eastern standard time) would have to be changed.

"We don't know yet whether we can land at Rio de Janeiro or not," said Dr. Hugo Eckener, in command of the dirigible on its long flight here from Friedrichshafen via Seville. "It all depends on meteorological conditions there, considering the fact there is no mooring mast at Rio.

"If we are not able to land, we will circle over the city and the bay and may extend the flight southward to Sao Paulo.

"We will return to Pernambuco early Monday at the latest, when we will complete loading our supplies and refueling. We should be ready to start early Tuesday for Havana and New York."

Birmingham Man Drowns in Florida

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 23.—(AP) Julius Heinberg, 61, retired Birmingham businessman, was drowned here today while fishing from a jetty at Fort McRae. He was here visiting his son-in-law, Dr. D. W. McMillan.

C. M. Wilson and Dan Sullivan, who accompanied Heinberg on the fishing trip, left him sitting on the wharf a few minutes. Returning later they found he had fallen into the river.

A naval air station boat recovered the body. An examination by Dr. R. H. Collins, medical corps officer, disclosed that Heinberg had suffered a heart attack which might have caused his death if he had not drowned.

His daughter, Mrs. McMillan, is in New York. It was expected the body will be sent to Birmingham for burial.

'Ma' Ferguson To Run Again For Texas Governorship

Ousted Governor Places Wife in Race When Court Refuses His Plea for Entry.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 23.—(AP)—Miriam A. Ferguson, only woman to serve as chief executive of Texas, today was thrust into another campaign for the governorship when the state supreme court ruled that her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson, was ineligible to hold office.

Barred from running himself for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, Ferguson announced that "Ma" Ferguson would be a candidate in his stead.

The supreme court held that Ferguson's impeachment and removal as governor in 1917 disqualified him from again serving in office in the state.

An amnesty bill enacted by a friendly legislature after Mrs. Ferguson's election in 1924 and designed to restore Ferguson's political rights was declared invalid by the supreme court. The bill had been repealed by a subsequent legislature.

Mrs. Ferguson retired to the quiet of her home after being overwhelmingly defeated for renomination in 1926 by Governor Dan Moody and since has taken no active part in politics. Ferguson said her platform would be announced after the supreme court has acted on a motion for a rehearing in his case.

The action to keep Ferguson's name off the primary ballot was instituted by the democratic state executive committee.

Mrs. Ferguson will enter a wide-open field in her race to put the family back in power in the state house. Governor Moody has informally announced for a third term and more than a dozen others, including Miss Katie Daffan, of Ennis, have signified their intention of running on the democratic side. The contenders include Thomas B. Love, of Dallas, former democratic national committeeman, who was a "Hoover democrat" in 1928; Earle B. Mayfield, former United States senator; Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller, of Dallas; Oscar F. Holcombe, of Houston; W. Gregory Hatcher, of Dallas; James Young, of Kaufman, State Senator C. C. Small, of Wellington; Dr. C. E. Walker, of Grapevine; E. G. Senter, of Dallas; T. N. Mauritz, of Ganado; Charlton Brown, of Mineral Wells; Fred B. Robinson, of Waco, and F. G. Thompson, of Sherman.

It was for the announced purpose of "vindicating" the Ferguson name that Mrs. Ferguson became a gubernatorial candidate in 1924. Her husband had been balked in his effort to have his name placed on the ballot by various court actions.

At the request of Mrs. Ferguson the legislature passed the amnesty bill, which Moody, then attorney general, asserted was unconstitutional. After the woman governor's defeat by Moody in 1926, another legislature repealed the act.

Ferguson was removed from office shortly after the beginning of his second term as governor in 1917. Among other things he was charged with depositing state funds in a bank in which he was interested.

During her term, Mrs. Ferguson was under constant fire of her opponents who asserted she was merely a figurehead and that her husband was the real governor. Her record in granting pardons and paroles was particularly attacked.

SPORTS SECTION

THREE PAGES | ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1930. | PAGE NINETEEN

In the long tree-lined depression at Fort McPherson usually used as a rifle range yesterday could be found the polo squads from southern army units working toward the polo tournaments that begin here Sunday.

The grassy canyon was filled with men and horses. A hundred and fifty polo ponies were being ridden about by officers in bright colored shirts and cork helmets, or were slowly circling in charge of enlisted men detailed as grooms.

Four regular army teams, three national guard squads and the youngsters from the University of Georgia were represented. They will be in competition over the period from May 25 to June 8. This section has never faced such a season of polo. If Atlantans do not become polo-minded, it will not be for lack of educational opportunity.

CALIBRE OF MOUNTS IMPROVED.

The ponies are an oddly assorted lot to the eye of a civilian innocent of the game. The government supplies the mounts and in the strings can be found every known strain from the thoroughbred to the buggy horse.

Yet the quality of government mounts has improved vastly since the first polo games were played at the Fort a few years ago and Atlantans saw officers risk their necks on a choice assortment of crow-bait.

In recent years the tendency has grown away from the cross breeds and the best civilian clubs in the east now are developing thoroughbreds for the sport. The polo pony must have speed, intelligence and courage and the thoroughbred supplies that. The strings now at the Fort boast the best lot of polo ponies ever brought into Atlanta.

FAMOUS POLO NAMES.

The regular army units from Fort Benning, Fort Bragg, Fort Oglethorpe and Fort McPherson will compete in their own eliminations. The national guardsmen from Savannah, Atlanta and New Orleans and the R. O. T. C. team from the university have their own classes. The competitions run concurrently, as they say at the courthouse.

Names famous in polo can be found in the rosters of the regulars. Captain Peter Rodes of the Fort Bragg team, a former football star at Kentucky and at the Naval Academy, who came into the army during the war, is a six handicap man, the highest in the tournament. He played with the army team against the British in 1925.

Unusual interest will attach to the appearance of Lieutenants Herbert and Herschel Baker on the Fort Benning team. They look alike, talk alike and ride alike—and how they ride! The University of Georgia team and the Governor's Horse Guards will command no end of local interest.

STAY AWAY, RAIN.

The rifle range yesterday looked not unlike a circus lot with three rings of performing horses and gaily clad riders. It was hotter than the Mojave desert and the Fort people are hoping the sun keeps bearing down. A polo season was wrecked here one year by rain and this year's lineup is too good to be wasted.

JACK MAKES "THE SIGN."

One reads in the papers that Jack Sharkey has reached the peevish stage in training for his fight with Max Schmeling. He lost his temper and banged his sparring partners about unmercifully. Therefore, one reads, he has reached the peak and must have a lay-off.

Jack Dempsey, I believe, set this precedent. He got cross at one stage of his training for the Jess Willard fight and Jack Kearns, his manager, told reporters that it was a sign the man was in condition and ready to fight.

So all the others who have come along since Dempsey have copied such outbursts of temper and it has been regarded as a "sign." Sharkey has the manifestation down pat. He worked up a terrific rage one day at Miami Beach and the next day drew a lay-off for a golf game. It is just a part of the time-worn hokum of the business of mangling ears. However, much importance is attached to the sign by those who talk out of the corner of the mouth.

EXPLAINED.

California cities especially lead the nation in suicides per 1,000 population, according to insurance statistics. This is easily explained. They see recent pancake jugglers from Childs and ham juveniles from the ten-twenty-thirty stock companies telling James to bring the Rolls back at 4 o'clock and just realize that it's no use after all.

COME ON, FELLOWS.

Out of three or four letters from indignant fans asking that something be done about the Crackers is one from a man signing himself "R. Goodfellow." He concludes: "Save us, Cassius, ere we sink if we are not already sunk."

Well, if I just had my youth, I might get out and pitch.

Robins Beat Braves and Tie Cards for Lead

CRACKERS BREAK LOSING STREAK

Hurdlers Take Jump in Boys' High Track Meet

ROBINS IN TIE FOR TOP PLACE

Brooklyn's slugging Robins climbed into a tie for the National league lead Friday by defeating the Boston Braves, 6 to 3, and gaining a half game on the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards and Robins now have a full game lead over the third place Pittsburgh Pirates, with the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs in a virtual tie for fourth place, 2 1-2 games behind the leaders.

MATES SLUG BALL.

Bill Clark pitched the Robins to their win over Boston, holding the Braves to nine well scattered hits, while his mates pounded Ed Brandt and Cunningham for 13 blows. Clark encountered trouble in only one inning, Wallie Berger hitting his 10th home run of the season in the sixth with a mate on base.

Pittsburgh kept pace with the leaders, defeating the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 6. The Cubs outhit the Pirates, 14 to 10, but their ninth inning rally was checked with the tying run on base.

The Philadelphia Phillies outslugged the New York Giants, 9 to 8. The Phils won the game with a five-run rally in the eighth and Smythe halted a Giants' rally in the ninth. Rain kept the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds idle.

Indians Drop In American Race.

Walter Stewart pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 5-to-4 win over the Cleveland Indians. The Browns trailed until the eighth inning when a triple by Manush and singles by Kress and Gullic produced the tying and winning runs.

The defeat dropped the Indians to fourth place in the league standings, with the New York Yankees moving into third place—their highest mark of the 1930 season.

Diegel, Mitchell Play Again Today

BIRMINGHAM, England, May 23.—(UN)—Leo Diegel, United States pro attached to the Agua Caliente, Mexico, Golf Club, and Abe Mitchell, a leading British pro golfer, will play a 36-hole exhibition match here tomorrow.

AL SINGER WINS RETURN BATTLE

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Al Singer, Bronx lightweight, easily outpointed Ignacio Fernandez, rugged Filipini, in a return bout tonight that drew 15,000 customers to Madison Square Garden. Singer dropped the Filipino for a count of two in the first round and battered him badly in several others, but could not finish him. Fernández won their first meeting by a knockout. Singer weighed 135, Fernandez 131.

By his victory over the only man who ever knocked him out, Singer won assurance of a title match with Sammy Mandel in one of the open-air extravaganzas of the summer.

Sammy Binder, 128 1-2, of New York, won a six-rounder from Mickey Greb, 124, Newark, N. J.

Sharkey's Father Watches Workout

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey's father, Benjamin Cuckoskay, paid a surprise visit to the training camp of his son today and watched the sailor box for the first time. He came to the training camp unnoticed and did not make his presence known until after the workout.

Sharkey again was most impressive in his glove drill. He boxed six rounds, training outdoors for the first time since his arrival here. In three rounds with Johnny Grosso, two with Paul Cavalier and one with King Solomon, Sharkey boxed skilfully and rocked his sparmates with hard punches to the head.

Thomasville To Play Moultrie Ball Team

THOMASVILLE, Ga., May 23.—The Thomasville baseball team in the Six-County league and the Moultrie team of the South Georgia league will use two off days—Monday and Wednesday of next week—to play exhibition games.

One of these games will be put on in Thomasville Monday afternoon, and the Wednesday game will be played on the diamond in Moultrie.

Incidentally, the local team will likely appear against Moultrie in brand-new uniforms, which recently were ordered, and are expected to arrive before the Monday game.

Fans are interested in the games as in a measure affording a comparison as to the strength of teams that are playing ball in these two leagues of southern Georgia and north Florida.

Belanger Beaten By Mickey Walker

DETROIT, May 23.—(AP)—Mickey Walker, of Chicago, king of the middleweights, won an easy 10-round decision over Charlie Belanger, Canadian light heavyweight champion at Olympia tonight. The hard hitting and aggressiveness of the middleweight title-holder gave him all but two of the 10 rounds. Walker weighed 164, Belanger 175.

ELLIOTT, HAYES CAPTURE TITLES

Captain Emmett Elliott, of the Boys' High track team, and Lawrence Hayes were winners Friday afternoon at Grant field in the annual Boys' High interclass track meet. Elliott was high point scorer among the varsity trackmen and Hayes carried off highest honors in the non-varsity meet.

Elliott placed first in the discus, the high jump, the high hurdles, the broad jump and second in the javelin and third in the low hurdles. Second place honors in the varsity events were won by Kelly, who placed first in the low hurdles, the 100-yard dash, the mile run, second in the 220-yard dash, second in the high hurdles, second in the broad jump and third in the high jump and 440-yard run.

In the non-varsity events Hayes won first place in the low and high hurdles and first in the broad jump.

Each of the winners in the non-varsity and varsity events received medals and the first three winners in all the events received gold, silver and bronze medals. Coach C. S. Ward, of the Boys' High track team, was in charge of the events and was assisted by the varsity trackmen.

Boys' High team won the city prep and the G. I. A. A. track championships and won all of its dual meets. The team will leave the city next week for Chicago, where it will take part in the national high school track championship events.

Schmeling Takes Second Rest Day

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 23.—(AP) For the second day in succession Max Schmeling kept away from training activities and confined his preparation for his heavyweight title bout with Jack Sharkey to a round of golf. Yesterday the German motored to Schenectady, to talk over the radiophone with his mother in Berlin.

Experts in camp believe that Schmeling is not doing enough boxing for the June 12 bout, although Max's trainers are already convinced he is in fighting trim.

Schmeling has been handicapped by lack of excess weight. He plans to box tomorrow and Sunday.

By Ralph McGill.

After weeks of back-slapping, urging, cajoling, egging, encouraging, sympathizing, aiding, boosting, begging and pleading with the Crackers, all to no end, John Dobbs has grown tired. "The worst outfit I've had to work with," is the gist of his decision.

Which isn't at all evasive, ambiguous or indirect. And one can't blame the fighting little manager. He hasn't given up once.

DOWN FEW TIMES.

In 25 years of managing baseball teams Johnny Dobbs has been in the second division less than half a dozen times. He has taken hopeless outfits and hand-slapped and back-slapped them into the first division.

Most of the players on the Atlanta team are playing for more money than they ever received before. The ordinary member of the genus hommes rolls up his sleeves, tightens his shoe laces and bears down all the harder when more money is put in his pocket. But not the Crackers.

BOYS NOT HUSTLING.

Along the streets one may hear it mentioned that the players may not like Rell J. Spiller, whose portly frame has been receiving the slings and arrows of an outraged baseball populace for some few years. Be that as it may the fact remains that the boys hired out to play baseball, are receiving excellent money for so doing, rarely ever come in contact with the office at Spiller field, and are still not playing baseball.

There will be little sympathy, if any, for the Cracker baseball players. They have not been bulldozed, bullied or "shown-up" before the fans.

The theory that there are too many ex-managers on the club has been advanced as one cause of the magnificent fizzle. Some two or three of the ex-managers have shown a disposition to play carefully, take no chances and take things in a mechanical fashion, but beyond that contribution to the general melancholia there is no other indictment of the ex-managers.

DOBBS HAS COURAGE.

"The worst outfit Johnny Dobbs ever handled" will be given a going-over Monday when the club comes home. Dobbs has courage. He is quite capable of scrapping his ball club and starting with younger players.

The irony of it is that players now with the Crackers would go elsewhere and play ball well. Jim Poole, the Nashville star, would never have played ball here. It took the shock of being released outright to put a new spark plug in Jim Poole.

Whether it is announced to the newspapermen or not, the Cracker baseball club is going on the carpet Monday and be told to put out real baseball or face suspension.

CAN PLAY BALL.

Cracker officials owe that to the public that foots the bills at the turnstiles. There is no need to mince matters with the club. It can play ball.

Meanwhile there are but two clubs in the league playing real baseball—New Orleans and Memphis.

Both happen to illustrate the cardinal points of baseball. Memphis has the hitters and fair pitching. New Orleans has the pitching and fair hitting. It takes that combination to get anywhere in the baseball business.

OTHER CLUBS.

Pitching is probably 75 per cent of the game. New Orleans pitchers have allowed fewer runs per game than any other slab staff in the

Olympic Village Gets Approval

BERLIN, May 23.—(AP)—The International Olympic committee has approved the proposal of the Los Angeles group to build an Olympic village to house the athletes in the 1932 games but paused over the idea of a cafeteria food service.

The committee, unfamiliar with American habits, voiced misgivings over the idea of self-service.

"Would it not lower the dignity of the athletes to ask them to stand in line for meals?" they asked. Their fears were smoothed away finally with the explanation that even wealthy Americans eat at cafeterias.

Word from Los Angeles that Olympic athletes will be able to travel from Europe to California for the Olympic games of 1932, stay two weeks and return, all for $375 each proved a sensation among Olympic congress delegates today.

The lowest estimate previously expected was around $1,200 per athlete.

Bobby Shoots 75 Over St. Andrews

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 23. (AP)—Joyce Wethered, former British women's golf champion, today played a four-ball match with Bobby Jones, T. A. Bourn and her brother, Roger Wethered. Miss Wethered finished with a score of 76, winning from her brother, 4 up and 2 to play, and losing to Jones and Bourn, the English champion, by one hole.

The crack woman player, who has withdrawn from championship competition but plays in lesser golfing events, showed excellent form throughout.

At the ninth she was one up over Jones, square with Bourn and her brother. At the 15th she became dormie 3 on her brother and 2 up on Jones and Bourn. She won the next hole from Roger Wethered to win this match, but lost the last three holes to Jones and Bourn.

Hunter Defeats Henry Johnson

Hunter fought a good battle and had his foe well in hand at the close of the battle. At times it seemed as if Johnson was just able to hang on. It was the fourth time the pair have met, the first three bouts ending in draws.

ROY CARLYLE HITS DOUBLE TO WIN GAME

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 23.—Atlanta's baseball team, down deep in the murk of last place, received a wire from their officials this morning telling them they were still hoping for victory.

And this afternoon the Crackers stepped out in the eighth inning to rally and beat the Travelers 3 to 1. Red Oldham pitched good ball and was relieved by a pinch-hitter in that eighth inning rally. Nick Dumovich followed him to the mound and was just as effective.

GRIFFIN'S DOUBLE.

The game was scoreless until the seventh when the Travelers got over a run on Ivy Griffin's double. It looked as if the old cast-off jinx might work as the pitchers were going good and the Crackers had shown no signs of hitting Eckert.

That didn't work, however. The Crackers opened the eighth with a single by Ivy Wingo. Rosenthal batted for Oldham and doubled to right, Blethen, who had run for Wingo, stopping at third. Polvogt ran for Rosenthal. Langford grounded out to first but Blethen came on home and Polvogt made second. Sheehan beat out an infield hit and Polvogt made third. Johnny Dobbs was raising cain on the coaching lines. The Crackers, after all the week's exhibition of dullness, were hustling at the plate.

Stock almost stopped the rally. He grounded to Strohm at third and Strohm caught Polvogt at the plate. Two were gone. Roy Carlyle, who had been no bargain on the day before, doubled to right field scoring Sheehan and Stock. Grimes went out but three runs were in and the game as good as won.

STOPS ATTACK.

The two clubs play again today and end the series on Sunday.

Johnny Dobbs, Cracker manager, was slightly encouraged after the victory. "I don't know if it means anything or not," he said, "but it was encouraging to see the boys come from behind. It has been so long since we staged a rally that it was extremely heartening."

Crackers Make No Farm Deals.

By Ralph McGill.

Determined to get new blood, and preferably young blood, for the baseball team, the Cracker baseball officials were standing by Friday awaiting the arrival of the club and Johnny Dobbs on Monday.

All sorts of plans are brewing. The Huntsville club in the Georgia-Alabama league, which lost its manager by resignation Thursday, is being considered as a possible farm.

REPORTS PREMATURE.

Nothing definite has been done. Rell J. Spiller, Cracker business manager, said Friday that reports that he had made overtures to the Huntsville club or that he had received any, were premature.

"I haven't done anything about such a move," he said. "I have just been thinking it over. I haven't talked with the president of the Huntsville club or with the league president, L. H. Carre. I don't know if it is possible for us to go in there or not.

"We have two or three good prospects on the club," the Cracker official continued, "but I think we have troubles of our own now without trying to run another ball club. If we could get some arrangement whereby we could get an option on some of the players and keep them supplied with men without taking over the business end of it, we might go in. But nothing has been done. I may

HERMAN HITTING .432 IN BIG SIX

Three National league members of the Big Six race had a chance to get their share of the glory yesterday as the schedule kept their American league rivals idle and they did it in a most satisfying fashion. Babe Herman, the leader, had a perfect day at bat, hitting three times in three official trips to the plate to increase his batting average 14 points, stopping at .432. Paul Waner also made three hits, going to the plate five times, and lifted his mark eight points to .423. Frank O'Doul got two hits in five tries and remained at the .398 mark.

Bullpups Close With Poets Today

ATHENS, Ga., May 23.—The Georgia freshman baseball team will close its season Saturday afternoon with a game with the Lanier High Poets. Lefty Hamilton, southpaw ace of the Bullpups, is slated to hurl.

Athens High school this afternoon annexed a 10-to-0 decision from the Poets.

AMERICAN MILE MARK BETTERED

EUGENE, Ore., May 23.—(AP)—Ralph Hill, fleet University of Oregon distance man who last Saturday shattered the 17-year-old American college mile run record, turned in his remarkable time under conditions which are expected to bring him national recognition for the feat.

His time of 4:12 2-5 clipped two seconds off the old mark of 4:24 2-5 made by John Paul Jones, of Cornell, in 1913. It was the fastest mile ever run outdoors in this country.

Measurements at Hayward field track at Oregon showed the cinder path was exactly 1,320 feet in circumference, four laps making the run. Dr. Clarence Spears, football coach at Oregon, was en route east today with the track data and an application for recognition of Hill's record. The mark was made during the Oregon-Washington dual meet.

Yankees Trounce Army Nine, 20-2

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 23.—(AP)—The New York Yankees came to West Point today for their annual exhibition game with the Army team and departed with a 20-to-2 victory. Foster Edwards gave the Cadets only five hits while the big league team was making 23 blows off four Army pitchers. Score:

Fairmount Derby To Be Run Today

COLLINSVILLE, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—A field of 10 horses was named today to go to the post tomorrow in the fifth running of the Fairmount Derby, this year for a purse of $15,000 added. The distance is a mile and a quarter.

Gallant Knight and Ned O., horses that finished second and third, respectively, in the Kentucky Derby last week, rule favorites to capture the Fairmount classic. Odds of 3 to 2 were quoted today on both horses. Longus, of the R. C. stable, which finished well up in the Kentucky Derby, also will run tomorrow. Other entries are Reveille Boy, Sidney, Thistle Ann, By Product, Good and Hot, Judge Dixon and Skibo. By Product and Thistle Ann are fillies and each will have an advantage of five pounds in the weights.

The weather man predicts sunshine for tomorrow. A rain today did little more than lay the dust.

Reading Gets Hurler On Option From Cubs

CHICAGO, May 23.—(AP)—Lonnie Warneke, rookie right-handed pitcher, who was obtained by the Chicago National league club from Alexandria, La., today was sent to the Reading club of the International league on option. Warneke will get another chance with the champions next spring.

Battle For Top Positions Feature Today's Amateur Baseball Card

German Lacked Weight, Disappeared and Returned Better.

When Atlanta fans see him in the sure fire berserk battle with Milo Steinborn next Tuesday night they will see a wrestler who made himself over into one of the best.

Five years ago Pete Sauer was wrestling as the "Masked Marvel." He had skill and courage but he lacked weight and stamina. Pete Sauer all but disappeared. He went west and started in a long training grind. In a few years he was ready to go.

RETURNS HEAVIER.

He came back to the ring 20 pounds heavier. He came back with a cruel, relentless spirit. He went tearing after opponents and swept them aside until only a few stood between him and the top. And he hasn't yet got that chance.

Jim Londos has been matched with Dick Shikat, the match Sauer wanted. He thinks he will still get it. Meanwhile he has agreed to met Milo Steinborn, "The Bear That Walks Like a Man," here Tuesday night.

Steinborn all but beat Sauer a few months ago. Sauer, unable to pin him with a wrestling hold, went wild with rage. He raced about the ring like a madman. Three times he butted Steinborn over the ropes for a drop of seven or eight feet to the concrete floor.

UNABLE TO CONTINUE.

Steinborn, after wrestling in New York, believes he can pin Sauer. Steinborn relies largely on his strength. He asked Promoter Henry Weber what about coming to Atlanta for the summer season Weber is planning. "I can give you Sauer," replied Weber. "It's all right with me," said Steinborn. "That's the match I want."

Weber believes he has a great match in the two big German giants, the one with power and skill, the other with stone-age strength and less skill. It will be a battle of the giants.

SEMI-WINDUP.

In the semi-windup Weber has John Paxos, ace-high Greek wrestler, and Rough House Nelson. It will be a one-hour time limit match.

Paxos, a clean, sure wrestler, will be favored to win. He meets a tough customer in Nelson, a grappler who tries to live up to his name.

A short preliminary will open the match. Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters and at the Candler building soda fountain. Ladies will be admitted to any seat in the house for 75 cents.

Huntsville Keeps Own Franchise

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., May 23.—L. H. Carre, president of the Georgia-Alabama league, declared tonight that the businessmen of Huntsville would keep their own franchise and would not sell or give it to the Atlanta team, which was incorrectly reported as having been negotiating for it. Huntsville has heard nothing from Atlanta and has made no overtures to the Crackers. A reorganization is now in progress here and a new manager will be selected Saturday.

CRACKERS MAKE NO 'FARM' DEAL

go there Saturday but I am not at all sure."

HAMMOND BEST BET.

Jim Hammond is the most valuable prospect on the Huntsville club. He was with the Crackers in the spring. A catcher, Ed Patterson, has not been going so well and is not highly regarded.

Spiller does not think any move will be made until the club returns home Monday for a series with Birmingham.

Radical moves are planned at that time. The Cracker board of directors is thoroughly convinced that something must be done. Reports over the circuit that the Crackers are playing listless baseball with no fight and no hustle, has aroused genuine anger in the front office at Spiller field.

QUESTION PLAYERS.

Cracker officials refuse to state just what measures will be taken. It is known, however, that some of the team will be called on the carpet and asked to explain what is wrong with the play of the club.

Composed of players that batted well in 1929 in class A leagues, the team has not been able to win games with anything resembling consistency.

Officials declare that a general shake-up is ahead. The old brogans, one is led to believe, will be planted firmly and something will be said and done.

KIND 'TIL IT HURTS.

The Cracker officials point out that they have been kindly, turning the other cheek so often that both of them are wearing a hurt look.

Fox To Be Withheld From Withers Stake

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, trainer for William Woodward, announced today that Gallant Fox, winner of both the Preakness and Kentucky Derby, will not start in the Withers stake at Belmont Saturday, May 31.

If Gallant Fox is withheld from the Withers, Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone, crack juvenile last year, will be a heavy favorite. Whichone and Gallant Fox probably will meet in the Belmont stakes on June 7.

WILLS-RYAN DOUBLES TEAM ENTERS FINALS

Fry-Harvey Combination Is Downed by 6-1, 6-2 Scores.

By Thomas T. Topping,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

AUTEUIL, France, May 23.—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan, daughters of sunny California, playing in polar weather, defeated a strong pair of English players today in the semi-finals of the French hard court tennis championships.

With Queen Helen volleying, smashing and serving in greatly improved form, the American standard-bearers in the women's doubles division won from Joan Fry and Ermyntrude Harvey by scores of 6-1, 6-2, to become the first players in any event of this rain-soaked tournament to reach the finals.

SHORT MATCH.

It took the Americans only 21 minutes to demonstrate their superiority over the English girls who had been rated as leading contenders for the title.

Mrs. Moody showed to much better advantage than in the quarter-finals yesterday, winning all four of her service games without being carried to deuce and teaming well with her veteran partner. Miss Ryan's chop strokes were highly effective.

The Californians now are favored to win the championship by defeating Mme. Simone Mathieu and Mlle. Yvette Barbier, of France, who reached the finals through an unexpected victory over Mrs. Phoebe Watson and Doris Round, of England.

Paired with Jean Borotra, "the bounding Basque" of France, Miss Ryan advanced to the quarter-final round in mixed doubles by defeating Mme. Desloges and Antoine Gentien, France, 6-3, 6-3.

GENERAL ENGAGEMENT.

Another feature of the day was a general engagement between members of the Australian and English Cup teams which meet the first week in June in a quarter-final round European zone tie.

In the quarter-finals of the men's doubles competition, Harry Hopman and Jim Willard, of Australia, upset the veteran English combination of J. Colin Gregory and I. G. Collins in five bitterly contested sets at 3-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 10-8.

The match was twice interrupted by rain, once with the score deadlocked at two sets-all and 6-6 in the fifth set. Play was resumed after two hours wait, both sides agreeing to start the fifth set over, and the young Antipodeans came through with colors flying.

Gregory and Collins were runners-up at Wimbledon last year when they lost to the young Americans, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, after just such a five-set struggle. They had been looked upon as certain finalists here.

A second Australian team consisting of E. F. Moon and Jack Crawford disposed of two more of England's best players, H. G. N. Lee and G. P. Hughes, at 6-2, 4-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, to gain the semi-finals.

The experts now are seriously considering the Australian Davis cup force as a menace and feel this is the team the United States must beat to reach the challenge round.

PEPS BEATEN, 8-5.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., May 23.—The Huntsville Springers downed the Lindale Pepperells here this afternoon, 8 to 5, in a game which was called in the last half of the fifth on account of darkness brought on by heavy clouds.

Before the crowd and players had all gotten out of the park one of the heaviest rains of the year began falling.

Higginbotham, of Huntsville, and Soward, Lindale pitcher, clouted the ball over center field fence for the circuit. Patton and Costa were the hitting stars for Pepperels, while Westly and McSwain both got 3 for 3 for Huntsville. An exceptionally good crowd was out for the game.

Suspensions Cause Bout Postponement

DETROIT, May 23.—(AP)—Because both fighters at present are under suspension, the date of a scheduled bout between Primo Carnera and K. O. Christner, of Akron, Ohio, today was changed from May 31 to June 5.

Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, who is scheduled to fight Charlie Belanger, Canadian light-heavyweight champion, tomorrow night at Olympia arena, said tonight Walker will challenge Carnera or Christner, if either becomes eligible to box here.

Pittsburgh Loses Another Pitcher

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates suffered anew today when Pitcher Ervin Brame was ordered to remain in bed because of an attack of grip. Brame was slated to pitch against the Chicago Cubs today. He probably will be out of action for a week.

ANSLEY GOLFERS BEAT PIEDMONT

Tommy Wilson, Ansley Park professional, and Dr. Dan Sage, his amateur partner, defeated Billy Wilson and Jesse Webb, Piedmont Park players, 3-2, Friday afternoon at Ansley Park in another of the pro-amateur matches.

It was a grudge match between the Wilson brothers and was one of the closest and hardest matches that has been played in the schedule thus far.

Dr. Sage and Tommy had the best score up to the finish, with two holes left to play. Tommy had the best medal score. Pars on the last two holes would have given him a 71.

Both the Piedmont Park players played steady golf throughout and forced the Ansley Park pair to shoot six strokes under fours in 16 holes.

Capital City Team Wins

Howard Beckett, Capital City professional, and Jim Ison defeated Jimmy Livingstone, Ingleside Country club pro, and Robert Schwab, his amateur partner, 1 up on the 23rd green Friday afternoon at Capital City in another round of the pro-amateur golf league.

It was a close match all the way and the medal round for the two teams was tied at 69 each at the end of the 18-hole round. The scores of the individual players were not kept as they picked up after the hole had been won or lost.

Allen Outsteadies Hardwick To Win.

Consistent steady golf on the last 18 holes enabled Ivan Allen, Jr., to beat Dick Hardwick, 6-5, Friday afternoon in a 54-hole match in the annual governing board trophy tournament being played at Capital City Club. The players finished all square at the end of 18 holes last Tuesday. Another 18 was played and the match was still square and it was decided to play another 18 Friday afternoon.

Other matches in the Capital City tournament ended in a 6-5 victory for Dr. J. G. Riley over Harry Woodward in the third flight, and a 3-2 victory for I. C. Humphries over N. G. Bowlby in the fourth flight.

Today is the last time for first and second-round matches to be played and semi-finals are scheduled to be played before next Wednesday night.

Kingdon, Meyer Win at Ingleside.

Two matches were played Friday afternoon in the annual directors' handicap tournament at the Ingleside Country Club course. Billy Kingdon defeated Ewald Cohen, 3-2, and A. E. Mayer defeated Sam Rosenberg, Jr., 6-5.

Tourneys Planned At Several Clubs.

Atlanta golfers will have opportunities to play in two or three tournaments this afternoon, despite the fact that three tournaments are already in progress.

Ansley Park, Ingleside and Capital City are completing first and second rounds in tournaments started Monday, while West End, Druid Hills and probably Forrest Hills will stage tournaments this afternoon. None of the professionals had decided Friday night just what kind of tournaments or prizes will be offered.

Jaycee Golfers Set for Match.

Atlanta is scheduled to play Newnan on the West End course and Macon and Columbus will play in Columbus.

LOYOLA VICTOR IN A. A. U. MEET

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—(AP)—Capturing five first places and placing in nearly all others, Loyola University, of New Orleans, won the annual junior track and field meet of the Southern Amateur Athletic Union at Loyola stadium here today, scoring 59 points. Next came the New Orleans Athletic Club with 40 points for second place, and Southwest Louisiana Institute third with 22 1-2 points. Athletes from Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas participated.

Only one record was broken, Ford, of the N. O. A. C., winning the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.8 seconds, two-tenths of a second better than the old mark. The new time was not allowed, however, as Ford knocked over a hurdle during the course of the race.

The only other records threatened were the 220-yard dash and pole vault. McCarver, of Howard Payne College, equalled the 22.2 seconds record for the 220 while it was announced that Hawkins and Seale, of Southwest Louisiana Institute, were trying to beat the 12 feet 3 3-4 inches pole vault record. After several futile attempts, Hawkins was named winner of the event with a mark of 12 feet.

Schiro, Loyola youngster, won both the one-mile and three-mile runs. In the latter he took the lead soon after the start and held it throughout. Ike Armstrong, football star of Tulane University, running for the N. O. A. C., showed up well, as did also McCarver, of Howard Payne College, Brownwood, Texas, who equalled the 220-yard dash record.

GIANT-RED DEAL LIKELY TO TURN NATIONAL RACE

By Walter Trumbull.

(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution.)

NEW YORK, May 23.—The deal which takes Hugh Critz to New York in exchange for Larry Benton is, to my mind, something which should have a decided bearing on the result of the National league race. The story is that it was an even swap. That may be true, but it isn't likely. The chances are that the Cincinnati club got a substantial bonus.

Cincinnati needs pitchers, but not as badly as New York needed Critz. The Reds are an improved team, but their warmest followers scarcely would claim they are a good bet for the flag. On the other hand, the Giants, owing to the Chicago and Pittsburgh clubs' ailing lists, and to their own capabilities, have a very good chance indeed to finish in front.

PLUG GAP.

But the Giants have had certain weaknesses, none more noticeable than the gap at second base. McGraw hasn't had a good second baseman since the departure of Hornsby. Marshall can field, but he is a poor hitter. Crawford can hit, but his natural position is not the middle bag, and he already has cost the Giants a couple of games by his inexperience.

Not long ago, I was talking baseball with Hank Gowdy and, among other things, asked him to name the man he considered the best second baseman in the National league. Without hesitation, he named Hugh Critz, saying that he was as good a second sacker as there was in any league.

NO GREAT HITTER.

Critz is by no means a great hitter, but the Giants have plenty of batting strength. Lindstrom, Terry, Ott, Jackson and Hogan furnish all the hitting punch necessary for any team. And Critz is a great fielder. Games no longer will slip away through that alley at second base.

There is an old saying that a great team must be strong on a line from catcher to center field, and the Giants will now have that strength. All of the truly great teams were strong around second. There were such combinations as Lowe and Long, Barnes and Wright, Dunlap and Rowe, Richardson and Ward, Reitz and Jennings, De Montreville and Dahlen, Ritchey and Wagner, Evers and Tinker, Doyle and Fletcher, Collins and Barry, Wambsganss and Sewell, Frisch and Bancroft, Harris and Peckinpaugh, Hornsby and Thevenow, and Lazzeri and Koenig.

GOOD PAIR.

Critz and Jackson should be a pair hard to beat. Both are fast, both have fine hands and both can throw. They should be one of the best double play combinations in the game. Brooklyn has Flowers and Wright; St. Louis has Frisch and Gelbert; Pittsburgh has Grantham and Bartell; Chicago has Hornsby and English. Those clubs seem to be the Giants' chief rivals for the flag. With Hornsby far from the peak of efficiency, Brooklyn and St. Louis appear to have the strongest second base combinations. Now the Giants should be able to compete on equal terms.

And Critz may hit harder in New York. A change frequently benefits a player and, moreover, a change from a rather weak hitting second division club to a hard clouting pennant contender, may make quite a difference. A last thing is that this will leave McGrew better off in reserves.

The deal may also do something for Cincinnati. In Durocher, Howley has a great fielder to replace Critz, and one more good pitcher should do a lot for the Reds. What Cincinnati needs most is not fielding, but hitting and pitching.

GREAT RACE.

Many still figure that Chicago, New York and St. Louis are the three National league clubs which will come down the home stretch bunched and out in front. I believe that these three will have to reckon with Brooklyn and probably with Pittsburgh. So far, the National league has put on a great race, and it should continue to be a great race. At least four clubs should finish pretty well under a blanket.

It seems likely that Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland and New York will continue to be the first division clubs in the American league. Some other club might displace one of them, but it doesn't seem a good bet.

But what about Von Elm and Johnston and Voigt.
Or Willing, Mackenzie and Moe?

Unless he pops out of a Scottish fog bank there doesn't seem to be any British amateur in sight good enough now to handle Bobby Jones at St. Andrews, but he may run into serious trouble against some of his own mates.

Von Elm, Voight, Moe and Willing especially are capable of hitting dizzy clips, down around the 70 mark. Jimmy Johnston has struck his top form again and Roland MacKenzie is playing the best golf of his career. Each one of these can be a highly dangerous competitor at any given moment through an 18-hole match.

If young Moe steps out in one of his 32 or 33 runaway dashes he will be almost impossible to stop and the young Walker cup star is as likely to do this against a Jones as he is against a Smith, Robinson or Brown.

They all look alike to the Portland star when he swings into action. He has a fine golf game, a world of nerve and a terrific keenness.

Von Elm is always a problem for anyone. So is Willing through any 18-hole scrimmage. Which is to say that several members of the Walker cup team are good enough to spin a 70 or a 71 at St. Andrews and that is a rough hurdle for anyone to take, from Vardon at his greatest on along to Bobby Jones.

A SEASON RECORD.

When 25,000 baseball fans line up on Thursday to purchase tickets for a Sunday game three days away there is no longer any lingering doubts as to what will be baseball's greatest year. The answer is 1930.

This happened in Brooklyn, where the Giants arrive tomorrow, and broke all regular season records. With capacity sufficient to handle the crowd there would be from 75,000 to 100,000 rabid Brooklyn rooters on hand emitting the call of the wild, which is Brooklyn's favorite call when the Giants blow in.

All these Brooklyn fans are inhaling a lot of pennant ozone and their team is good enough to make the dream come true. Which is to say that Brooklyn at least has its chance.

On the same Sunday, tomorrow, if the weather is fair, there will be from 60,000 to 70,000 on hand at the Yankee stadium to hear the cannonading roar of Babe Ruth's artillery. The Big Bam has been a seething volcano for the last few days, erupting more home runs than Vesuvius can toss up lava. But today it is a revival of the old song called "Everybody's Doing It."

As there are still at least nine clubs making threatening gestures in the two leagues with no open gaps, this means continued interest for some time to come. So unless there is a plague or the rainiest of all the rainy seasons 1930 will pass all attendance marks by half a million.

HOW MANY HOME RUNS?

When seven games produce 26 home runs there seems to be danger of overproduction. The Yankees and Athletics turned out ten in one game.

A little more of this and baseball will soon turn into home run or no count.

Yet the crowds and the general excitement seems to be greater than ever and as long as the pitchers don't mutiny or strike or start a revolution there is small likelihood of any change.

THE GREATEST CROWD.

In his official report from Indianapolis, Steve Hannegan says the greatest crowd that ever saw a sporting contest on the western continent will gather at the 500-mile speedway race next Friday.

Last year the 500-mile race drew in 160,000 spectators. Next week there is a chance this mark will jump to some point between 180,000 and 200,000, which is far beyond any crowd a football game, baseball game, fight or running race has ever known on this side of the water.

This leaves the 500-mile race second only to the London Derby when it comes to crowds.

THE WASHINGTON THREAT.

Walter Johnson's embattled Senators have shown their power in two ways so far. They have not only clubbed their way to the top but in doing so they have manhandled the Athletics on the way up. Which is to say they haven't arrived merely by wrecking poor ball clubs.

Johnson has an entirely different spirit working in his club and this means an entirely different ball club. The remarkable hitting of Sam Rice, the Hoosier from George Ade's county, who has been with Washington 15 years, has been one of the largest factors in the Senatorial uprising. Rice has been leading his league most of the season and his batting has been timely all along the route.

There is no way to tell just how serious one should take these May standings but it seems to be fairly evident at present that old Barney's outfit will be somewhere around the summit most of the year. They hardly figure to beat the Athletics, but it is the box score that counts, not somebody's guess. Things are more scrambled this season than ever before and they may remain scrambled most of the summer.

The general opinion seems to be that Max Schmeling can hit harder than Sharkey, which is all right if he can hit Sharkey.

A new way to make a living now is to stand outside of ball parks with a net and collect new baseballs floating over the fence. Active workers who can handle a net should be able to make about $8 an hour in this form of employment.

The first amateur golf championship of Mexico will be held next October. There is a report that Senor Roberti Jonesero will be barred.

In the meanwhile, what about these Cardinals? After a logy start they bag 13 out of the next 14 games, which introduces a new tangle into a race that was supposed to be between Cubs and Giants. We may know more about it all when Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates start east.

'Oldest Living Pro' Recalls Weird Game

RALEIGH, N. C., May 23.—(AP)—Recalling the day way back yonder in 1869 when the Niagaras of Buffalo, N. Y., beat the Excelsiors of New York, 209 to 10, in a baseball game, Major A. M. Wheeler, who believes himself to be the oldest living professional baseball player, today celebrated his 89th birthday here. He was captain of the Niagaras.

"It was stated that I was the first catcher who stood close up when a man was on second working for third," Major Wheeler reminisced today, "as well as all the time against good clubs."

"Throwing the ball, I think, may have been introduced by English cricket bowlers playing our baseball," Major Wheeler said as he described the old method of tossing the ball underhand. "We were badly defented once by a Rochester club which had a bowler for a pitcher, who could keep his hand on a level or a trifle below his elbow, which was a regulation to prevent throwing."

Major Wheeler was an intimate friend of the late Captain "Pop" Anson, of the Chicago White Sox and of the late A. G. Spalding.

Good Catchers High These Days

There is a scarcity of good catchers in the big leagues and several managers and magnates have expressed themselves as willing to part with as much as $50,000 for a real prospect. The White Sox for one would gladly pay that amount.

These same managers say a good catcher is worth $8,000 or more a year in salary.

There is an exception, however. Barney Dreyfuss is said to be paying Ralston Hemsley, his star backstop, only $3,000.

UNITED STATES CLINCHES ZONE TENNIS SERIES

Allison and Van Ryn Score Straight-Set Doubles Win.

By John F. Chester,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The United States Davis Cup team earned the right to invade Europe today as its dashing young doubles pair of Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn scored a clean-cut, straight set victory over Mexico's best combination.

Playing almost faultless tennis, Allison and Van Ryn beat Manuel Llano and Alfonso Unda 6-0, 6-1, 6-3, giving the United States a 3-0 lead in its tie with Mexico and unchallenged supremacy in the American zone.

The two matches remaining to be played tomorrow are mere formality, George Martin Lott, of Chicago, is scheduled to meet 20-year-old Ricardo Tapia, who came within inches of upsetting Allison yesterday in a five set match, while Allison is to oppose Ingacio De La Borbolla.

Will Probably Play.

With the victory already won, however, it seemed probable tonight that other members of the American team would be given the opportunity of gaining match experience.

The match today was a story of hard smashing play at the net by the American pair. Time and again they captured the forecourt from the Latins to put them on the defensive.

Starting with a rush, the blond Texas youth and the dark haired East Orange, New Jersey, boy, Van Ryn, tore through the first two games without the loss of a point. Allison grimaced and hopped about the court when he netted a ball a minute later. In all, the Mexicans gained but five points in the entire first set.

Unda was apparently nervous and netted frequently. As the match progressed, however, Llano, captain of his team and a veteran of six Davis Cup campaigns, settled down to fine play. In the fourth game of the second set he scored three clean placements from the net to give Mexico its first game.

The Latins were playing far better tennis as the final chapter started. They won the first two games on placements by Unda and a break through Van Ryn's service. After the Americans had evened the score and forged ahead, Van Ryn once more lost his service accuracy and gave away another game to even the set, but steadied quickly to help run out the match.

Van Ryn and Allison exhibited almost faultless teamplay throughout the 22 games, which required less than 40 minutes to complete. Calling the doubtful shots they wasted little effort.

Time and again throughout the match Allison smashed so forcibly from the net that the ball bounced far over the Mexican's heads to land outside the backstop. Van Ryn's best shot was a cross-court smash or half volley which landed unanswerably among the spectators.

Only in the third set did Llano and Unda seriously attempt to challenge the American's supremacy at the net. Exciting and extended, rapid-fire interchanges often resulted, but the Latins were no match for the close-range, hair-trigger play of Allison and Van Ryn.

league. Memphis has not yet started going well with the pitching staff, but they have held up better than the average club. And how those Chickasaws have been hitting. And how!

Other clubs have slumped. Chattanooga, after scaring the league to death, has slumped. Joe Engel will find plenty of grief because his pitching staff has gone all to pieces. He has tried nearly 15 pitchers and got nowhere at all with them. And he has spent serious money for them.

Atlanta has collapsed in both departments. The team is not hitting, is fielding poorly. Their most serious fault is failure to hustle, to take chances, to play heads-up baseball.

Eppes Beats Poets; Gives Up 3 Hits

ATHENS, Ga., May 23.—(AP)—Harold Eppes, 16-year-old Athens High southpaw, let the strong Lanier High nine from Macon down with three hits here this afternoon and the locals blanked the Poets, 10 to 0, in their final game of the season.

Eppes allowed one hit in the third, fifth and ninth innings. Eubanks, Lanier first baseman, got a double down the third-base line in the ninth.

Four of the Athens High school players finished their athletic careers under the veteran Coach W. W. Brown. They are Rupert Maxwell, centerfielder; Harry Barrett, shortstop; "Flip" Costa, second baseman, and Bill Cauthen, first baseman.

Sylvester Trims Bronwood at 11-10

SYLVESTER, Ga., May 23.—In the most exciting game of the season in the Southwest Georgia league, Sylvester nosed out Bronwood here yesterday afternoon by an 11-to-10 count.

Due to an injury to Pitcher Love yesterday afternoon, McCorkle, a local high school hurler, was pressed into service and pitched a creditable game for seven innings when he retired in favor of a pinch hitter. O'Sheal took up the pitching duties at the beginning of the eighth and after some long-distance hitting, coupled with his wildness, netted the visitors five runs, he settled down in the ninth to hold his own.

The locals drove Kenyon from the hill in the seventh under an avalanche of base hits, scoring seven runs in this frame. That seemed to have put the game on ice but the visitors threw a scare into the local camp in the following inning, needing but one to knot the count. Henry finished for the visitors. The locals journey over to Albany tomorrow afternoon to take on the "Wahoos" of that city. Rouse will likely be Manager Kay's selection for mound duty.

GOOD GOLF by Chesty Horton

GOLF'S GREATEST TEACHER

I know before you tell me about it that when you turn your right palm away from you in your back swing your left shoulder gets in the way of your seeing the ball, when you are at the top of your back swing. You can ease up on this somewhat by stopping your shoulders slightly in the address — just enough to let your vision be clearer from the top of the back swing. However, all you need up there is just barely enough room to see the ball. This difficulty indicates that you are completely in back of the ball when you are at the top of your back swing, which is just the way you should be. That, then, makes the method complete and, while it takes only five minutes to detail it for you, it requires some five years to work it out. If you adopt the method you at least will have one that you can stick to and which will automatically control a lot of details which you otherwise will struggle with for years, never really mastering any of them. You will find, too, that this method will more easily apply at first with your irons. With the woods be slow in your back swing, making sure that you continue along with your right-hand action, going outward with it rather than upward. Going up with this hand arrests your pivoting; going outward accentuates pivoting.

RAIN CANCELS DIAMOND TILTS AS PREPS END

By Roy White.

Atlanta's 1930 prep baseball season was brought to an abrupt ending Friday afternoon without a single game being played and with 10 games postponed throughout the season.

None of the scheduled games Friday afternoon would have had any direct bearing on the final outcome of the league race, which was won by Tech High several days ago. Coach Tolbert's Smithies ended the season with 12 victories and two defeats, while Coach Lucien Hope's Fulton county team was second with 12 victories and three defeats.

Third place was won by Boys' High and Decatur finished in fourth place. Marist closed its season in fifth place.

POOR WEATHER.

Unfavorable weather conditions in the early part of the season caused a postponement of several of the games and very few have been played off. Rain several weeks ago caused postponement of an entire schedule of four games.

Tech High got away to a slow start and managed to win its first few games, mainly due to the excellent pitching of John Chambers and Jack English. The Smithies developed as the season progressed and at the end had one of the best balanced teams in the circuit, with the pitching staff its strong department.

Fulton High lost two games early in the season and then rallied to win all of its other games except the last one with Tech High, which gave the Smithies the pennant by half a game.

Tech High lost its two games to Marist and Fulton, near the end of the first half of the schedule. Fulton lost to Commercial High, Marist and Tech High.

PITCHING FEATURES.

Pitching has been one of the features of the league all season. Every team has at least one dependable hurler and a majority of the teams have two good reliable pitchers.

The infields have been nothing to write home about and the outfields have been in and out. In several of the games the outfielders hit and fielded well, while in others they failed miserably.

Commercial High played spasmodically all the way through. The Typists stopped Marist after Coach Bean's team had won two straights and apparently were on the road to a successful season. It was Commercial which stopped Fulton High and gave trouble to several of the other clubs.

G. M. A. went wild in two or three of its games and fell by the wayside in the others.

RULES FORBID PLAY.

A rule in the league constitution clearly states that no game shall be played after the regular playing season ends and it is the general opinion among the coaches that no effort will be made to play off any of the postponed games.

The final standings follow:

CLUBS—	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Tech High	12	2	.857
Fulton High	12	3	.800
Boys' High	9	6	.600
Decatur	6	7	.462
Marist	6	8	.429
G. M. A.	5	8	.385

Storms Hamper Work of Huskies

SEATTLE, Wash., May 23—(AP)—Because stormy weather has hampered the training work of the University of Washington crews the last three weeks, Coach Al Ulbrickson, has announced a possibility that the Huskies would not compete in the national regatta at Poughkeepsie June 26.

"If we don't accomplish any more in the next two weeks' practice than we did in the last three it would be silly and a waste of money for us to go to Poughkeepsie," said Ulbrickson. "Of course, we are hoping and figuring to make the trip, but if we don't get into some kind of racing condition before June 10 I will recommend that we stay home."

Simpson and Tolan Win Prelim Races

EVANSTON, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—Driving through a drizzling rain, Eddie Tolan, world's 100-yard dash champion, and George Simpson, the Ohio state comet, raced to impressive victories in the preliminaries of the Western Conference outdoor track and field championship this afternoon.

Tolan, of the University of Michigan, won his heat in the Century with three yards to spare in 9.8 seconds. Simpson, discarding the starting blocks, shaded Tolan's time by winning his trial heat in 9.7.

Simpson flirted with world's record time in winning his preliminary heat of the 220-yard dash, flashing over the wet cinders to capture the furlong in 21 seconds flat. Tolan also easily qualified for the finals by winning his heat, slowed up in 21.8 seconds.

First to North Pole—with Admiral Byrd.

First over the Andes—with Lieut. Doolittle.

First Dawn-to-Dusk flight across the country—with Lieut. Maughan.

On the road, in your own car, correct lubrication with Mobiloil means motoring economy and motoring enjoyment. Have your crankcase refilled with the particular grade of Mobiloil which the famous Mobiloil chart recommends for your car. Then watch the new response your motor gives. The Mobiloil you buy will be of the same high quality as that used by these great fliers.

Drive in where you see the Mobiloil sign, the official mark of all authorized Mobiloil dealers.

Gas Well Blows Up In Kentucky Field

PINEVILLE, Ky., May 23.—(AP) The first gas well in Bell county was brought in late yesterday. It has an estimated production of from 2 to 3,000,000 cubic feet and is near the Clay county line.

J. A. Henninger, leaseholder, representing Pennsylvania interests, said drilling operations would be continued in an effort to find oil. The pressure of the gas well, which blew out part of the casing, led him to believe there was an oil pool. Gas was struck at 2,600 feet. Plans are being made to sink a deep well for oil.

Attempts were made to drill for gas 15 years ago in this section, but were unsuccessful.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR No. 60

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Ten minutes later the ape-man carrying the outer garments of an Arab bundled beneath an arm rejoined his companions. He exhibited his trophies to them, explaining in low gutturals the details of his exploit. Chulk and Taglat fingered the fabrics, smelled of them, and, placing them to their ears, tried to listen to them. Then Tarzan led them back through the jungle to the trail, where the three hid themselves and waited. Nor had they long to wait.

Soon two of Achmet Zek's men, clothed in habiliments similar to their master's, came down the trail on foot, returning to camp. One moment they were laughing and talking together—the next they lay stretched full length, three mighty engines of destruction bending over them. Tarzan removed their outer garments as he had removed those of his first victim, and again retired with Chulk and Taglat to the greater seclusion of the tree they had at first selected.

Here the ape-man arranged the garments upon his shaggy fellows and himself, until, at a distance, it might have appeared that three white-robed Arabs squatted silently among the forest branches. Until dark they remained there, for from this point of vantage Tarzan could view the enclosures within the palisade. He marked the position of the hut in which he had first discovered the scent spoor of the "she" he sought. Also he located Achmet Zek's habitation.

Chulk and Taglat were, at first, greatly interested in their wonderful raiment. They regarded each other intently with every mark of satisfaction and pride. Chulk, a humorist in his way, stretched forth a long and hairy arm, and, grasping the hood of Taglat's burnoose, pulled it down over the latter's eyes, extinguishing him, snuff-like. The older ape recognized no such thing as humor. He was a born pessimist. "Creatures lay their paws on me," he reasoned, "either to search for fleas or to attack."

Three Marines Held For Sailors' Murder

TOM'S RIVER, N. J., May 23.—(AP)—Three young United States marines were under arrest today in connection with the killing of two former sailors. Held as a material witness was a woman more than 20 years their senior, the widow of one of the dead men.

On May 15 Robert Evans, just discharged from the fleet, and Albert Duffy, a former shipmate, were shot and beaten to death in the Evans home near here. Mrs. Evans, who is 42, first said the men had killed each other in a drunken brawl, but later laid the blame on Lester Underdown, 21, who had been a frequent visitor at her home in her husband's absence.

Today Madison Chappel, 19, was arrested at the home of a relative near Syracuse, N. Y., where he had gone on a leave of absence. He was quoted as saying he had been present at the killings, but that the slayings had been actually done by Underdown and Claude E. Carmichael, 21, whose name had not until then appeared in the case. Carmichael was immediately arrested at the air station.
